FEDERAL HELP ASKED BY BUILDING UNIONS TO AVERT CALAMITY

Council Head Says Stoppage Now Would Mean High Rents, Low Wages and Idleness.

PUBLIC AUTHORITY NEEDED

Colleran Urges Postponement of Government Work as Aid to Stabilization.

SAYS LABOR IS SCAPEGOAT

Only 40 Per Cent. of Building Cost, He Declares, Is for Labor and Rest for Materials.

Government intervention to aid in the attempt to stabilize the building industry and relieve the present crisis was one of the suggestions made by Michael J. Colleran, President of the new Building Trades Council, yesterday when he appeared before the Emergency Building Committee of which R. H. Shreve of Carrere & Hastings, architects, is Chairman. Mr. Colleran said in a statement:

"On behalf of the Building Trades Council I want to make an urgent request of your committee. We want you to use your good offices to secure immediate Government intervention in the present building crisis.

"We do not want another depression in the construction industry. A wholesale stoppage of building now would be a public calamity. It would keep rents high through a continued housing shortage. It would create unemployment and low wages for building trades labor. It would ruin a good many contractors and hurt a lot more. It would be followed by another violent upswing with skyrocketing costs.

"On the other hand a wise and temperate postponement of certain non-essential construction and the continuance of the most necessary work would iron out the construction curve and spread an even demand over a longer period of time. It would get rents down. It would keep wages and employment steady. It would be good business for the honest contractor. Stabilization is what we all need.

Public Authority Necessary.

"No one individual or class or group has the power to control the situation. Left to themselves the blind play of economic forces and conflicting interests can easily bring about another panic. Only the firm hand of public authority can prevent the situation from getting beyond control. We recommend that your committee favor the following proposals:

"First—The postponement of less urgent Federal and State Government construction work until its resumption will have a stabilizing effect upon the building industry, but a continued financing and encouragement of essential and housing construction up to the capacity of the trade.

"Second—The investigation by cities of over 100,000 inhabitants of the possibilities of municipal housing on a large scale as a remedy both for the extreme fluctuations of construction activity and for high rents.

"Third—The issuance, as a matter of immediate public necessity, of some system of transportation priority orders to favor quick and preferred deliveries of materials for housing operations and other necessary construction work.

"Fourth—The publication by the Bureau of Labor Statistics or the Department of Commerce at the earliest possible moment and at frequent intervals thereafter, the following current data: First, the relative proportion of the total cost of typical buildings made up by materials, wages, contractors' profits, architects' and engineers' fees; second, the rates and their fluctuations of each of these elements in construction costs; and third, the relation of each of these to their 1914 level and to subsequent high and low points.

Says Labor Is Scapegoat.

"We urge upon you an immediate investigation into the relative responsibility for the present situation of each factor in construction costs. Labor resents, and justly resents, the attempts which have been made to make labor the scapegoat of high construction costs. By citing high hourly and daily wage rates which certain building trade workers are said to receive, the employing interests try to give the impression that exorbitant wages are responsible for the increase in construction costs, and that building trades unions in turn are responsible for the exorbitant wages that are paid. This is a misstatement of the facts.

"Take plasterers for example. Their rate is now $12 a day. If they worked each day of the possible 254 working days they would earn $3,048 a year. As a matter of fact the investigations of the Hoover Committee on Waste in Industry proved that the plasterer's average employment is only 170 days a year. That means his average yearly earnings amount to but $2,040, an average of $8.03 per day. Painters, with a $10 a day rate, actually earn but $7.17 per working day or $1,820 a year, and plumbers with the same rate actually earn but $7.37 or $2,000 a year.

"In the second place, when really high wages have been paid such as $18 to $25 a day, it has been entirely due to competitive bidding of contractors. The Building Trades Council is, in fact, absolutely opposed to bonuses of all kinds. We want the scale, no more no less. We want stabilization by a continuance of the same scale for a period as far ahead as practicable. We do not want and do not expect to continue the bonuses.

"If actual scales were paid, wages

Sir Henry Thornton Chides Us On Insularity and Isolation

MONTREAL, May 29.—Americans need a greater knowledge of geography and history, Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways, declared today before the annual convention of the Railway Association Freight Claims Division.

Sir Henry said the average American's lack of real interest in foreign affairs might be due to his absorption in developing his own country, but he added that the day had now passed for the policy of splendid isolation.

Sir Henry Thornton was born in the United States, at Logansport, Ind. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and learned the railroad business on American lines. In 1914 he became General Manager of the Great Eastern Railway in England, and last year he became head of the Canadian National Railways.

BRINDELL OCCUPIES CELL AT DANNEMORA

Journeys From Sing Sing Shackled and Handcuffed to Convict —Blames Only Himself.

LAWES BEGINS INQUIRY

Special to The New York Times.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., May 29.—Robert T. Brindell tonight occupies Cell 111 in the west hall of Clinton Prison, the labor leader having been received at the institution on Dannemora Mountain this morning as one of a draft of forty-four from Sing Sing. The transferred convicts arrived at Dannemora in charge of four officers, having made the trip from the prison on the Hudson to the Siberia of prison institutions seated in the same special day coach for the entire journey.

Brindell, handcuffed to a long-term prisoner and wearing leg irons, marched from the railroad station up the hill to the main entrance of Clinton Prison, and passing within the gray walls lost his identity and became known only by his prison number. In the absence of Warden Kaiser the draft was received by Deputy Warden Granger, who assigned the men temporarily to the west hall. Brindell and his associates will tomorrow be examined by the prison physician, and on Thursday will be assigned to a company and prison workshop. He probably will be put to work in the cotton shop, to which practically all new arrivals are assigned, and there will assist in the manufacture of cloth to be used in uniforms for himself and the other inmates of the prison.

Treatment Depends on Conduct.

When asked if Brindell would receive any special privileges Deputy Warden Granger stated that all convicts were treated alike in Clinton. No punishment will be meted out to the labor leader because of his infraction of the rules at Sing Sing and he will begin his career at Clinton with a clean slate, his treatment in that institution in the future, depending entirely on his own conduct. Brindell was put in the cell formerly occupied by Fred Schultz, who, for a number of years, managed the prison baseball team and was discharged yesterday, after serving 17 years in the institution. He started today for his home in New York City.

Brindell wore a tired, haggard look as he entered the prison gate and appeared relieved as he was conducted by a prison guard through the hall in which the cell he now occupies is located. He will have no opportunity in Clinton of holding informal receptions, being allowed to see visitors only from behind a screen and separated from them by six feet. His time in the cotton shop will depend almost entirely on his conduct, but will not be for less than six months, when, at the direction of Warden Kaiser, he may be assigned to less arduous duties.

Because of Brindell's familiarity with building operations there is a possibility that before the end of the Summer he may be transferred to the gang constructing the new industrial building of the prison, which is to be 300 feet long, and the foundation of which is now being put in. A gang of seventy-five men is engaged in the construction of a concrete foundation of this building, and several of the convicts are em-

ADAMS RAPS CRITICS OF COMMITTEE SLUR ON ALLIED NATIONS

Republican Campaign Chief Says Objections Came From Pro-Europeans Here.

SURE OF 1920 "MANDATE"

Says the People Voted Against League and Are of the Same Mind Still.

DENIES THIS IS ISOLATION

And Declares Committee Will Always Stand on "American" Side of Questions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Another kink was added today to the snarl over the recent statement of the Republican vals thereafter of the following current lied Governments for alleged "crookedness," in connection with the negotiations for payment of the cost of the troops kept on the Rhine by the United States.

The new kink was in the form of a statement from Chairman Adams of the committee, which proved to be an attack on those who had criticised the previous Committee statement.

There is no mention of the fact that the committee formally withdrew its press communique at the instance of an indignant Secretary of State. Nor is there anything in Mr. Adams's statement to indicate whether it was prepared after consultation with President Harding and other high officials.

Chairman Adams in his explanation takes the position that the previous statement caused a furore because certain interests, which he thinks are devoted to the League of Nations and view every public problem from the standpoint of foreign interests, raised a row over it. His statement is interesting, because of his attempt to state the attitude of the Republican Party in regard to foreign affairs.

Denying that the party is for isolation, he says: "Being opposed to joining the League of Nations, is meddling in Europe, to becoming entangled in foreign politics, does not mean isolation."

He also says that "America has never been isolated. Yet America has always kept aloof from European entanglements," and that "America has been ever ready to assist European countries, provided that assistance could be given without involving us in European politics."

He asserts that those who criticised the recent utterance of the committee's publicity bureau did so because the Republican national organization "stands with the 18,000,000 voters who, in the 1920 elections, voted against the League of Nations and European political entanglement." Then he says that "the American people are still of the same mind they were in 1920, notwithstanding persistent misrepresentations to the contrary, and the events of the past two years fully confirm the wisdom of the decision."

There is no mention in the statement of President Harding's espousal of the League of Nations' Permanent Court of International Justice or of the fact that the question of payment of our Rhine Army costs was on the point of adjustment when the committee's communique was issued, and that it was formally concluded in a manner satisfactory to the United States a day or two after that.

The text of Mr. Adams's statement is as follows:

"An article recently issued by the Publicity Bureau of the Republican National Committee was used by certain interests and publications as the basis of an attack upon the Republican national organization. While the statement was the excuse, it was not the real reason for that hysterical outburst.

"There was significant similarity in the nature of the attack among those who used this subterfuge as an excuse for assailing the committee, and it is an interesting fact that virtually all the publications which joined in the chorus are earnest advocates of the effort to drag the United States into the League of Nations. Unfortunately there are, in this country, interests, organizations and publications that may be generally depended upon to take the European side whenever conflict arises between American and European interests.

"It is appropriate at this time to call attention to the fact that the real reason

Plans 1,400-Room Hotel for Savoy Site; Boomer Buys Lease to Get Entire Block

The leasehold of the northeast corner of Fifty-eighth Street and Fifth Avenue has been sold by Nicholas Partos to the du Pont interests, which a couple of weeks ago purchased the Hotel Savoy property adjoining from Frederick Brown, a realty operator. The du Pont interests, it is stated, when building conditions become normal, will demolish the old Savoy and the property just taken over under lease and erect a new 1,400-room hotel on the entire site. This site occupies the entire block front from Fifty-eighth to Fifty-ninth Streets.

The du Pont interests, through L. M. Boomer, manager of the du Pont chain of hotels, according to Mr. Partos, paid $300,000 for the leasehold. This had been taken over by Mr. Partos from the Gerry estate, which owns the property, at $125,000 a year. The property consists of a seven-story apartment house building with stores, on a plot 75 by 100 feet.

The lease which Mr. Partos sold to the du Pont interests is for twenty-one years at an annual rent of $125,000, with three renewals, making an eighty-four-year term. The property is known as 763 Fifth Avenue.

The Savoy, adjoining, is twelve stories and has a frontage of 125 feet on Fifth Avenue and 150 feet on Fifty-ninth Street. There is also an L 25 by 100 feet at 8 East Fifty-eighth Street. Justice Dugro built the hotel in 1880.

The following statement in behalf of Mr. Boomer was issued yesterday:

"L. M. Boomer, head of the Boomer chain of hotels, announced today that he had acquired the entire block on Fifth Avenue from Fifty-eighth to Fifty-ninth Street, with a uniform depth of 150 feet, which includes the Hotel Savoy and the Balkenhayn, under long lease from the Gerry estate. He and his associates will erect an apartment hotel of the highest type to cover the entire block when building conditions are normal.

"McKim, Mead & White and Herbert Lucas will be the architects. It is Mr. Boomer's intention to continue the operation of the Savoy and the Balkenhayn in the meanwhile, with improvements on the property to be undertaken immediately.

"Mr. Boomer will take possession about July 1 next. O. P. Breen, who has been at the Savoy many years as manager, will continue there. Mr. Boomer naturally will continue in the operation of the Waldorf-Astoria, the New Willard in Washington and the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia."

Chicago War Veteran Kills One Bandit; Routs Two Others in Payroll Hold-Up

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Braving the guns of three payroll bandits, one of whom had struck down his aged father, Meyer Berkowsky, a World War veteran, who manages the Columbia Cleaning and Dyeing Company in West Fourteenth Street, seized a revolver, "shot it out" with the trio, killed one, routed the others and saved the company's cash this afternoon.

Two of the bandits dragged their dying companion to a blue automobile in which two more accomplices waited and drove away amid a fusillade of shots fired after them from one of their own weapons, which they had dropped, by Arthur Berkowsky, a 19-year-old cousin of Meyer.

The robbers tossed the body of their dead companion from the machine into an alley and escaped after a chase of more than a mile by the police.

Miss Rose Perleman, cashier of the company, had just returned from the bank with $700 and was making up the payroll when the robbers' car drew up in front of the place. The manager and his father, Hyman Berkowsky, head of the concern, were the only others in the office.

Two of the thieves remained in the car, while the others, all carrying revolvers, rushed inside. Meyer Berkowsky and Miss Perleman held up their hands, but the elder Berkowsky refused.

The aged man scooped the pile of bills under the counter, turned and started for the rear room. One of the robbers leaped after him and felled him with a blow over the head with the butt of his revolver.

Meyer Berkowsky, who was known as a crack shot of the Seventy-first Artillery during the war, lowered his hands and sprang to a desk where he kept a revolver, and he and the bandits opened fire simultaneously.

UP-STATE WETS BEG FOR MURPHY'S HELP

ADVANCE GUARD IN ALBANY

Cuvillier Takes Issue With Harding as to Effect of Repealing the Enforcement Act.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 29.—That in many of its provisions the Mullan-Gage law goes a great deal further and is more rigid than the Volstead law, on which it is supposed to have been patterned, is one argument which the "wets" will urge on Governor Smith as ground for its repeal at the public hearing to be held here on Thursday on the bill to repeal that statute.

Both in its search and seizure clause and in the clauses governing the commercial use of alcohol, persons who have studied the Mullan-Gage law closely declare, it outlaws the Volstead law, which Governor Smith in many public utterances has pronounced badly in need of "liberalizing" amendments.

The wet advocates declare that if, after hearing them, he should fail to approve the repeal bill, his action would be utterly inconsistent with what he said at public meetings during the campaign, even though he did not in so many words pledge himself to the repeal of the enforcement act.

A small advance guard of the crowd expected for the hearing on Thursday already has arrived. Up-State Democrats of prominence who have visited the capital yesterday and today declare that they have brought all the influence at their command to bear on the Governor in favor of repealing the Mullan-Gage law, and that the Governor has left them in the dark with regard to his probable action.

Democratic leaders up-State have gone to Tammany Leader Murphy and urged upon him that failure to repeal the enforcement act would cost the party a great deal of support in the rural districts as well in the City of New York, and have begged him to reason with the Governor in favor of signing the repealer. According to one of the up-State Democrats, Murphy has said that he could do no more with the Governor in this matter than had already been done to make him see the light.

Senator Leader James J. Walker, who was here today, returned to New York City this evening, but announced that he would return for the hearing on Thursday. It was said tonight that Senator Walker would marshal the forces friendly to repeal when the wets and dry have their clash before the Governor.

Senator Walker said that all the speakers for repeal would be residents of the State of New York. It is thought likely that on this ground any attempt by the drys to bring outside oratorical talent to aid their cause would meet with a protest from the wets.

After studying court decisions relative to the enforcement of prohibition all day in the legislative library, Assemblyman Cuvillier, sponsor for the repeal bill, made public a statement tonight in which he took issue with the assertion of President Harding in his recent communication to Dr. Wesley Wait of Newburgh that if the Mullan-Gage law were repealed it might become necessary for the Federal Government to police the State of New York.

"The public power," Mr. Cuvillier said, "is sharply drawn between the State and Federal Governments in many decisions of the United States Court. Where the State has full power, it is incompetent for the United States to regulate, as, for example, to license the sale of liquor in a State which has prohibited it as a nuisance, or to prohibit the sale in the State, or to sell patented articles in contravention of a State law.

"The United States itself receives its power from the respective States, and the Federal power is limited, and its jurisdictions only extends over the territory ceded by the respective States and Territories owned and controlled by the United States. Interstate commerce and the waters of the United States, to guarantee a republican form of Government to the respective States and protect the respective States in time of war. ('The Constitutional Power of Congress Over the Territory of the United States,' University of Pennsylvania Department of Law, by Henry Wolf Bikle.)

"There has been considerable talk by prohibition fanatics that if Governor Smith signs the Mullan-Gage repeal he will be nullifying the Eighteenth Amendment. It must be remembered that in 1870 the Legislature of New York rescinded its ratification of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

NEW PARIS OFFICES LEASED FOR THE TIMES

On the Rue de la Paix in the Heart of the French Capital—Readers Welcomed There.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 29.—THE NEW YORK TIMES leased today the second floor of the building at 16 Rue de la Paix for its Paris office. This is at the corner of the Rue de la Paix and the Rue Daunou, on the Fifth Avenue of Paris, at the very heart of the French capital, and it is aimed to make it the rendezvous for readers of THE TIMES when in Paris.

The offices will include reception and reading rooms, a news room and the European headquarters of THE TIMES Wide World Photos. The new quarters for the Paris bureau of THE TIMES will be opened in July.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will maintain its news connection with Le Matin.

RELIES ON SUPERIOR ABILITY

Declares He Can Run Lines Better—Associates Still Unnamed —Text of Offer Given Out.

Special to The New York Times.

SILVER CREEK, N. Y., May 29.—John W. Slack, President of the Columbia Postal Supply Company, presented the bid of $1,051,000,000 to the Shipping Board for the entire Government merchant fleet. He said here tonight that the offer was bona fide in every respect, that there would not be the slightest trouble in financing the venture in case the offer were accepted, and that he and his associates stood prepared to put up a bond of $1,000,000 immediately as earnest of their good faith.

Mr. Slack expressed surprise that his bid had created so much comment, and that reports had come out of Washington to the effect that he was unknown there. He declared that he and his company had been bidding on Government contracts for the last twenty years, and had received awards in many cases. In each instance, he said, the contracts had been executed to the satisfaction of every one.

The company of which Mr. Slack is the President, is engaged principally in the manufacture of stamp cancelling machinery, and he said that a large part of his business is with the Government. He has two small plants and employs about twenty-five men. The machines are leased to postmasters.

Won't Reveal Source of Financing.

While he showed no hesitancy to speaking of his own active participation in the bid Mr. Slack positively refused to give any information as to others who may also be back of it or as to how he expected to raise the huge sum of money. He said he had heard that Mr. Lasker intended to make a thorough investigation of the offer and he declared he was perfectly willing that he should do so. He said that he had a representative in Washington, whom he would not name, who would give Mr. Lasker all the information he desired.

"All Mr. Lasker has to do is to investigate," said Mr. Slack, "and he will find that it is perfectly good. Until he has finished his inquiry I can say nothing about the matter."

Mr. Slack was told that a great deal of comment had been caused by the size of his bid when it had been estimated that the Shipping Board would be glad to accept an offer of about $350,000,000.

Wouldn't "Sting" Government.

"We didn't want to sting the Government," he said in reply. "They have a good business there but they don't know how to run it. I should think that the large bid would please them. We have made large bids on other contracts and have made money on them where the Government has lost it. Our bid is only about thirty cents on the dollar of what the Shipping Board put into it and that is what it is worth at the present time. We won't have any trouble financing it if we are given the contract and we will operate the present routes as well as they did or better."

He declared that if any one should read over the text of the bid he was sure he would understand its philosophy, and that anyway "the whole thing is open to future negotiations." He gave his banking connections as the Silver Creek National Bank and the First National Bank of Silver Creek.

Mr. Slack said that before he made the bid he asked if a bond was wanted and declared that, although he understood that it was usual to require a bond with a bid, he was told that none was required. He said he had put up different bonds on various occasions for varying amounts and since making the bid had offered the Shipping Board officials the $1,000,000 bond. If they want it, he declared, he will put it up within three days.

Mr. Slack came to Silvercreek from Washington about eight years ago. His business reputation is good. The belief at Silver Creek is that he is acting for New York or Washington interests, if his bid is to be taken seriously.

GIVES TEXT OF SLACK OFFER.

Lasker Says Acceptance Waits on Proof of Financial Backing.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board today made public the text of a letter received by the Shipping Board from John W. Slack, President of the Columbia Postal Supply Company of Silver Creek, N. Y., offering $1,051,000,000 for all the ships and property of the United States Shipping Board. The bid will be investigated and if it proves bona fide may be accepted by the board.

Chairman Lasker, however, pointed out

FORD BACKERS NOW PROPOSE TO RUN HIM AS AN INDEPENDENT

Decide in Dearborn That Neither Democrats Nor Republicans Are Likely to Nominate Him.

HE PICKS TWO 1924 ISSUES

FINDS JUDICIARY TEMPTED

Hays Arrives in Detroit to Visit Him, but Denies a Political Mission.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, May 29.—Convinced that there is slight possibility of Henry Ford obtaining the Presidential nomination on either the Democratic or Republican ticket, the Ford for President Club of Dearborn, which has been booming him persistently, will drop further efforts to interest leaders of the old-line parties in his candidacy. Plans are now being made by his backers to run him as an independent.

Mr. Ford refused today to comment in detail on the stories about his potential candidacy. This refusal was not unexpected. From the moment his name was first mentioned in connection with the Presidential campaign he has declined to talk about it. His attitude is that there is no ground on which he can discuss the Presidency because no authoritative group has ever signified that they want him to be a candidate.

He was willing today to talk on almost any subject except "Henry Ford for President."

"I feel fine this morning," he began. "I arose early and rode horseback from 6 to 7."

Hints Politicians Vex the People.

The statement of Senator Ashurst on Sunday that sentiment in nineteen Middle Western States favored him was brought to Mr. Ford's attention.

"I haven't read it," he said.

"Senator Ashurst," he was told, "asserts that the people in these nineteen States are for you, because you beat Wall Street and that they favor the politicians who try to put a damper on their enthusiasm."

"Well," said Mr. Ford, "maybe that's merely because they're getting tired of politicians."

Mr. Ford was told about reported feeling in Wall Street following the announcement of his $2,000,000 loan to the City of Detroit. Some, he was informed, interpreted the loan as the first move in underbidding Eastern financial interests.

"Do you know," he said, "I have been getting the credit for that, but I didn't have anything to do with it. Edsel handled the deal. I guess he was glad to give Detroit a lift over a hard place. We are interested in seeing that Detroit people get decent transportation facilities."

Mr. Ford talked about coal and oil, farming, municipal ownership, public lighting and public utilities—about almost everything else that was brought up except himself as a Presidential candidate.

Railroads and Judiciary as Issues.

"As far as national problems go," he said, "the two biggest problems we have at this time are the railroads and the judiciary. We pay our Judges such inadequate salaries that some of them are retained by corporations because they don't get enough to live on.

"There is no question that the railroads should operate under one central head. They are one indispensable agency for commercial expansion, and the Government should insist that they be employed in the most efficient manner.

"Freight rates should be regulated in such a manner as to bolster transportation instead of stifling it. The rates should be low enough, for instance, so that farm products from California and Florida could be marketed here.

"Right now it would cost from 150 to 200 per cent. to ship Winter vegetables and fruits from Florida and the Pacific Coast to this part of the country. What is the result? Only a small portion of those vegetables and fruits are consumed in the sections where they grow. The rest are wasted and because there is no market for them the price remains high.

"It would be a benefit to the health of the people in this section to have fresh vegetables and fruits to eat in the Winter. They could have them if freight rates were properly regulated. The transportation problem is keeping the United States from getting together as it ought to. But that will be corrected before very long."

Will H. Hays, former Chairman of the Republican National Committee, was

15 Leaders of Belgian Strike Jailed for Plot Against State

BRUSSELS, May 29.—The police of Antwerp and Liege today arrested fifteen of the leading members of the strike committee having in charge the walkout of the transport workers.

They were accused of forming an illegal combination while acting in the capacity of State employes and also of usurpation of their powers.

The scarcity of coal due to the strike is being seriously felt and many factories are threatened with being forced to shut down.

LAMONT COMPLETES AUSTRIAN LOAN DEAL

THANKS FOR AMERICAN HELP

Franckenstein Hails It as Showing the End of War Animosity Here.

PARIS, May 29 (Associated Press).—Preliminary arrangements for the American share of the proposed $130,000,000 Austrian Government loan were completed today at a meeting between the Austrian Loan Commission and Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., who has had numerous discussions with the Commissioners since his arrival here three weeks ago. Baron Franckenstein, Pierre L. Bark and F. H. Nixon represented Austria.

Mr. Lamont said today that details as to the price of and interest on the offering of $25,000,000 in America had not yet been fully determined, but would probably be made public in New York within a week or ten days. It is suggested that the American bonds will bear 7 per cent. coupons. Mr. Lamont left for London this afternoon, and any further conferences that may be necessary between him and the Loan Commission will take place there.

"We have now completed our preliminary arrangements with all the national banking groups planning to offer the new loan, with the exception of the Italian, with whose representative we discuss the matter this week," said Baron Franckenstein tonight. "We are not in a position to announce the amounts that will be offered in each financial centre, as that has not in all cases been determined.

"In Paris the amount has been fixed at 150,000,000 francs. I am permitted to say that the French Ministry of Finance has officially requested the largest French banks to form a syndicate, which I am informed will include the Banque de Paris et des Pays Bas, Credit Lyonnais, Comptoir National d'Escompte de Paris, Societe Generale de Credit Industriel et Commercial, Banque de l'Union Parisienne, Banque Nationale de Credit, Societe Generale de France, Credit Mobilier Francaise and the Banque des Pays Bas de Europe Centrale. The Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas has been designated as head of the syndicate.

"The French offering, owing to the imminence of the national credit issue, will be postponed until July.

"We are especially gratified at the notable response we have received from America. We are informed by J. P. Morgan & Co. that they are forming a country-wide syndicate to underwrite and offer the bonds. Our satisfaction over this American participation is twofold. It is based, first, upon the fact that the American bankers have become satisfied that the loan, as secured by the customs and the tobacco monopoly, is guaranteed by the European Governments is sound and can be recommended to the American investment public.

"Second, in behalf of my Government and the Austrian people, I express my satisfaction that in this first notable effort at international co-operation directed toward economic reconstruction in Europe, the leadership in America is being actively undertaken by some of the bankers and their associates who were active in the allied war financing, thus giving effective evidence that the war animosities are at an end, and that the Austrian people, now fortunately emerging from their economic difficulties, have regained the hearty good-will and sympathy of America.

"I cannot but consider this handsome American participation as a precursor of better international understandings in other directions, for the gratification that I express is directed not only toward America but to all those nationalities and groups upon this side of the water who are so loyally and helpfully co-operating with us, and who have shown us such unselfish good-will.

"The guarantees upon the loan as now arranged are: Great Britain, 24½ per cent.; France 24½, Czechoslovakia 24½, Italy 20½, Belgium 6, Sweden 2, Denmark 1, and Holland 1. Aside from these guarantees I may point out that, while the service of the proposed loan calls annually for not more than $15,000,000, the actual revenues upon the customs and tobacco monopoly are already showing at a rate of practically $30,000,000.

"To the fiscal, economic, banking and taxation reforms laid down by the financial experts as conditions precedent to the undertaking of the present loan, have already been in a considerable measure fulfilled, and rapid progress is being made in their completion. Further, our Finance Minister informs me that we are well within the estimated figures of outgo in our budget plans."

A 'Starvation Farm,' With 'Water Cure,' Revealed Near Chicago by Death of 2 Women

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 29.—A "starvation farm" in a suburb of Chicago, where eleven men and women, their bodies emaciated and their strength waning, are willingly undergoing hunger to cure themselves of ills, was brought to the official attention of State and medical officials today.

The place is Lombard Sanitarium, situated on the outskirts of Lombard. It came under the scrutiny of the authorities through the death of two women, Mrs. Anna Kolar and Miss Gertrude Kiesgen, following their discharge from the institution after undergoing a "diet cure," consisting of eating no food for weeks.

Assertions that the women literally starved themselves to death while under the care of Dr. George E. Boffenmeyer, head of the sanitarium, today took John W. Follmer, Inspector of the State Department of Registration and Education, to the sanitarium to investigate. In addition to the eleven patients who voluntarily deprive themselves of food, while they swear by Dr. Boffenmeyer as "a disciple sent by Christ to cure the ills of mankind," Mr. Follmer presented his evidences to C. W. Reed, State's Attorney of Du Page County, who has announced that he will ask a Grand Jury to investigate.

That one and perhaps two other patients have succumbed to the alleged starvation and cold water treatment used at the sanitarium was the opinion of Inspector Follmer. A fast of two weeks at the start was the rule, Mr. Follmer stated. A test period was then given during which patients received fruit juices. Then came another fast period. Some were reported to fast as long as sixty-two days. During this time patients took the "water cure" from a high pressure hose.

STRIKES STILL SPREADING

Half a Million Men Are Out in the Ruhr, but Few of Them Are Communists.

DUESSELDORF, May 29.—According to figures from Communist sources there are now 300,000 miners on strike in the Ruhr and 100,000 helpers—pumpmen, &c. The metal trades count 80,000 in 70,000 men out. If the workers in one or two other industries are added the total number of strikers may be well over half a million.

The strike in the Gelsenkirchen district is complete, not a single mine or shop working. A mass meeting was held this morning to discuss a Berlin offer which reached the Ruhr late last night, tendering a rise in miners' wages to an average of 10,000 marks, or roughly 80 per cent. of what is demanded.

Gelsenkirchen has become the chief centre of the Communist movement and the Reds there are in complete control. All work has ceased throughout the district. The city is quiet now, patrolled by mixed guards of Communists and Socialists.

The situation in most of the other Ruhr centres is still obscure, with the Reds and Whites alternately gaining the upper hand. At Dortmund conditions again are almost normal with the Whites carrying on active anti-strike propaganda by means of meetings and distribution of tracts.

At Witten the great railroad repair shops and also the Mannesmann tube works are closed. In the Witten district alone 30,000 men are on strike. In the Hamm District about two-thirds of the men are out. Fighting took place there yesterday between the strikers and workers.

At Bochum another serious occurrence this morning, one Red being killed and several wounded. The city is without gas, but otherwise the position is much the same as yesterday.

In Essen food control by the Communists continues. A meeting was held by Communists and Socialists in order to establish mixed workmen's police in connection with the criminal police and the new brigade to maintain order.

The City of Essen announces the issue of a 500,000,000 mark loan for the purpose of providing the unemployed with work on municipal improvements and to buy foodstuffs.

At Duisburg the strike has spread to the cable works, the Westende mines and the Curtius soda works. At a meeting of Workmen's Councils there it was decided to make claims similar to those in Dortmund for a 50 per cent. rise in wages, plus an indemnity of 150,000 marks per head.

After a few days of calm fresh sabotage attempts were made during last night on the railroads. A bomb was exploded on the important Duesseldorf-Weddau line, blowing up some rails, but communication was restored early this morning. Four unexploded bombs were found along the track near by.

A French sentry, attacked by a party of Germans, fired and killed one, while he himself was wounded in the hand by a revolver fired by a German.

The French this morning occupied the Badische Anilin soda works, situated at Oppau.

Trained Police Scatter Reds.

ESSEN, May 29 (Associated Press).—The arrival of trained police at Bochum and at other strike zones in the Ruhr today was welcomed by the German officials as being certain to liquidate the unrest among the large numbers of workmen now on strike. The officials predicted that there now would be little reserve trouble from the Reds.

Sixty-five police from Dusseldorf were sent into Bochum to reinforce the firemen and White Guards, who since Friday night had been besieged in the headquarters of the firemen. On the arrival of the policemen there was a rapid disappearance of all the red armlet wearers.

The local guards and firemen in several towns and in the Ruhr have been reinforced by police from the Rhineland under an agreement with the various French commanders. The German officials expressed the belief that the situation will now take on the aspect of an ordinary strike and that the reign of terror attributed to the Communist movement, in which nearly fifty persons have been killed, will come to an end. The casualties in Bochum, according to the Germans, have been eighteen persons killed and many wounded in the three days of fighting.

A new kind of profiteering has made its appearance, it is said, in Essen, Gelsenkirchen and other towns where the workers' Commission of Control suspected shopkeepers to overcharge put the goods sold out at the new rate to persons who took them elsewhere and disposed of them at handsome profits.

BERLIN, May 29.—The strike fever has spread to unoccupied Germany with disturbances at Barmen and Elberfeld, on the Ruhr border, and at Dresden, the Saxon capital.

At the latter town the rioters are reported this afternoon after the police had received a promise of 15,000,000 marks (15 cents) help, and the Government promised to pass a law providing ...should never be raised more than ... a day.

The Dresden uprising started when the association observed the communists had fourteen raises their scot prices every half hour, but the general confusion was exploited by Communists, who called for help from their party comrades in Berlin. Now reinforcements of Communists from Berlin and from Halle arrived at Dresden this afternoon and endeavored to consolidate the inciting and storm the police headquarters. Several were wounded, but the police control the town despite the fact that the Communists plundered the provision stores.

Information from the strike headquarters in Chemnitz-Zwickau reached the mines in Central Germany today, asking the miners to quit work.

The fact that the French confiscated about 200,000,000,000 marks in Essen has induced most of the banks in the Ruhr to close, bringing on a shortage of cash on paydays and a consequent shortage of food.

The Foreign Office is reported to be preparing a note to America demanding that the United States send food to the Ruhr District on the same principle that she sent food to Belgium during the World War.

HONG KONG'S OPIUM SUPPLY 41,562 POUNDS

British Delegate Tells League Committee That Amount Will Be Smoked This Year.

GENEVA, May 29.—The legitimate opium requirements of 700,000 Chinamen in Hongkong for this year will be between 400,000 and 500,000 taels [from 25,000 to 31,562 pounds], according to a statement made by Sir Malcolm Delevingne, the British delegate to the League of Nations' Opium Traffic Commission, today.

In Hongkong opium retails at $14.50 per tael, said the Hongkong Government wishes to import 300 chests of opium from India, as compared with 360 in 1916 and 300 in 1922.

In view of this extensive opium traffic the Far East, the American proposal to reduce immediately opium and cocaine production to strictly medical needs is considered doomed to failure, as the governments of Holland, India and China still oppose the plan, while the other Governments are wavering.

GENEVA, May 29 (Associated Press).—The lecture at this morning's session of the Opium Advisory Committee of the League of Nations was a statement by Major Gen. Charles H. Brent, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Buffalo, who represented for the neighboring islands the same methods for combating the opium evil that the United States had used in the Philippines.

The Bishop quoted statistics showing the reduction in the use of opium in the Philippines since the American occupation. In 1906 the opium used totaled 1,000,000 pounds, but fell to 235 pounds in 1918 and seventy-seven pounds in 1921. The duty paid on opium fell from $1,500,000 at the beginning of this period to about $6,000 in 1921.

PALESTINE ELECTIONS ARE DECLARED VOID

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 29.—The decision of the Arabs in Palestine to boycott the elections to the Legislative Council as a protest against Zionist aims has resulted in the elections being declared null and void. The following statement is made by the Colonial Office:

"An Order in Council officially published in Jerusalem yesterday declares null and void the elections held recently with a view to the constitution of a Legislative Council in accordance with the provisions of the Palestine Order in Council of 1922. This procedure has become necessary by the failure of the majority of the Arab population to avail themselves of their electoral privileges and thus to make possible the appointment of twelve elected members, who, with the High Commissioner and the official members, are to form the Council.

"The sanction given for the creation of the Legislative Council has not, however, been canceled and a new order, the Palestine (Amendment) Order in Council of 1923, provides for the constitution of the Legislative Council 'from such date, after a date to be fixed by the Commissioner in executive council by notification in the Gazette,' that is, after a general election for the choice of the twelve unofficial members to be held within six months from the issue of this proclamation.

"Meantime an Advisory Council will be constituted and the High Commissioner may consult the council as occasion may arise on matters affecting the peace, order and good government of the country. This Advisory Council or any other advisory body as may from time to time be created by the High Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary of State will continue in being until the Legislative Council is elected, and no ordinance will be promulgated by the High Commissioner until he has consulted the council.

"It can in any case no ordinance shall be promulgated which shall restrict complete freedom of conscience and the free exercise of all forms of worship save in so far as it is required for the maintenance of public order and morals, or which shall tend to discriminate in any way between inhabitants of the country on the ground of race, religion or language, nor shall any ordinance be promulgated which in any way shall be inconsistent with or contrary to or inconsistent with the provisions of the mandate given to Great Britain by the allied and associated powers. The new Advisory Council set up by the High Commissioner contains twelve unofficial members, and of these seven are Moslem members of the chief Mohammedan families."

The London Times says editorially:

"The experiment of reconciling the conflicting national claims in the little strip of land that so many peoples regard as holy has proved far more difficult than anybody imagined at the time when it was undertaken. The marvel is not some degree of success already has been achieved. Mistakes have been made, often serious mistakes, but they were inevitable and were the price of experience.

"The experiment has been subjected to fierce criticism, not in Palestine or by Britain alone. It has been denounced by extravagant claims that were raised throughout the world. The whole problem was obscured by the mists of prejudice, misunderstanding and contradictory claims and all this in the setting of the troubled Near East.

"Yet the present state of Palestine does real credit to British administrative capacity. Progress has been slow and stumbling, but there has been progress. Some of the mistakes and the lessons of experience and the administration of the country is being adapted with increasing success to the actual conditions.

"One lesson of the experience of the past four years has made it very clear, and it is emphasized by the new Order in Council, that the Government of Palestine is a British interest and for this reason it can be carried on successfully only if it is retained in British hands. As things now are, justice to the Arabs and the Jews in the Near East can be secured if there is a power in the land superior to both and to both equally well disposed. The British administration can and must hold the middle path. For the present it must continue to bear the full responsibility for the experiment on which the British Government and the British people have

POINCARE MAJORITY 438 ON RUHR POLICY

Chamber Closes His Critics, Including Tardieu, but Ultimatum by Premier Keeps Them in Line.

STICKS TO RUHR METHODS

He Will Change Nothing, Poincare Declares—Made Demonstrate in the House.

PARIS, May 29.—Premier Poincaré has consented to go to Brussels on June 6 to discuss with the Belgian Ministers their representative plan submitted last Friday. It is hoped that before that date the new German offer will have been received, but even should this not be the case the French Premier found it impossible to accept the date of his visit beyond next Wednesday in face of the urgency of the Belgian request for discussion of the present situation in the Ruhr and the possibilities of a way out.

This evening in the Chamber of Deputies the French Premier won a vote of confidence on his Ruhr policy with 438 per cent. of the Deputies in favor, the vote being 388 to 67. This vote came after a long and lively debate with Andre Tardieu, representing the Clemenceist party, questioning whether the Premier's policy was the best one for exploiting the riches of the Ruhr and obtaining payments from Germany.

M. Poincaré, sure of his position, told the treaty negotiator that if he liked he could have the post of trying to make M. Baker come to Paris and sign. But Tardieu refused the challenge and voted with the majority for granting credits which mean continued expenditure on the present lines.

The high spots of the speech of Clemenceau's first lieutenant were that "political, military and economic pressure on Germany should have for its result the deprivation of Germany of her Ruhr products and assurance of French security. The Poincaré Government has given to the operation, which was right to begin with, all its value, all its scope or all its forces," he said.

From that text M. Tardieu launched into a two-hour criticism of the Government's conduct in the Ruhr, which kept the front bench in constant disturbance. Minister after Minister threw retorts at the speaker, and M. Poincaré had to rise and to reply with a speech of equal length which kept the Chamber sitting until 11 o'clock.

Blames Lack of Decision.

Both in his speeches and in his note to Germany, M. Tardieu complained amid cheers from the Right that Premier Poincaré had failed to show enough decision and energy. He seemed to want to believe in German good-will. If he believed in German good-will why did he go into the Ruhr at all? At the beginning the Government had wanted to make an invisible occupation, when what was essential was that the occupation should be forceful and very apparent. The beginning of the blockade of Germany was too long delayed, the commercial blockade, and even now not enforced firmly enough. The decrees of General Degoutte, he said, were not applied rigorously, and when M. Poincaré challenged this statement M. Tardieu offered to bring him cases.

In spite of the statements by the Premier and the Minister of Public Works, M. Tardieu found that actual delivery of coal and coke were far too insufficient either to benefit the French metal industries or to deserve the name of productive guarantees. The moment Germany began to pay reparations exploitation of the Ruhr's productive guarantees must cease, according to Ministerial decision. Then France would have only another political guarantee in her occupation of the Ruhr as well as the Rhineland, and for the continuance of payments would have to depend on the good-will of Germany.

Behind the whole Government policy in the Ruhr M. Tardieu found reasons of internal politics. The Government, he said, had decided to satisfy the demands of the Left half of the Chamber and steer a middle course, which would, in his opinion, succeed neither at home nor abroad. He asked the Government to be bolder and carry less about radical opinion, and if it was to satisfy the real needs of France. He wanted a state of siege and declaration of military law within the Ruhr as a beginning. He answered M. Herriot, who wanted to know what his program was. He wanted the French policy to be strong and active, not calm and patient.

Poincaré Answers Angrily.

Premier Poincaré was in such a hurry to reply to this trenchant criticism, which had won applause from every side, that he would allow the Chamber only ten minutes in which to have dinner.

Those two men are probably the most outstanding in the Chamber, and each in his way surpasses by far the coarsest French Deputy in political conception and in debating skill. But the Chamber seems disposed to support the Premier when in the midst of the Premier's speech it voted, through Maître Moro Giafferri, Marcel Cachin and others, the opinion that the debate had gone down to a personal contest between the two men. M. Tardieu feared there, for the Premier's reply was in no way a defense of his policy. It was a bitter personal retort, dragged out through two hours and before a dinnerless assembly. The irritation which the Premier had shown as he sat impotent in his seat

...quarters in the Cabinet that come down ... Premier Mac with their views. ... summons to the opposition, ... come out into the open and the chamber into a discussion of the Ruhr policy. ... showed that the Premier was not ready to attempt the overthrow of the Poincaré Ministry.

While speakers discussing the provisional appropriations were making several speeches in the Senate the politicians on the budget and blocking resolution passed by the Chamber, the Communists staged a demonstration in honor of Andre Marty, Communist Deputy, Councilman and leading Communist, who has just been elected to a mining centre for the thirty-sixth time, although he is in prison in connection with the mutiny of French sailors in the Black Sea during the war.

The Communists brought in a banner bearing Marty's name and eighteen months, with the word "Amnistie" painted in red letters on it and tried to drive it over the Senate. The Senate and the members of the Right and Centre rose indignantly and the ushers, mustering up their courage, finally succeeded in driving the demonstrators out of the Chamber gallery towards midnight.

The advance of funds to Poland and Rumania by the French Government was scored by the Socialist Deputies during the debate in the Chamber.

Camille Pelletan, Socialist Deputy, said Louis Loucheur, whom he termed a "former and future Minister," when in France would find the means to pay her debt to the United States if the continued advancing such sums while her finances were in such pitiable and deplorable condition.

POINCARE GOING TO BRUSSELS.

He Plans to Confer on Reparations Those Next Week.

PARIS, May 29 (Associated Press).—In accordance with the Belgian Government's wish, Premier Poincaré today notified Premier Minister Jaspar that he would go to Brussels on Wednesday of next week for further conversations on the Ruhr situation.

BRUSSELS, May 29 (Associated Press).—The Belgian Government's suggestions on German reparations which have been submitted to France permit of the formation of a practical programme by the conversations of the Governments of Belgium, France and Germany, it was declared in official circles here today. The Belgian Government, it is said, is willing to attempt the overthrow of the Poincaré Ministry.

GERMANS ARE VEERING TO INDUSTRIALIST'S PLAN

Berlin Press Generally Favors It, and the Labor Opposition Is Weakening.

BERLIN, May 29 (Associated Press).—With the publication of the official text of the industrialists' guarantee proposals to the Government, criticism of their program has become considerably modified, and a large section of the press is inclined to view the League's platform as materially contributing to the negotiations solution sought by Chancellor Cuno.

While the editorial comments assume that the present draft does not represent the extent to which the industrialists and the financial shipping and agrarian interests will finally be pressed into service by the Government, there is a marked concurrence on the part of the bourgeoisie journals that the proposals "are a beginning in the industrialists' statement as a condition of their participation in the gold guarantees are wholly warranted in the light of the past conduct of the reparations problem by Germany and the Entente.

"We are heartily tired of pouring gold values into a barrel without a bottom," the Kreuz Zeitung declares in connection with the demand that an end be made to "speculative policies in reparations and the system of periodical assessments heretofore pursued."

Neither the United Socialists nor the powerful Federation of Labor Unions have yet indicated their official attitude to the industrialists' proposals and confined their present utterances to a prompt rejection of any attempts to "confiscate" the eight-hour law. To a large extent the industrialists have effectually disarmed labor opposition in advance in that their memorandum lays stress on concurrence with the natural financial and economic reforms promised by the White Government in its note of Nov. 14 to the Reparation Commission.

This program, which was one of the last official utterances of the Wirth Cabinet on the reparation problem, and certainly received strong if not unanimous support by the Socialist members of the Wirth Ministry.

Chancellor Cuno is devoting his entire time to extensive parleys with the leaders of organized labor, industrial, economic, commercial and agrarian interests and has entered upon a comprehensive study of the question of guarantees and the manner in which they can be secured through legislative enactments.

Rudolf Havenstein, President of the Reichsbank, testified today at the first meeting of the Reichstag committee appointed to investigate the measures taken to support the mark.

The bank President said the failure of the Reichsbank's efforts to sustain the mark dated from the failure of the public to subscribe adequately to the recent dollar loan. This, he said, had resulted in continuance of the run on the foreign currency market, so that the public had unconsciously brought the Reichsbank's efforts to naught.

Herr Havenstein also gave confidential information as to the sums employed by the Reichsbank in supporting the mark.

Tageblatt Denounces the Offer.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 29.—The newspapers outside of the nationalist and industrial organs advise the Government not to accept the offer of the National League of German Industry, at least not in its present form.

The Tageblatt says that the languages of the National League is that of dukes and dukelets, princes and princelings of the medieval German Empire in their replies to the Kaiser's requests for contributions to the Empire's household expenses. These vassals had long become independent and shamelessly blackmailed the Kaiser, exacting new privileges often only for mere promises to do their duty to the Empire.

"Do steel kings and coal barons wish to imitate the medieval princelings; do they wish to strike the last assets of the German mark into their subservient to their own interests?" the paper asks. Continuing:

"The Government may accept the industrialists' offer, but without any confidence. The Government alone has the right to act and speak for all interests, and must not tolerate any wire-pullers behind the scenes, be they capitalists or laborers. There must be no bargaining, no secret deal between the Government and the industrialists, but must be lawfully settled by parliamentary action, to which industry, like any other part of the German community, has to submit.

"Aegus offers of rather small contribution toward reparations, but much overestimates the return on State properties and institutions when it expects them to contribute 600,000,000 to 1,000,000,000 gold marks annually."

The Lokal Anzeiger thinks that the railroads and State properties can yield any such returns as the industrialists estimate, if continued.

The Tageblatt also opposes the extraordinary demands upon labor that the National League makes, declaring that the economic crisis can be overcome only by the cooperation of all classes.

FOUND WORLD COURT IGNORED IN KANSAS

Senator Curtis, Back From Home State, Says Taxes and Rail Rates Hold Precedence.

FORD BOOM LACKING THERE

Republican Whip Predicts Harding's Re-election Unless Prosperity Disappears.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—According to Senator Curtis, the Republican Senate whip, who returned to Washington today, Kansas is showing interest only in domestic questions, such as taxes, the reduction of railroad rates and general conditions affecting prosperity.

"I was in Kansas for over two weeks," he said, "I interviewed men in touch with public thought in forty-five counties. None of them had anything to say as to the World Court. They appeared to be vitally interested in their own future and wanted to know what Congress would do as to taxes and the railroad situation.

"By this I do not want to infer that Kansas lacks interest in the proposal that the United States should join the World Court. In fact I think with the rest of the country that Kansas is for the court, but Kansas is not clamoring to see the United States under the World Court, provided it can do so with reservations which will make it certain that it does not bring the United States into the League of Nations.

"At the proper time Kansas people will make their voice heard as to our participation in world matters. But at the present time the people are not talking politics. They are interested chiefly in their own prosperity and want to know what the next Congress will do as to railroad rates and taxes.

"They appear to be very prosperous as a rule, as far as I could learn. The wheat crop in some sections will be bad, due to dry weather, but this loss will be made up by the planting of corn.

"Kansas is suffering greatly from the lack of railroad facilities. There are three lines in the State in the hands of receivers. Two of these, reaching into the fruit and wheat belts, are not moving a wheel, while the third is operating inefficiently.

"The sentiment as to the railroad situation in my State, therefore, is a very vital one. The people need good service and plenty of cars during the crop movements, and this they have not got for the present time. Trucks are being used to make up for the loss of railroad service. This is very costly and inconvenient.

"I think that the people would like to see the railroads consolidated, as proposed by the Esch-Cummins law, if they went chiefly to good service and reduced rates. If they should get these two things they would not be particular as to how they obtained them.

"Did you hear any talk in favor of Ford for President?" Senator Curtis was asked.

"Yes. I heard one man say that in his county some one was going to start a Ford club," he replied. "I failed to find the Ford sentiment that others are talking about."

"What is the Republican situation in Kansas?"

"All factions are united on Harding for the coming election. The voters are not talking in such an affectionate and absorbing way of President Harding as they did of McKinley and Roosevelt. But they are for him. They have respect for his administration and recognize that he has done well in a difficult time."

"Then you think that he will be renominated?"

"I think that he will be renominated without any real opposition and re-elected."

"Will his election come if the country is not enjoying its present prosperity?"

"No. If the country were enjoying more than normal prosperity, should rush into a panic next year Mr. Harding could not hope to win. But such a condition cannot take place, and we are sure to have reasonable prosperity. If not better conditions than at present."

Senator Curtis said that he favored the World Court with reservations which would keep the United States out of the League.

COPELAND SAYS WE LIVE IN A FOOLS' PARADISE

Prosperity Here Will Flee Unless Europe Gets Work, He Declares in North Carolina Address.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 29.—Americans are living in a "fool's paradise," Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York said in an address today at the annual commencement exercises of North Carolina State College. In certain lines in the United States, he said, prosperity was evident, but the idleness of the rest of the world should convince the people that the good times were likely to be transient.

Senator Copeland renewed his plea for the calling of a business and economic conference to include all nations and from which all political differences would be barred. The plan of joining the World Court advocated by President Harding, he said, was "one of the ingredients of a prescription which might save the world," but it would be "no more a panacea for the distress and unhappiness of mankind than is a single sip of water enough to save a man dying of thirst."

"President Harding," Senator Copeland continued, "has said he will have nothing to do with the League of Nations—but no statesman or humanitarian should forget the elementary problems of existence, problems which are pressing upon us day by day.

"The business, the industry, the commerce of the world must be reestablished. What statesmen should do, it seems to me, is to find the least common denominator upon which they can agree, and then proceed to settle the world's economic troubles by the recognized formula."

ADAMS RAPS CRITICS OF COMMITTEE SLUR

such interests and publications are displeased with the Republican national organization is because it stands with the 16,600,000 voters who in the 1920 election voted against the League of Nations and European political entanglement. The vote came at the close of a campaign in which these were the leading issues discussed. The vote represented the mature and deliberate decision of the American people.

"The Republican Administration came into full power associated with that mandate and pledged to observance. This pledge it has faithfully kept. The Republican National Committee has consistently supported the foreign policy advocated by the Republican Party in the 1920 campaign.

"The American people are still of the same mind they were in 1920, notwithstanding persistent misrepresentations to the contrary, and the events of the last three years fully confirm the wisdom of that decision.

"The organizations and publications referred to would disregard the mandate of the people in 1920 and depart from the policy observed by the United States since the Administration of Washington. They have an obsession to get this country entangled in foreign embroilments. They believe it should use its resources, and, if necessary, its young men to further interests and carry out the purpose of certain European countries.

"The interests and organizations which advocate these things are largely financed. Their machinery for written and spoken propaganda is tremendous and tireless. The publications, representing them and in sympathy with them, are vigilant and well conducted. They view every public problem—be it the tariff, law enforcement, foreign loans or whatever else—from the standpoint of foreign interests.

"On all questions the Republican National Committee supports the American side of the discussion. In taking that position it can hardly expect the support of those organizations which favor the European side.

"Being opposed to joining the League of Nations, to meddling in Europe, to becoming entangled in foreign politics, does not mean isolation. America has never been isolated, yet America has always kept aloof from European entanglements. America has been ever ready to assist European countries, provided the assistance could be given without jeopardizing its independence

TELLS HOW AUSTRIA IS HELPING HERSELF

Chancellor Seipel Describes the Measures of Economy in State Expenditures.

CURRENCY IS STABILIZED

Executive Acknowledges American Sympathy and Hopes for Subscriptions to League Loan.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, May 29.—Dr. Ignatius Seipel, Federal Chancellor of Austria and formerly leader of the Christian Socialist Party, has since his accession to power shown high qualities of statesmanship recognized by all the world. It is certainly a remarkable fact that a State which has begun its independent political life under the influence of a strong Socialist party should by force of circumstances have fallen under the leadership of a Roman Catholic priest.

In the course of a conversation with THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent today the Chancellor made the following statement:

"Of all the encouraging facts sustaining the hope that our work of reconstruction, so meticulously begun, will lead to the desired result, one of the most important appears to be the moral sympathy we have found in the United States.

"American policy and the American public have of late years become tired of European matters. From the transactions in Legislatures and the stand taken by leading newspapers we learn that a high degree of resentment is felt regarding the conduct of European States, which, instead of devoting themselves solely to the work of economical reconstruction after the fearful ravages of the World War, still in too many cases pursue a policy of racial passions and vituperation.

He Cites Praise from Americans.

"Many Americans whom I have met in the course of the last few months have expressed their keen disappointment at this and have given me to understand that the American nation and its leaders would not devote their attention to European affairs until this cloud was removed from the horizon of European politics. These men, who have made an exhaustive study of our conditions, and more especially of the progress made in our work of reconstruction, also expressed their satisfaction at having found in Austria a State which was moving along a different course and was giving an object lesson of pacific and reasonable policy.

"I should not like to seem to be returning a good opinion with flattery in confessing that in all our measures of reform we were always guided by this idea—to let us proceed in the manner as sound American common sense would dictate. It stands to reason that in our quest for models we should have turned our eyes to the country in which preeminent achievements in the sphere of economic reforms were of every-day occurrence, and where the spirit of the people most easily adapted itself to measures requiring daring conception and irrepressible pertinacity in execution.

"When the present Government of Austria came into power it was at first confronted by a terrible economic chaos. It realized at once the futility of antiquated measures. The League loans has given us a term of two years within which to carry out a program of reconstruction—a short term, indeed, for the task of such magnitude. Of the two years so far five months have elapsed. We have utilized this time to advantage and done everything that could reasonably be expected—in some respects even more than Geneva originally demanded.

Notes Stability of Austrian Currency.

"The Austrian crown has remained stable during this time; indeed, ours is the only stable standard in Central Europe, which may be attributed to the fact that on the one hand the new bank of issue has strictly adhered to its by-laws, while on the other hand the Government and National Assembly have become fully aware of the necessity of abstaining from stopping gaps in the budget by issuing notes without limit.

Civil Service List Reduced.

"Another matter I should like to refer to is the problem of the civil service. We have planned to reduce the number of State employes and governmental workers from about 250,000 to 150,000. Up to date we have dismissed some 40,000, and it was shown that the public, calling our intentions, was willing to end its support.

"Just now we are about to effect a thoroughgoing reorganization of our railways and to reconstruct traffic on a purely commercial basis. A similar course will be followed in all other departments hitherto operated by the State. In this manner we expect to combat the causes of the State deficit.

"These achievements have already rekindled confidence in the State and its future. Even before receiving one cent of foreign money the Austrian public supplied by its own means capital for the establishment of the new bank of issue, and nearly every week other considerable amounts from Austrian savings are contributed for national purposes.

"We have also succeeded in winning the confidence of European financial circles. This became manifest some weeks ago, when, even before the subscription for the big League of Nations loan, we took up a provisional credit of £2,350,000, which operation was repeated with even greater success on the occasion of our negotiations concerning the League of Nations credit.

"We shall feel happy if likewise the confidence of the American public is expressed by the greatest possible participation of the American public in our loan. This is not considered by us as a mere question of money, but would besides be considered as a sign that our policy had been approved and regarded as worthy of support. All Europe would consider this a practical demonstration of the fact that a peaceful and constructive policy was productive of the best results, and in this manner the American public might teach Europe a useful and impressive lesson."

$7,000,000 ESTATE SETTLED IN COURT

Daughter of John K. Stewart, Speedometer Inventor, Receives $2,400,000.

Surrogate Robert Pelletreau of Suffolk County, at Riverhead, L. I., yesterday signed four final decrees settling all litigation over the $7,000,000 estate of John K. Stewart, the Chicago speedometer inventor; the estate of his wife, Mrs. Julia E. Stewart; the estate of their daughter, Jean Stewart, and the guardianship of another daughter, Miss Marian Stewart Honeyman.

Under the settlement Mrs. Honeyman, who is the wife of Rober B. Honeyman Jr., son of a Brooklyn lawyer, receives more than $2,400,000 from the estates of her parents and sister. Martin Taylor of New York and Leander H. Lachante of Chicago are retired as Mrs. Honeyman's guardians, the Court holding that she is a resident of Illinois and of age according to the laws of the State. The application of Taylor and Lachante for appointment as administrators of the estate of Jean Stewart was denied and the Suffolk County National Bank of Riverhead designated as administrator.

SAY RAIL UNION MEN RUN OPEN SHOP MINE

Miners Strike on Issue at Coal River (W. Va.) Field of Company Headed by W. S. Stone.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 29.—Open shop operation of the Coal River Collieries Company, owned by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, resulted in a strike at the company's mines on Coal River today, according to Fred Mooney, Secretary of District 17, United Mine Workers. Between sixty-five and seventy-five men are out and non-union miners are being employed to take their places.

At a conference between Mooney and Warren S. Stone, Brotherhood President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the mining company, last year, Mooney said Stone told him that mines would operate on the union basis as soon as they were opened. On this understanding union miners on strike at other mines were given permits to work at the mines.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 29.—Leaders of two powerful labor organizations were in collision today over the "open shop" question.

A strike was called by Secretary Fred Mooney of District 17, United Mine Workers, against the Coal River Collieries at Huntington, W. Va. Warren S. Stone, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is Chairman of the Board of Directors of the company and other Directors are Engineers' Brotherhood leaders.

Mr. Stone, at his office here today admitted that the mines were not fully unionized, but asserted that the men had his permission to join the union if they desired. He said he had received no reports on any strikes.

"We are paying the union scale in West Virginia," he said. "In East Kentucky, where the Coal River Collieries also have mines, the miners have not been organized for twenty years, but we are paying the going rate in Eastern Kentucky."

FIVE DEATHS IN DAY BY AUTO ACCIDENTS

Taxi Driver Takes Stricken Boy to Hospital, Where He Is Found Dead.

Joseph Smith, 6 years old, of 601 East 179th Street, was struck and killed by a taxicab yesterday in Third Avenue, near Tremont Avenue, the Bronx. The taxi driver, Harry Schwartz of 1,089 Washington Avenue, said that the boy had stepped from behind an elevated pillar directly in front of his cab. Schwartz took the boy to Fordham Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Joseph Bertrand of 1,217 Long Avenue, Hillside, N. J., died in the Elizabeth General Hospital yesterday from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile in Hillside on Monday. The machine was driven by Henry Horemann of Point Pleasant, N. J., who was held in $1,000 bail. Horemann said that he was driving by a trolley car when Bertrand stepped into his way and was knocked down by the mudguard.

Grace Rella, 4 years old, of 159 South Seventh Avenue, Mount Vernon, died in the Mount Vernon Hospital yesterday from injuries received when run down by a motor truck on Monday. William Timbes of 215 Fifth Avenue, Pelham, driver of the truck, said the girl had run into the truck.

Struck by a jitney bus when crossing Central Avenue at Lincoln Street, Jersey City, last night, Archibald Cooper, 19 years old, of 349 Central Avenue, died half an hour later in the Jersey City Hospital. James Perritt, driver of the bus, was arrested on the charge of homicide.

While crossing Twenty-third Street at Seventh Avenue last night, Herman Rubenstein, 23 years old, of 1,423 St. Marks Avenue, Brooklyn, was knocked down by a taxicab. He was taken to New York Hospital in an ambulance. The taxi driver was Harris Meisel of 93 Lewis Street.

Eleven persons were slightly hurt yesterday when a trolley car in which they were riding collided with an automobile on Jackson Avenue, west of Flushing Bridge, in Flushing. Ambulance surgeons from Flushing Hospital attended the victims, who were able to continue their journeys.

CONFEDERATE TO HONOR GRAVES OF UNION DEAD

Attleboro G. A. R. Post Makes Captain Bishop of Virginia Associate Member.

ATTLEBORO, Mass., May 29.—A gray cape with scarlet lining appeared among the blue uniforms at the headquarters of William A. Streeter Post, Grand Army of the Republic, tonight. The wearer was a veteran of the Confederate Army. Welcomed as a comrade by the men who fought against him sixty years ago, Captain Carter R. Bishop of Petersburg, Va., with simple ceremony was made an associate member of the post. Tomorrow he will march with the twenty-six able-bodied members of the thirty-two remaining on the roll to Woodlawn Cemetery and will assist in the placing of the Stars and Stripes on each of more than 250 graves of Union soldiers.

In furtherance of a plan to make stronger the bond between Massachusetts and Virginia the school children of the two cities have been encouraged to correspond, and more than 5,000 letters have been exchanged. Memorial Day here will be devoted entirely to the soldier dead. There will be no baseball game, the golf links will be deserted and the customary races will be omitted. The red, white and blue decorations then and there are mixed with Confederate gray.

CECIL GUIDES COMMONS.

Acts as Peacemaker, Making Concessions to Opposition.

LONDON, May 29.—Lord Robert Cecil, having joined the new Government, is distinguishing himself as peacemaker between the Ministers of Stanley Baldwin's Cabinet and the Opposition. Tonight in the House of Commons he poured oil on the troubled waters when a storm loomed in the debate during the committee stage of the Indemnity bill to protect Home Secretary Bridgeman from penalties as a result of court action by the Irish deportees.

The Opposition had discovered that the bill, as drafted, could be made to cover other cases than the Irish deportations, and raised vigorous protests. Lord Robert brought about closure on the debate, but, finding that the Liberals and Lloyd Georgeans had voted with the Laborites against the Government, and that the Opposition was still in a militant mood, he yielded, and moved an amendment strictly limiting the bill to the deportation cases.

HOPEFUL OF RELEASE OF CAPTIVES IN CHINA

80 HURLED OVER A CLIFF

Chinese Prisoners Thrown to Death Because of Shortage of Food in Bandits' Retreat.

TSAOCHWANG, May 29 (Associated Press).—J. B. Powell, Shanghai newspaper publisher, recently paroled by the Suchow train bandits to arrange terms for the release of the kidnapped foreigners, today arrived here on his third trip from the outlaws' mountain stronghold and reported that negotiations were proceeding favorably.

PEKING, May 29 (Associated Press).—Chinese military authorities and representatives of the Shantung bandits who kidnapped a number of foreigners from the Shanghai-Peking express on May 6, are participating in direct negotiations for the release of the captives, according to advices received today by the foreign legations here.

This new and hopeful turn of affairs is considered significant in official quarters in Peking, and the departure of the International Military Commission of Investigation for Tsaochwang has been postponed until Thursday.

The commission, headed by Brig. Gen. W. D. Conner, American Commissioner at Tientsin, had intended leaving today. But the foreign diplomats considered it advisable, in view of the negotiations now progressing, to refrain from injecting any new element into the situation, and thus endangering the pourparlers. It is understood also that Marshal Tsao Kun and General Wu Pei-Fu, military chiefs of the Chihli Party, were opposed to the presence of the commission at Tsaochwang on the ground that it might interfere with the conferences now going on there.

SHANGHAI, May 29 (Associated Press).—A shortage of food in the bandit stronghold at Paotsuku before the kidnapping of a number of foreigners from the Shanghai-Peking express May 6 caused the brigands to throw eighty Chinese prisoners to death from one of the mountain cliffs, according to information received today from Father William Leafers, German priest, who has made several trips to the outlaw headquarters.

The information from Father Leafers, which came in a letter written from Lincheng, declared that the prisoners' feet were bound and each was labeled with his name and identification before being hurled to death. One of the prisoners, a woman, was thrown over with her child in her arms.

Later the bandits notified the families of the massacred captives, and relatives were permitted to remove the bodies, identification being facilitated by the tags.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The State Department's latest reports from Minister Schurman at Peking indicate that the Chinese bandits are holding out for the fulfillment of the original conditions for the release of the Americans and other foreigners held captive in the mountains of Western Shantung. On the night of May 26 the bandits reiterated their five demands, which were as follows:

1. Withdrawal of soldiers.
2. The Central Government to furnish the bandits regularly with food and clothing.
3. Ten thousand bandits in the Southwestern district to be formed into four mixed brigades under the direct control of the Central Government, which should furnish arms and ammunition.
4. The Central Government to give six months' pay in advance and make good also arrears of pay, not to exceed a total of six months' pay.
5. On the consent of the Central Government to the above terms, an agreement to be drawn up between the Central Government and the bandit chief, to be signed in the presence of a representative of the Diplomatic Corps, which must act as guarantor for the proper execution of the agreement.

LABORITES DEFEAT ELECTION FUND CURB

Commons Backs Them Against a Private Member's Bill—Proposer Called a "Liar."

Copyright, 1923, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LONDON, May 29.—The Labor Party won a minor victory this afternoon when the House of Commons by a vote of 174 against 138 refused to permit J. R. Remer, Conservative member from Macclesfield, to introduce a "Freedom Labor bill," which was intended, Mr. Remer said, to free the trade unionists from their obligation to subscribe funds for elections in support of the Labor Members of Parliament.

The discussion gave occasion for one of the usual scenes when Conservatives and Laborites both lose their tempers. Mr. Remer declared he knew of a case where a union raised £5,000 (about $23,100), of which £2,000 ($9,240) was paid by one member.

He was greeted by shouts of "The name! The name!" from the Labor benches, and as soon as he could be heard he said it was the Dockers' Union.

J. Sexton, Liverpool Laborite, who is Secretary of the Dockers' Union, jumped to his feet immediately, shouting: "It is a lie; a lie; a deliberate, atrocious lie! You are a liar!"

The speaker called on Mr. Sexton to withdraw the offensive remark and Mr. Sexton said:

"I withdraw the expression, but I repeat that it is a deliberate untruth. No such levy ever was made."

Neil McLean, Glasgow Laborite, said there is no such levy in any trade union, and the members were free to prove his assertion, but Mr. Remer did not reply.

PRAISES DR. BAKER'S WORK.

Children's Welfare Federation Calls Her Resignation a Great Loss.

The resignation of Dr. Josephine Baker as Director of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the Department of Health is termed "an almost irreparable loss" in resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the Children's Welfare Federation in the Academy of Medicine last Friday and made public yesterday.

"In organizing the Bureau in 1908, Dr. Baker created a model that has been followed by most of the leading cities throughout the country, and by forty-two State departments of health. For twenty years she has been one of our outstanding public officials, serving the City of New York with marked devotion and ability. We congratulate Dr. Baker upon what she has achieved in public service, and the community itself upon the ideals and standards she has established."

FRIEND SAYS GEDDES IS NOT SERIOUSLY ILL

Sir John Henry, Recently His Guest, Denies That the Ambassador Wishes to Retire.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 29.—Sir John Henry, who has been on visit to Sir Auckland Geddes at the British Embassy in Washington, returned to London yesterday. In an interview he referred to the conflicting statements circulated regarding Sir Auckland.

"When I left America," he said, "Sir Auckland was by no means seriously ill. It is true he is suffering from severe eye-strain. Sir Auckland will leave Washington during the next week or two and will visit England in order that he can take a thorough rest.

"As far as I am aware, the reports which have been published to the effect that Sir Auckland has been for the past year anxious to be relieved of his duties as British Ambassador at Washington are entirely without foundation. Although the work is arduous and is naturally something of a strain, even to a man of fine vigor, Sir Auckland is in excellent health generally, and a few weeks' rest, he is sanguine, will overcome the eye trouble, which is due to overwork. For some time he has contemplated taking a holiday in England, but has been detained at the Embassy on important duties."

While in official circles yesterday there was no confirmation of the reports of the retirement in the near future of Sir Auckland Geddes from his Washington post, there was further gossip as to his possible successor.

Sir Auckland has never hinted that he wished to be relieved, and his great success as British Ambassador to the United States has given the Government every reason to wish that he continue his service there. Nevertheless, the Star's political correspondent said last night:

"While it is true that Sir Auckland is not likely to prolong his stay in Washington over this Summer, he has not resigned. No definite offer was made to Austen Chamberlain on Saturday, but the diplomatic field was mentioned to him in the knowledge that a Washington vacancy would occur in the course of the year. Mr. Chamberlain is, however, not surrendering his interest in domestic politics, and the Prime Minister will have to seek elsewhere. It is possible that Winston Churchill may be approached."

IAN HAY IN DEBATE WITH SINCLAIR LEWIS

Two Authors Discuss 'Main Street and High Street' Before a London Audience.

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 29.—Major Beith, better known under the pen name of Ian Hay, and Sinclair Lewis took part tonight at the London School of Economics in a debate on "Main Street and High Street." The debate was in aid of the London hospitals.

In this country, said Major Beith, people still cherished a sneaking affection for a literary hero with aristocratic connections. In these ultrademocratic days, it was true, the hero need not be exactly a Duke, but at any rate he must be sufficiently well connected to be able to get into the royal enclosure at Ascot without "wangling."

In America, on the other hand, he said, they rather leaned toward the self-made hero, the man who started life in some simple, unpretentious, red-blooded, 100 per cent. calling, such as that of the Nebraska farmer's boy, who descended upon New York like a meteor and devoted the rest of his maturity to creating periodical panics in Wall Street.

Mr. Lewis expressed disapproval of what might be termed the anti-American passages in the English press and on the stage. Americans would love England, he said, if Englishmen would get over their complete superciliousness.

"I love England," he concluded. "I hope to be allowed to love England."

The Chairman, Sir William Beveridge, said he thought Englishmen were as conceited and pleased with themselves as Americans were, but "We do not say so much about it ourselves." (Laughter.) He thought that sometimes Americans were oversensitive to foolish criticism by foolish people.

that this is not the first time the Government has been offered $1,000,000,000 for Shipping Board vessels and that this particular offer was more than three times the inventoried value of the Government merchant fleet based on present world market prices for ship tonnage. Chairman Lasker stated that the board knows nothing of the financial support that the maker of this offer can command and that the bidder had not yet disclosed his connections or the syndicate he may represent.

To Give Up Ships if Payment Not Met.

The billion-dollar offer was contained in this communication to the Shipping Board:

COLUMBIA POSTAL SUPPLY CO.
Incorporated 1900.
Silver Creek, Chautauqua County, N. Y., May 26, 1923.

The United States Shipping Board, Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen: With reference to previous correspondence, we hereby offer one billion and fifty-one million dollars ($1,051,000,000) for all the ships, active and inactive, and all the other property of the United States Shipping Board, real, personal and mixed, on the following terms:

Offer subject to acceptance any time to and including July 1, 1923. Payment of fifty-one million dollars ($51,000,000) to be made on Oct. 1, 1923, and fifty million dollars ($50,000,000) yearly thereafter until the entire sum has been paid. Payments to be made quarterly in amount $12,500,000 (twelve and one-half million dollars), interest on all deferred payments at the rate of 4½ per centum per annum.

We agree to operate present lines with at least as good service as that rendered by the United States Shipping Board during the entire life of the agreement.

The Government to have the right to repossess all the property at any time there is a default in payment of any part of the principal sum or any instalment of interest. Interest to be paid in full on the unpaid balance quarterly at the same time as quarterly payments are made on the principal.

The Government to have the right, however, to extend payments, but any such extensions, whether of principal or of interest, to bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum.

We are prepared to furnish a bond of $1,000,000 guaranteeing that we will sign a contract if awarded same, and to discuss any of all other details of such a contract very promptly.

COLUMBIA POSTAL SUPPLY CO.,
By John W. Slack, President.

Bid to Be Accepted if Bona Fide.

Chairman Lasker today issued the following statement:

"The only bid received for $1,000,000,000, as stated by a press association late last night, was as per attached copy.

"The bidder has not disclosed anything as to his connections or worth save what is included in the letter. The board constantly receives offers similar to this, but because of their nature when investigated nothing has come of them.

"Not one cent accompanied the offer. The $1,000,000 guaranteed to be paid down represents one-tenth of 1 per cent. down payment, and it is asked that we hold all our property intact and do nothing until next October, when $50,000,000 or 5 per cent. of the purchase price will be paid.

"While of course the board would like to sell its fleet for $1,000,000,000, it should be said in passing that $1,000,000,000 is several times the highest inventory value of the fleet the Government owns, based on present world market prices, since this inventoried value does not exceed $300,000,000.

"Of course, it would be delightful, if on investigation the bid proves to be bona fide. If so, there can be no doubt the board will make the award to the bidder."

The total number of vessels under the control of the Shipping Board is 1,381, with a total gross tonnage of 9,858,250, and of these 1,351 are steel vessels, with a tonnage of 9,482,073.

Big Bankers Here Not Consulted.

Officials of the larger banks in New York yesterday said they knew nothing of a $1,000,000,000 bid for the active proportion of the United States Government's merchant marine which was received Monday by the Shipping Board. Only a few banks would have sufficient resources to undertake such a large financing operation, and statements obtained from these banks indicated that their officers regarded the offer as much too high.

The banking fraternity was not inclined to ridicule the offer, however, and suggestions were made that there might be something behind it. A number of men of strong financial backing have been interested for some time in building up a merchant marine, and it was admitted as possible that a group might have made tentative plans of that nature without having consulted with the country's bankers.

Efforts to locate individuals who were supposedly acting in the interest of a strong financial group failed to produce any tangible results. The name of one man was mentioned in the negotiation, but he was supposedly a "dummy" used to conceal the identity of more powerful financiers.

John W. Slack, President of the Columbia Postal Supply Company, of Silver Creek, N. Y., is entirely unknown in the financial district.

HERE TO BUY SHIPS.

Germans Want Vessels to Be Broken Up After Crossing Ocean.

Among the passengers who arrived yesterday from Hamburg on the American liner Mongolia were Captain Joseph Friedmann and Bruno L. Hermit, who said they had come to purchase old steamships if the price was low enough. Captain Friedmann said the vessels would be bought to be broken up in Germany, but they must be seaworthy enough to float across the Atlantic.

Miss T. B. von Lasan, Secretary to the German Embassy in Washington, was also a passenger.

A small menagerie came on the Mongolia, including elephants, zebras, baboons, kangaroos, a giraffe and a black panther from Bhootan in the Himalayas. A wild animal seldom seen in captivity.

BEERBOHM CARTOONS STIR LONDON STORM

"Dreadful," "Disgusting," "Unforgiveable" Are Said of Caricatures of Royalty.

SOME DEMAND REMOVAL

Du Maurier Buys Wales Wedding Cartoon, Calling It "Excruciatingly Funny."

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, May 30.—Max Beerbohm's caricatures of royalty, included in the collection of his cartoons, now on exhibition here, have aroused a storm of criticism. Beerbohm has always been regarded as a licensed jester and many persons see in the cartoons in question only a subject for laughter, but others are of the opinion that he has exceeded the limits of good taste.

A cartoon, depicting the Prince of Wales as an old man marrying his landlady's daughter, is one of those most discussed, but there are eight cartoons also of the late King Edward which are regarded by some persons as too caustic in their wit.

There is one of King Edward, for instance, which, says The Daily Express, represents Edward the Peacemaker as a fat man exhibit at a fair, clad in a scant white garment, his arms, red and bulging, bared to the shoulders. In his hands a fyre is clasped and a cheap, gilt colored ring hangs like a halo over his head as if suspended by invisible wires.

One paper asserts that from some men who saw these cartoons yesterday there were chuckles, but the women raged and the room echoed with such exclamations as "ghastly," "horrible," "beastly," "awful," "dreadful," "unforgivable," "brutal," "wicked" and "disgusting."

The Star says:

"It is inevitable that the taste of some of the cartoons will be questioned. It would almost seem that this was the intent of the caricaturist."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "There is no doubt about the matter being serious. Comments made today by responsible critics emphasize the fact that the cartoons are extremely distasteful and a blot on the exhibition. If the show is to be a success and the public taste is not to be offended, they should be removed at once."

The Evening News says: "It is the general view that Max Berbohm in the royal family section of his new caricatures is not only not amusing, but also in questionable taste."

The Evening Standard in "A Londoner's Diary" says:

"The taste of some of the royal pictures, especially the one about the Prince of Wales, is deplorable, and I am surprised that an arbiter of elegance like Max should have permitted himself such pointless vulgarity."

One paper describes the cartoons of King Edward as "Teutonically brutal."

Sir Gerald Du Maurier, the actor, does not share these views, especially as regards the cartoon of the Prince of Wales. He has bought it for $40 and says that he considers it "exorutiatingly funny" and that "anything so funny could not possibly be distasteful."

The Secretary of the Leicester Galleries, where the cartoons are exhibited, when asked yesterday if it was proposed to withdraw these to which objection had been taken, replied:

"Nobody has taken any serious view of the exhibition, but if such representation were made to us, we might reconsider the exhibition of the cartoons in question. We personally cannot see any possible reason for objection."

1,000 KILLED IN PERSIA.

Earthquakes Devastate Many Villages in Khorassan Province.

ALLAHABAD, British India, May 29.—Advices to the newspaper Pioneer from Teheran state that 1,000 persons were killed by an earthquake at Turbat-i-Haidari. The shocks covered a period of several hours. Many villages are said to have been devastated.

EXPOSURE 'ALL ROT,' SAYS 'MEDIUM'S' AID

Declares They Will Submit to X-Ray, Cameras or Any Other Test Demanded.

FULL FAITH IN VALENTINE

Friend Who Has Seen Phenomena Asserts They Are of True Psychic Origin.

George Valentine, the medium who conducted the seances recently held at the Scientific American office, at which his movements at the time "spirit" phenomena were observed coincident with records made by electrical devices used to check what took place in the seance room, called at the office of THE TIMES yesterday with Joseph De Wyckoff, a Director of the Vanadium Steel Company.

Mr. De Wyckoff professed his complete belief that Valentine's phenomena had a true psychic origin. He said that Valentine had been at his home and that he had seen phenomena which he felt certain were genuine. He attempted to explain the fact that the medium's weight was lifted from the chair, thus opening an electrical circuit which lighted a bulb in the next room, by saying that when ectoplasm, the stuff which spiritists say causes phenomena, leaves the medium's body he loses weight.

How all the weight could be lost in this way Mr. De Wyckoff could not explain except by saying that the laws governing mediums and the production of ectoplasm are at present unknown.

Valentine accounted for the fact that the paper under his chair, which should have been torn when his chair was lifted by "spirits," as he said in the seance, was found to be intact, by asserting that the paper was loose and had slipped. The paper had been observed by THE TIMES reporter who was present at the seance, however, and it was not loose so far as he could see. When the chair was lifted slightly after the seance the paper was ripped apart.

Valentine did not go to Wilkes-Barre, as was stated, he said, but remained in this city after the seances. Richard Worrell, his companion, did return to Wilkes-Barre, and the impression was gathered when he made the announcement that there would be no more seances for a time, that both men had left the city. Valentine said he was ready to go on with the tests at any time, but they will be postponed for awhile until other apparatus to be used by Mr. Houdini arrives, it appeared.

Special to The New York Times.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 29.—Through Richard P. Worrell, supposed representative and one of the men who "stood up" at the seances conducted in New York City by The Scientific American to determine the truth or fallacy of the theory of spirit manifestations, Valentine of 61 East Market Street, this city, today issued a statement denouncing Houdini, the magician, and denying all important details of exposures published since the seances.

"The seance was bona fide, in all newspaper stories that are all rot," he declared. "Newspaper accounts say Houdini sat on the right of Valentine. That's wrong. Valentine was alone at the circle and Houdini sat on the outside rim. Two luminous bands were about Valentine's wrists shining in the dark, and they never disappeared. As for the machine detective apparatus Houdini said he have proved that Valentine got up from his chair fifteen times. The electrical contacts were made to hold only so long as weight was in the chair. Consider that the seances lasted three hours. Surely in that time a man would shift his weight, changing position or tearing the stress of clothing. It was such actions that were recorded by the electrical devices. A voice in the dark explained by the spirits through ventriloquism. Don't you know a ventriloquist cannot work in the dark?

Worrell also said: "I am convinced that Valentine is gifted with psychic power. He and I will submit to any tests that are necessary. We will have him X-rayed and we will conduct a test in which the medium is seated behind a curtain on which is focused a red light. The investigators may bring cameras and take actual photographs of the spirits."

D'ANNUNZIO, IN ANGER, THROWS CHAIR IN LAKE

Resents Imputation of Age Put on Him by Italian Regatta Committee.

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, May 29.—Gabriele d'Annunzio yesterday gave the lie to all the stories that he is growing old fast.

At a regatta on Lake Garda, where rowing clubs contested for a silver cup offered by d'Annunzio, a platform had been erected and an easy chair placed in the centre for the poet-soldier.

On his arrival d'Annunzio noticed all the other chairs were straightbacked, and took this as an insult, the inference being that he could not suffer fatigue. With an impatient gesture he sent the armchair spinning into the lake.

The committee of arrangements, knowing the poet's love for beautiful antiques, had borrowed a valuable chair from a nearby castle and now must have it fished from the bottom of the lake.

AZORES ASK OUR AID TO GET $10,000 CORN

Portuguese Consul Says Famine Impends Because of a Delay Here.

ORDER PLACED IN MARCH

District Attorney Threatens Action Against Tidewater Trading Company.

George de Silveira Duarte, Portuguese Consul, appeared at the District Attorney's office yesterday and sought the aid of the county in getting $10,000 worth of corn started on its way to Fayal in the Azores. He reported that famine threatened in parts of the nine islands, populated by about 250,000 persons, unless the corn for Azores bread was forthcoming.

Mr. Duarte told Assistant District Attorney Emory Weller that the Tidewater Trading Company of the Produce Exchange Building had failed to deliver the corn which had been ordered five months ago. Mr. Weller found that lack of vessels and the severity of Northwestern weather were offered as reasons for holding up the shipment. The Assistant District Attorney said he had told the agents of the Tidewater company to get the shipment under way by Monday or he would take action.

"An order for corn," Mr. Duarte informed Mr. Weller, "was placed for some of the Azores Islands with the Tidewater Trading Company, of which one Sam Cohen or Paul Cohen is reported to be the principal. This corn was to be shipped approximately April 30th. The corn was intended to be distributed by several municipalities to relieve an acute bread shortage.

"In order to insure prompt dispatch of the corn, telegraphic credits were opened through Kidder, Peabody & Co. in favor of the Tidewater Trading Company, and Kidder, Peabody & Co. from March 21 to April 9 to a representative of the Tidewater Trading Company a total of $10,750. However, this corn has not been shipped and I am informed that if it is not received in the Azores before the end of this month serious famine conditions threaten.

"The situation in the Azores is so serious that the Governor of the islands has personally conferred with the United States Consul with the result that several cablegrams have been sent to the State Department, strongly urging that the Tidewater Trading Company be pressed to comply with contract and as a result of these cables the Department has referred the matter to the Department of Commerce and to Representative Hill of Maryland, Frank P. Green, has sent a telegram to Secretary Hoover, asking for the reasons of the apparent delay, whether the fear of the corn may mean actual starvation, and believing from the nature of the complaints received that the conditions warrant an investigation, asks your assistance to compel the shipment of the corn without any further delay."

QUITS GOUCHER POST ON EVOLUTION ISSUE

Dulaney, Head of Trustees, Resigns When Dismissal of Teacher Is Refused.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 29.—Dissatisfied with the Bible teaching at Goucher College, a Methodist college for women, Henry S. Dulaney of Baltimore yesterday resigned as President and member of the Board of Trustees.

The evolution teachings of Dr. G. Sturges Ball, instructor of biblical literature and rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Transfiguration, were objectionable to Mr. Dulaney who demanded the teacher's dismissal. Dr. W. W. Guth, President of Goucher, refused the request, stating that it was contrary to the academic principles of the college, and added that the theories of Dr. Ball "are perfectly sound."

Mr. Dulaney's resignation was accepted without dissent by the Board of Trustees. He was one of the five largest subscribers to the million dollar endowment fund, giving $50,000.

Dr. Ball, who will continue his work with the support of Dr. Guth, said today that his name was in the college catalogue for next year and that he intended to resume his biblical history classes next Fall.

"Dr. Guth," said Dr. Ball, "stands for academic freedom. I have spoken to him about the present situation and will go back to Goucher in the Fall. I will continue the same course of teaching that I have followed for the last six years."

Dr. Ball is directly opposed to the views recently advanced by William Jennings Bryan.

Mr. Dulaney's action in resigning as trustee was regarded by clergymen and educators today as a most important event which would be felt throughout the country wherever educational institutions are connected with Protestant religious denominations.

It is declared to be the first case in which a layman who has made large financial contributions to an educational institution had resigned because he found his own religious views in conflict with the educational teachings of the institution.

It is believed by some that Mr. Dulaney's action will ultimately result in the renewal by the Legislature next January of the efforts to change the character of Goucher College so as to separate it completely from the Methodist Church. Those of this opinion say that the death of the Rev. Dr. John F. Goucher has removed some embarrassments which were in the way of changing the charter.

CARLYLE SAID

This is just a Carlylian way of saying that health—life itself—depends upon the kind of food a man eats.

At CHILDS it is made certain, first of all, that the food is pure and fresh.

Then that it is so cooked as to be healthful and so served as to be appetizing.

CHILDS specializes also on fish, both in delicious fry-ers and delectable "Specialties."

ASSERTS HER LIFE WAS THREATENED

Miss Larrimore Says Letters Warned Her to End Action for Jury Trial.

TALKS IN LAWYER'S OFFICE

Counsel Silent on Rumored $1,500,000 Suit, but Says Action, If Any, Will Be Big.

Charges that many threats were made against her life to force her to withdraw action for a jury trial were made yesterday by Miss Stella Larrimore, who was named by Geraldine Farrar in her suit for divorce against Lou Tellegen. Miss Larrimore was formerly in a vaudeville sketch in which Lou Tellegen appeared.

In the office of her attorney, Louis B. Brodsky, at 280 Broadway, Miss Larrimore announced that she had not even begun to fight yet. Mr. Brodsky declined to make a definite statement of what his client intended to do. He would neither affirm nor deny reports that Miss Larrimore contemplated suing Miss Farrar for $1,000,000.

"We are contemplating an action now which is under advisement," said Mr. Brodsky, "but it is a rather difficult action to frame. If we do sue, it will be for a very considerable sum, because we consider the damage almost irreparable. The news has been spread throughout the world, and even the decision of Supreme Court Justice Lehman exonerating Miss Larrimore, while admirable in itself, cannot put matters entirely right. However, there are certain legal obstacles we have met with, which, in order to overcome, will need further decisions and precedents."

Miss Larrimore was reluctant to discuss matters at first, but after consulting her attorney she spoke freely, as she [illegible] "I am not the first person to be [illegible] by having letters or reports [illegible] and I am sure I shall not be the last. [illegible] I have my art and do not want to injure it. Enough people have already blemished the good name of the theatre through affairs of which I do not want to be one of them, and I will not countenance until my name has been cleared my health is consistently wrecked as a result.

"During my fight I received numerous letters and telephone calls threatening me with death if I continued. The letters were usually filled with fictitious names, but we could never trace them to their source. One read like this:

"'You will never live to get a jury trial. I recommend that you withdraw very far out of it all, or your body will be found floating in the Sound.' I used to fear to go out after dark. But they made me determined to fight all the harder.

"I think it is the most heinous people for taking away a person's life it should also punish them for taking away a person's good name. The whole matter of dragging me into this case was one of discrimination. They invariably referred to me under my initials, while the other co-respondents were always referred to under their names.

"I want some sort of precedent established so that you just can't drag a person's good name in the mud because you happen to be in a hurry for a divorce or eager for a little publicity.

"I'd like to say something about private detectives, too," she added, "but I don't know anything bad enough. It's a question of befitting punishment for people who voluntarily and wantonly inflicted suffering on me."

Watchmaker Seeks New Job at 82.

QUEBEC, Que., May 29.—J. G. Quay, who has operated a watchmaking establishment here seventy years, set out today at the age of 82 to obtain a fresh license. New England apes yet to be discovered. Quay, who said he expected to take a place with a large New England watch manufacturing concern, insists he has at least a decade of watchmaking left in him. His father lived to the age of 101, and he expects to beat this record.

Ten-Hour Day for Japanese Women

TOKIO, May 30 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The National Cotton Spinning Association has decided voluntarily to reduce the hours of female workers from twelve to ten hours daily. The reduction will become effective in July.

SAYS POMP MARKED BLACK STAR JUNKETS

Numerous Retinue Attended Garvey on Stock-Selling Trips, Witness Tells Court.

BAND ACCOMPANIED HIM

Suite Included Singers and Orators —Salesman Called Coward for Not Selling Stock Where Illegal.

When Marcus Garvey traveled to other cities on expeditions for the sale of stock of the Black Star Line, Inc., he went in great splendor, according to Harry R. Watkins, a lawyer, who for a time was Garvey's chief stock salesman. Watkins told of these expeditions from the witness chair in the Federal Court yesterday where Garvey and [illegible] others are being tried on an indictment charging use of the mails to defraud. Garvey's suite, said the witness, consisted as a part of a seventy-piece band, four singers, several orators and ranch paraphernalia and insignia.

These trips, the witness said, were to Washington, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Baltimore and Wilmington. One trip, Watkins said, produced nearly $10,000 in the sale of Black Star stock, and about 60 per cent of the proceeds of the sales were consumed in expenses. Prosecutor Maxwell S. Mattuck learned on cross-examination that the witness and James A. Brooks, another salesman, were arrested in Youngstown, Ohio, on a charge of violating the "Blue Sky" law.

Watkins said that Garvey escaped arrest at the time by hiding behind a tree. Garvey put up $300 for the release of his two companions, and when the party returned to this city he caused the arrest of Watkins for failure to refund the $300. The witness said that when he refused to continue offering the stock for sale in States where the law forbade it, Garvey called him a coward.

Money obtained through the sale of the stock, the witness said, was used liberally to defray the expenses of salesmen, and in various advertising schemes.

Stephens value backed by economy

The longer you study Stephens appearance, performance and chassis units, the more you will marvel at the low price of the cars. Stephens dollar value is conspicuous when compared with other cars in its price range. The bodies are built in our own shops of the same materials, by the same methods as custom body-builders use. The Stephens six-cylinder motor is still unrivaled in economy, swift acceleration and amazing power. Drive a Stephens yourself. Set your own standards of performance and it will surpass them.

MRS. PHILLIPS BACK TO FIGHT ACCUSERS

"Hammer Murderess," Brought From Honduras, Tells of Deceiving Los Angeles Police.

STAYED NEAR AFTER ESCAPE

Was Disguised Only by Eyeglasses —Wandered to St. Louis and New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29 (Associated Press).—Mrs. Clara Phillips, the fugitive Los Angeles "hammer murderess" arrived here today in the custody of California Deputy Sheriffs from Honduras, where she fled after her escape from jail in Los Angeles.

She said that she had not communicated with her husband, Armour L. Phillips, during her months of freedom, and left the impression that Phillips knew nothing of her escape. A man known as Jesse Carsen, who has been her companion during her flight, saved the bars of her cell, she said. But further than that she was disinclined to discuss details. She refused to answer a question as to whether she slid down the rope from the prison.

Mrs. Phillips said that she remained in concealment in the outskirts of Los Angeles five weeks after her escape, and during that time made frequent visits to the business district, disguised only by a pair of shell-rimmed glasses. When she left Los Angeles she went to St. Louis, she said, coming to New Orleans from that city. She remained here ten days, using the name Mrs. Jesse Carsen, and said she moved about the city without fear. Carsen was here at the time.

She and Carsen went by boat to Vera Cruz and then proceeded to Mexico City. Her sister, Miss Etta May Jackson, joined her there. Because Carsen's drinking and other escapades began to attract attention, she said, they went further south, finally landing in Honduras, where her arrest ended her flight.

Says She Is "Frame-Up" Victim.

Mrs. Phillips, who was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, said that she was innocent of the crime and was returning to California of her own free will to prove it. Peggy Caffee, the alleged witness of the killing, was the actual slayer, she charged. Mrs. Phillips declared herself the victim of a virtual "frame-up," and said that she had enough evidence to send to jail certain people who conspired to convict her.

Her conviction, she asserted, resulted from her maintaining silence at her trial on the advice of her counsel. As a result, she said, only the prosecution's side of the case was told.

Mrs. Phillips and her guard, consisting of Under-Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz and Deputy Walter Hunter will leave here for the Pacific Coast tomorrow.

Plan to Rush Her to Prison.

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—Mrs. Clara Phillips may be taken to San Quentin this week to begin serving her sentence for the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, according to plans of the Sheriff's and District Attorney's offices. If a court order of commitment can be obtained she will remain in Los Angeles only sixteen hours after arriving from New Orleans.

When Mrs. Phillips escaped from the county jail here December 6 last her appeal from conviction of second degree murder was before the District Court of Appeals and a stay of execution had been granted by the Superior Court. Asa Keyes, Chief Deputy District Attorney, said that he was looking up the law as to whether the stay of execution was automatically set aside by the escape, and if the appeal was still before the court.

Never Used Hammer, She Asserts.

TEGUCIGALPA, May 29 (Associated Press).—A second message from Mrs. Mrs. Clara Phillips, setting forth more fully her declaration of innocence and hope of clearing her name of the charge of murder has been received by The Associated Press. The message was sent from Puerta Cortes after the fugitive had boarded the steamship Copan on her way back to the United States.

"I am waiving extradition," she said in the message, "and going home to fight the unjust charge. You know I could stay here, but I want the whole truth to come out, and I know that the truth will make me free. I believe the American people are fair-minded and just; if I had done wrong or if I had done anything to fear I would remain here, but I am only the victim of wrongful public sentiment, misunderstanding and falsehood. I am not the hammer slayer, for did I ever strike a single blow with a hammer?"

RED CROSS FITS OUT BRIDE.

Gladdens Hearts of Greek Refugees by Providing Trousseau.

ATHENS, May 18.—Providing a trousseau, generally outside of American Red Cross activities among the million refugees in Greece, is one of the latest phases of the relief work in the Athens and Piraeus District. Helping Cupid, says a report to Colonel William N. Haskell, Commissioner to Greece, was one of the incidents today of a clothing distribution in the various camps of the two cities.

Miss Mary M. A. Wales of 3,466 Creston Avenue, New York City, Red Cross nurse for this district, and Miss Katherine Ketcham, an American volunteer, were making the distribution when a young woman and a priest approached and presented a letter stating that the young refugee was to be married to another refugee and that she was in need of clothing. After learning that the couple were working when they could find employment Captain John H. Dawson, Red Cross Field Manager for the zone, directed that the request be filled. From bundles of worn clothing in the Athens warehouse the bride received a coat, dress, shoes and other odd pieces, and a blanket and lingerie were provided from stores of new clothing sent from America.

Rector Accepts Brooklyn Call.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 29.—The Rev. Francis K. Little, rector of Emmanuel Church since April, 1922, has accepted the call which he received recently to become rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Brooklyn. His resignation from Emmanuel Church was accepted with regret by the vestry of that church tonight. He will assume his duties at Grace Church about Aug. 1.

LINER SIGHTS SMOKE 72 MILES DISTANT

Visibility on Monday Remarkably High, Says Captain of the Majestic.

AUSTRALIAN PREMIERS HERE

Sir George Fuller of New South Wales and H. S. W. Lawson of Victoria on Way Home From London.

When the White Star liner Majestic arrived yesterday morning from Cherbourg and Southampton, Captain Sir Bertram Hayes, D. S. O., R. N. R., said that the visibility was so great on Monday that he was able to see the smoke of the American liner Mongolia seventy-two miles away. He measured the distance by the time it took to overhaul her and the speed of the two ships. The Majestic brought $6,000,000 in gold and 5,000 sacks of mails.

After the Majestic left New York on May 12 for Southampton a well-dressed young man was found by the officers walking about the promenade deck without a ticket or money for his passage. He told them that he wanted to make a trip to England and was willing to do a little light work, such as keeping watch at the main truck to see the wind did not change. His offer was not accepted and at Southampton he was handed over to the police and locked up. Inquiring friends at the pier yesterday were told that their hero was doing twenty-eight days in Winchester prison and that he would be deported to America after his sentence had expired.

George Maxwell Not On Ship.

George Maxwell, who has been indicted in connection with the famous "poison pen" letters, did not arrive on the Majestic as had been expected. Acquaintances of his on the ship said that he had not engaged passage on the Majestic on the advice of his lawyers. They expected that George Maxwell would arrive later by way of Canada. One of the first cabin passengers, Albert S. Wright of Glenside, Pa., partner in a Philadelphia jewelry firm was worried for a few days because the passengers mistook him for Maxwell and Wortman H. Dixie, his traveling companion, for Maxwell's attorney. They brought jewelry said to be worth $100,000 with them.

Other passengers on the Majestic were Sir George Fuller, K. C. M. G., Premier of New South Wales and H. S. W. Lawson, the Premier of Victoria, on their way to Australia from London. They will make a short stay in New York and will leave next Tuesday for Canada.

There the Colonial Premiers will inspect grain elevators, meat packing, bulk handling wheat, and other phases of distributing agricultural products. Australia, they said, was ready to receive several thousand of young ex-service men if they were ready to go there and take up the land. New South Wales will look after 6,000 families and Victoria 1,000 families a year. The imported farmers will have thirty-six years in which to buy the farms, paying annually upon them through their crops and improvements.

"We are doing this not only to help England in her unemployment problem but also to get a new and helpful citizenship to Australia," said Sir George Fuller.

Medill McCormick 48 Hours Abroad.

United States Senator Medill McCormick of Chicago returned on the Majestic after spending only 48 hours in Europe. He went over on the Rotterdam of the Holland-America line with his mother and escorted her to Paris where he made arrangements for her to go to Carlsbad and then went to Cherbourg and boarded the Majestic for New York.

Meir Dizengoff, Mayor of Tel-Aviv near Jaffa, Palestine, a modern and an exclusively Jewish city, arrived on the Majestic to pay the first coupons which are due on the municipal bonds on July 1. He said that Tel-Aviv has a population of 20,000 inhabitants and the bonds, amounting to £75,000 sterling, were floated with the approval of the English and the United States Governments. Mr. Dizengoff said he would also try to interest American capitalists to invest in the establishment of industries in Palestine.

Other passengers were the Earl of Ilchester, Viscount and Viscountess Maidstone, formerly Miss Margaret Drexel of Philadelphia, who is making her first visit here in thirteen years, and the Right Rev. Bishop H. T. Renouf of Newfoundland, who has been on a special mission to the Vatican. The Bishop said that he had seen the splendors of the Old World, with its parallelling sorrow and miseries, and that he was glad to be on his way back to the simple ways of his fisherfolk flock. Lady Charlotte Henderson, Irving Glover, Third Assistant Postmaster General, who sailed early in May to attend the International Philatelic Congress at London and who took with him a collection of United States stamps worth $100,000, also were on board.

S. W. Straus of S. W. Straus & Co., who returned on the Majestic yesterday, after more than four months abroad, said:

"In France the background of political uncertainty is seriously interfering with the building industry as it is with all other lines of business. In England the housing shortage, as in this country, is still acute. The deficit caused by the inactivity of the industry during the war is far from being made up. There are more than a million men unemployed in England, and, therefore, it is not hard for those engaged in the building industry to secure labor."

OCEAN TRAVELERS.

Some of the passengers leaving today on the President Adams of the United States Lines for Plymouth, Cherbourg and London are James V. Quinn, Mrs. A. M. Wiggin, Miss Martha Wolfe, E. W. Washburn, Miss Eva Walsh, M. H. Thompson, Miss Eva Smith, Mrs. Sarah G. Ross and Miss L. Morris.

Deraney, Lieutenant Philip Astoria, U. S. A., Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Sackett, Mrs. R. Wallace and Miss Grace Williams.

Among the passengers arriving yesterday from Cherbourg and Southampton on the White Star liner Majestic were Miss Julia Abbey, Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Adams, Mrs. M. M. Alden, Mr. and Mrs. E. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Anderson, F. J. H. Atwood, John Baker, Edward Banks, the Rev. James R. Bartley and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Barnum.

Colonel C. B. Blethen, J. J. Boylan, Mrs. Julia G. Brooks, J. F. Byers, N. Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Collins, Mrs. William H. Crocker, Colonel and Mrs. W. W. Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Charlot, Mrs. David Dows, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dixon Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. John Fry, Mrs. Robert Grant Jr., Miss Priscilla Grant, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. W. Harris, George Grossmith and the Earl of Ilchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Konig, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Leventritt, Viscount and Viscountess Maidstone, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Markowitz, the Right Rev. Bishop H. T. Renouf of Newfoundland, Mrs. Frederic Struven, Colonel Wilfred Egerton, the Rev. E. A. Higney, J. R. Irvin, Sir George Fuller, K. C. M. G., Premier of New South Wales, and H. S. W. Lawson, Premier of Victoria.

Among the passengers who arrived yesterday from Hamburg on the American liner Mongolia were H. Beyer, Dr. A. Demel, H. W. Volckens, Mrs. Walter Otto, Miss Anna Hanson, Miss Rose Phillippo, August Weber, Frank C. Keaney, Mrs. E. W. James, Joseph Kling and Mrs. W. Reinhardt.

JEWS RAISE $1,800,000 FOR WORK IN PALESTINE

World Zionist President Expected to Take $1,500,000 Cash When He Goes.

Jews of New York City have raised $1,800,000 for the Palestine Foundation Fund, the Keren Hayesod, of which more than $800,000 was in cash, the balance being in pledges. The contributions from the country at large have been so numerous that when Dr. Chaim Weizman, President of the World Zionist Organization, leaves this country he will take with him $1,500,000 in cash, according to Bernard Rosenblatt, Chairman of the campaign in this city.

The figures were announced at a meeting in the Town Hall last night, at which it was said that the money would be sufficient to carry on the work in Palestine during 1923 and part of 1924. The sum of $70,000 was raised on the East Side alone, and Mr. Rosenblatt said he was sure that $100,000 would come from that district before the campaign closes.

Samuel Untermyer spoke of the work accomplished in Palestine, and of the new immigrants there. He said that a plan is now being prepared to establish a world agency in which Jews of all shades of opinion, whether Zionist or not, will be represented.

Mr. Untermyer expressed gratitude of the Jewish people to Great Britain because that Government had accepted the mandate for Palestine. He said that, while Palestine might have been obtained for the Jews in time, the accomplishment had come much sooner and had been more satisfactory because of Great Britain's action.

CARDIFF HEARS DR. BUTLER.

His Lecture Is Warmly Received by Welsh University Audience.

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CARDIFF, Wales, May 29.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler was entertained at dinner tonight by the Lord Mayor of Cardiff on the occasion of his Watson lecture on "Master Builders of the American Nation." Later Dr. Butler, Mrs. Butler and Miss Butler were introduced to a distinguished company at the lecture hall and were warmly received.

Dr. Butler outlined the part in early American history played by Alexander Hamilton and James Madison. Hamilton, he said, stood as the greatest and most commanding intellect the New World had produced. The Constitution of the United States was a sincere and highly practical endeavor to reconcile government with liberty. The Federal principle which the United States Supreme Court had defined as an indestructible union of indestructible States enabled Maine and California, Montana and Alabama, Virginia and Colorado to be linked together in one national allegiance, while retaining the right to manage and direct their local concerns, each in its own way.

A vote of thanks was accorded the lecturer on a resolution moved by Principal Trow and seconded by the Bishop of Llandaff, each of whom emphasized the importance of a closer understanding between America and England.

EDITH DAY DROPS CHARGE.

Summons Against Editor of Zit's Weekly Is Dismissed.

At the request of counsel for Edith Day, the actress, Magistrate Moses R. Ryttenberg yesterday, in the Tombs Court, dismissed a summons obtained by the actress several days ago against C. F. Zittel, editor and publisher of Zit's Weekly and Paul Sweinhart, his managing editor. The actress had charged that she was criminally libeled by the publication on March 2 last in an article entitled "Is Her Heart Changing?"

She alleged that the article stated that "Broadwayites were wondering if the affections of Edith Day have switched from Pat Somerset to Robert Warwick." She contended that the article was untrue. Her lawyer, Bernard J. Sandler, told the Magistrate that since the summons was obtained by the actress she had married Somerset and she wished to drop the proceeding. Miss Day was not in court when the summons was dismissed.

played as assistants to the engineer in charge.

"I blame no one but myself," the former building trades head said to Parole Officer Daniel T. Ryan of Sing Sing, who accompanied the transferred convicts, before leaving the train. "I alone am the cause of what has happened to me."

Lawes Starts Investigation.

Warden Lawes of Sing Sing Prison, James Long, Superintendent of State Prisons, and William F. McCabe, Investigator of the State Prison Department, arrived at Ossining at 7 o'clock last night and summoned four prison officers before them in the Warden's office, where an investigation was immediately started into the circumstances which enabled Brindell to meet members of his family outside the prison walls.

One of the four officers called was Yardmaster John Farrell, in whose repair gang Brindell worked. Farrell had charge of Brindell most of the time and seldom left supervision of the gang to another. Farrell was asked whether he knew of any visits paid to Brindell by outsiders while Farrell was in charge of the gang. Farrell denied that Brindell had ever been visited by any one while under his charge. He also denied that he knew of Brindell's receiving mail or packages or any privileges denied to other convicts.

It has been reported here that Governor Smith has ordered a drastic and far-reaching investigation.

A feast for four, paid for by Brindell, was arranged on one occasion recently for Brindell in the open fields outside the walls of Sing Sing prison, according to stories told yesterday by residents of Ossining, who kept close track of Brindell's movements outside the walls before Warden Lawes raided the secret meeting he was holding with relatives last Sunday afternoon. Two State employes, Brindell and one of his relatives were those at the luncheon, arranged by Brindell's relatives.

It also developed that Warden Lawes, for a few days previous to catching Brindell outside the walls, had been investigating rumors that Brindell was receiving special favors.

One Sing Sing attaché asserts he had heard that a certain State employe was on such friendly terms with Brindell that he bragged that he was going into partnership in the building line with the prisoner when his time was up.

Some of the prison employes feel that Carlson is shielding another public employe who insisted upon favors for Brindell. It is held significant that it was only on occasions when the other employe was not on duty that Carlson escorted Brindell to the open fields on the plateau east of the prison where the reservoir is located. This has led residents of Ossining who were watching Brindell's movements to believe that Carlson was made the dupe of a man longer in the State service, who was himself sometimes seen with Brindell.

Few employes except those alleged to be involved in the plot knew Brindell was receiving visits until after he was trapped.

THE SCREEN

A Baseball Story.

TRIFLING WITH HONOR, with Fritzi Ridgeway, Rockliffe Fellowes, Frederick Stanhope, Buddy Messinger, Emmett King, Hayden Stevenson and others. Adapted from William Slavens McNutt's story by Fred Beresford. Directed by Harry A. Pollard. At the Broadway.

It is manifest in "Trifling With Honor," the film feature this week at the Broadway, that the author's ideas have been accepted by both the director and the scenario writer, and therefore the production is all the better for this bit of self-denial on the part of the motion picture experts. Here and there the director has his fun with a few feet of hokum, but he has not permitted this to interfere with the smooth running of the story.

This is a baseball yarn with a capable cast, and although now and again the director indulges in a fanciful flight, the interest is sustained throughout the production.

Buddy Messinger, the obese boy actor, has a lot to do in this pho[illegible]ay as Jimmy, the brother of the heroine. His comedy is not too boisterous, and one can forgive him for having every imaginable sort of smoking material and even chewing tobacco. Buddy's facial changes are for the most part true to the situation, and perhaps if he were let alone a little more and told how he ought to feel and not what to do, he might be even better.

Rockliffe Fellowes plays the part of a gangster just out of prison, who—following a dash from a Magistrate's Court—whither he had been taken for fighting—reforms and becomes a great baseball player. In the beginning he is a greedy, surly, resentful fellow, and even as the baseball player he is a gambler given to drink.

A special writer for a news service is assigned to obtain the story of Bat Shugrue's life, not knowing that the ball player had adopted this name. Shugrue naturally does not wish to reveal details of his earlier career, and the newspaper man agrees to write a story of Bat's life under Bat's signature if the ball player will stand for it. Shugrue consents, and the newspaper man in simple words narrates how Bat's life was filled with devotion to his mother, to duty and good causes.

Young Jimmy, whose sister was in love with Shugrue before he went to prison, is a wayward, idle youngster. But one day in sight over the merits of Babe Ruth and Bat Shugrue Jimmy meets his idol. The youngster ought to have been looking for work, and when mending his coat his sister discovers that he has a pipe, cigarettes, chewing tobacco and dice in his capacious pockets. She remonstrates with him, but it does little good. Suddenly one morning Jimmy is fired by the newspaper account of Bat Shugrue's good life, and he decides to emulate the baseball player. He throws away all his smoking material, concealed in various parts of his room, and finds a job as a messenger.

In the performance of an errand he overhears one of the members of a gang of crooks saying that they will send Bat to the hospital if he refuses to throw the game between Los Angeles and Vernon for $10,000. Not knowing that his idol is in debt and actually considering the deal, Jimmy, when Bat arrives, tells what he has heard. Follows then a clever double exposure showing the bad Shugrue growing gradually fainter and the one Jimmy believes in becoming more distinct.

Jimmy takes the man he admires to his home, and at first his sister, Ida Hunt (Fritzi Ridgeway) signals to Bat to keep their friendship a secret.

There is an exciting sequence of the baseball game, in which Shugrue refuses to play, fearing the threat from the crooks that they will reveal his true identity and send him back to jail. But his sporting self gets the better of him when his team is down, and in the last inning he takes the bat and Vernon is beaten by one run. The old Magistrate tells him that Bat Shugrue's life is better for the youth of America than a gangster behind the bars.

Fellowes is quite capable as the sullen ex-convict and the baseball player, and Frederick Stanton fits the part of Luke Clots, the head of the crooks. Miss Ridgeway is sincere and interesting in her rôle. It is an interesting picture that is never tedious and it has a spark to the plot.

FIDELITY ELECTS OFFICERS.

Henry Miller Named President of Actors' League.

The annual election of officers of the Actors Fidelity League was held yesterday afternoon at the League headquarters, 15 East Forty-fifth Street. Four hundred members were present.

The following officers were unanimously elected: Henry Miller, President; George M. Cohan, Vice President; Louis Mann, Second Vice President; Howard Kyle, Secretary; Ruth Chatterton, Treasurer; Fay Bainter, Holbrook Blinn, Lionel Braham, Ina Claire, Curtis Cockney, Mrs. Fiske, Frances Starr, Lenore Ulric, David Warfield, Marjorie Wood and Amelia Bingham were elected Directors to serve three years.

Shakespeare Federation Elects.

The National Shakespeare Federation met yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria to elect officers for the coming year. Henry Wellington Wack of New York was elected President and Mrs. Mary E. Craigie First Vice President. Mr. Wack said that plans were under way to cooperate with Boards of Education and women's clubs throughout the country to arouse interest in Shakespearean productions. The federation hopes eventually to build a memorial library in New York to house a collection of Shakespeareana, and will begin in the Fall an active campaign to raise funds for this purpose.

'OLIVER CROMWELL' PLAYED

Drinkwater Drama Gets Only Moderate Reception in London.

Copyright, 1923, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 29.—John Drinkwater's "Oliver Cromwell," was produced at His Majesty's Theatre tonight and met with only a moderate reception.

Henry Ainley, who plays Oliver, represents him as an uncouth country squire with a torrential flow of language and with much rugged force. It probably is historically correct, but it makes the character unsympathetic on the stage. Moreover the author has done little to aid the actor. He has written a series of vignettes, founded upon history, but with too little connection to be of dramatic value.

Some of the scenes are effective enough. For instance, as Cromwell calls together his farm hands for prayer at the close of day and they sing "Old Hundredth," or in the House of Commons, as Cromwell is confronted with one of his own people who has been cruelly maltreated by the Star Chamber. But there is not much human interest and the author perhaps counts too much on the historic knowledge of his audience. Drinkwater was called before the curtain at the close of the performance and made a short speech, thanking Ainley and his colleagues.

"L'AGENT 666" IN MATINEE.

Will Be Played Twice More Before Going to Paris.

"L'Agent 666," better known in the American original as "Officer 666," was presented at the Selwyn Theatre yesterday afternoon by the Silvernail Players as the first of three matinees of this play, which they will do later in the Summer at the Theatre Femina in Paris. Two other American plays besides "L'Agent 666" will be included in the Parisian repertory of this group of players.

Yesterday's performance was given to an audience small in numbers but large in the size of its appreciation of the excellent work on view. The production was smooth and thoroughly satisfactory in every way. Some of the players were as completely at ease in their French rôles as actors of the boulevards themselves might be, and all of the players showed a complete and easy mastery of their acquired language.

Included in the cast were Nick Long, Auguste Aramini, Carlin Crandall, Clarke Silvernail, Eva Le Gallienne, Kay Laurell, Dan Walker, H. Paul Doucet, Beverly Sitgreaves, George Dechaux, Marcel Rousseau, Hugo Manche and Jose Yovin.

The performance will be repeated at matinees tomorrow and Friday.

GEORGE GROSSMITH HERE.

Denies American Actors Are Not Treated Fairly in England.

Among the theatrical people who arrived yesterday on the Majestic was George Grossmith, the English actor-manager who has recently been playing the title-rôle in a revival of the "Gay Lord Quex" in His Majesty's Theatre, London. He said it was not true to say that American actors were not getting a square deal in England.

"Every actor must stand on his merit there," he continued, "the same as an English actor has to do in this country. It is the same way with plays. If the show is not good it can't hope to last."

Mr. Grossmith, who is going to be here a month, said that his revue "The Cabaret Girl" at the Winter Garden, London, had been running a year and was still continuing to draw good houses. The new play at Drury Lane, written on the life of Edmund Kean the famous actor, was a success. He did not know whether he would buy anything while he was here.

Andre Charlot, the London theatrical manager also arrived yesterday on the Majestic to make arrangements for bringing his revue with the entire English company in October.

Patricia Collinge who played the Montague girl in the London production of "Merton of the Movies" was a passenger on the liner.

77TH DIVISION AT DINNER.

Veterans Will Carry Their Regimental Flag in Today's Parade.

The men of the Seventy-seventh Division will carry their regimental flag in the Memorial parade today, it was announced last night at a dinner of the division at the Yale Club. Special permission to carry the flag was obtained from Governor Smith.

Major Robert Alexander, who commanded the Seventy-seventh Division and is now stationed in Camp Lewis, was the guest of honor at the dinner. Among the other officers present were Brig. Gens. H. J. Price and William R. Smedberg, Colonels N. K. Averill, George Vidmer, R. Sheldon, Majors Henry H. Curran, Jules Adler and Captains Charles Hickox and H. S. Stratton.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Jane Cowl will reach her one hundred and fiftieth performance as Juliet at Henry Miller's Theatre tonight.

"Give and Take" will move from the Forty-ninth Street Theatre to the Central next Monday.

"To Memory Dear," by George Christie, will be on the program of the Lambs Annual Spring Gambol at the Earl Carroll Theatre Sunday night.

ASKS FEDERAL AID IN BUILDING CRISIS

would be a minor factor in construction costs. Exclusive of contractors' profits and professional fees, labor amounts to only about 40 per cent. of the total cost of building. The other 60 per cent. goes for materials. We have no information as to the recent rise of contractors' profits and professional fees, but the figures show that material prices have advanced faster and far beyond wage rates and are chiefly responsible for present conditions. Plumbers' scales, for instance, are only 82 per cent. above the pre-war level while the price of brick is over 250 per cent. above the pre-war price.

"In conclusion I want to assure you of the interest of the Building Trades Council in stabilizing conditions in the industry. We will co-operate with any movement in this direction that plays fair with all parties concerned."

NO GENERAL STRIKE IN BUILDING TRADES

Action Deferred Until June 8 to Permit New Agreements With Employers.

There will be no general strike in the building trades on June 1. The threatened strike action of members of the old Building Trades Council was deferred by the council yesterday until June 8 in order to permit negotiations for a new agreement to continue among the unions now conferring with the employers' associations in their crafts.

Unions embracing 50,000 members of the old Building Trades Council have signed new wage agreements for the remainder of the year, the mechanics receiving an advance of $1 a day. Definite negotiations are under way for agreements among unions with 15,000 members and before another week it is expected that another group of unions embracing an additional 15,000 will be conferring with their employers.

President Thomas B. Clark of the old Building Trades Council announced that only those crafts which have been unable to reach agreements with their employers by June 8 will go on strike. He said that all the unions were sanctioned to draw up agreements to the end of this year.

Twenty-two of the thirty-two crafts in the council have already signed or are negotiating agreements with their employers. The two unions which signed agreements yesterday were the Sheet Metal Workers and the Ornamental and Architectural Iron Workers. Each received an advance of $1 a day until Jan. 1, 1924, making the wage for journeymen $10 a day. The sheet metal workers have until Oct. 1 to begin negotiations for next year's agreement and the iron workers have until Dec. 1.

The unions which have signed agreements until Jan. 1, 1924, are as follows: Carpenters, cement masons, hoisting engineers, marble cutters and setters, marble carvers, marble polishers, marble bed rubbers, painters, plumbers, roofers and sheet metal workers, stone cutters, machine stone workers, stone setters and derrickmen.

The steam fitters have been holding conferences with their employers. The unions which soon will confer with the employers are the composition roofers and waterproofers, the electrical workers, elevator constructors and the tile layers. The mosaic workers have asked for a conference and so have the house shorers.

With an agreement for 80,000 workers of the old council in sight the only labor trouble on the building horizon is the strike of bricklayers who left the jobs of the Mason Builders Association a week ago last Monday, demanding $12 a day and a two-year agreement.

A. J. Fogarty, Chairman of the Bricklayers' Executive Committee, said yesterday that 86 men of the 200 who left their posts on buildings where agreements prevailed between the companies and the international union, have returned to work. The buildings are at 12 East Eighty-sixth Street, 120 East Fortieth Street and the New York Telephone Building in Brooklyn. The construction work on the buildings is being done by the Fred T. Ley Company, the J. W. Bishop Company and the James Stewart Company.

BAND CONCERTS TO BE FREE

No Tickets Required for Series on the Mall, Conductor Announces.

Edwin Franko Goldman, who will conduct sixty concerts by his band in Central Park, beginning Monday night, said yesterday that contrary to conflicting statements, tickets for the concerts were not required. The concerts will be held on the Mall and from 12,000 to 15,000 persons are expected to hear them.

"These concerts are open to all," said Mr. Goldman. "No tickets of any kind are required and no tickets have been issued. There are not seats reserved, except a very small number for city officials and the press for the opening concert. Not even subscribers to the fund have any seats reserved for them."

LEONARD KNOCKS OUT MITCHELL IN TENTH

Riot Follows Champion's Victory Over Pinkey in Charity Bout in Chicago.

30 FIGHTS IN ONE RING

Richie Mitchell Starts Trouble—Strikes Referee, Claiming His Brother Was Hit When Down.

POLICE QUELL DISTURBANCE

Require Ten Minutes to Restore Order—Society Sees Bout, Which Draws $85,000 Gate.

CHICAGO, May 29, (Associated Press). —Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, knocked out Pinkey Mitchell of Milwaukee in the last round of a scheduled ten-round contest here tonight. Leonard floored the challenger with a right swing and Mitchell was counted out while on one knee in the centre of the ring.

The fight ended in a riot which started when Richie Mitchell, brother of the Milwaukee challenger, flew into Referee Davey Miller, hitting him with a right and left to the head. Richie Mitchell claimed Leonard hit Pinkey while the Milwaukee boxer was resting on one knee, while Referee Miller was counting over him.

In less than thirty seconds the ring was swarming with frantic spectators, and thirty or forty fist fights set in before the police could clear the ring with their clubs.

In the height of the ringside excitement, Richie Mitchell was thrown out of the ring by the police, who also grabbed Billy Mitchell, brother-manager of the Milwaukee boxer. There were two more fist fights in the ring and round the ringside that it took the police ten minutes to restore order.

Leonard outboxed and outslugged Mitchell throughout the contest, with the exception of the eighth and ninth rounds, when Mitchell fought a defensive battle, waiting to nail the champion with a right-hand punch. Leonard was forced to do most of the leading in the early rounds, while Mitchell contended himself with countering.

Mitchell on Defensive.

In the first round Leonard led with a left hook to the chin. Mitchell boxed defensively. Leonard connected solidly with two lefts and a right to the chin. Mitchell remained on the defensive in the second round, neither boxer landing effectively. In the third Leonard landed Mitchell with a right-hand punch to the chin and received two solid rights to the chin in return.

Leonard shook Mitchell up with a jolting right to the chin in the fourth, and Mitchell returned it, only to receive a left to the body and a right to the head. Leonard ripped into Mitchell's body in an attempt to draw his guard out.

Leonard was ahead and boxing nicely in the fifth. He tried for a left and right to the chin, but Mitchell backed out of danger, continuing his defensive battle. Mitchell boxed cautiously in the sixth, waiting to nail Leonard with the right hand. Leonard battered his foe in body punching in this round.

Leonard started the seventh landing a left to the chin, and Mitchell forced him into the ropes, but did no damage. Mitchell opened up the eighth and traded lights with the champion. Mitchell had Leonard backing away and in danger in the ninth round as a result of landing four right smashes to the chin.

In the tenth Leonard came out of his corner and backed Mitchell into the ropes. When they reached the centre of the ring, Leonard ripped over a right to the chin, flooring Mitchell. He attempted to get up and drew a leg under him, resting on his right knee. Leonard attempted to punch him, but Referee Miller waved him away and counted the challenger out in the centre of the ring.

Promoter Is Arrested.

Just before the Leonard-Mitchell bout, James C. Mullen, promoter of tonight's program, was arrested on the charge of violating the Anti-Prize Fight law. Mullen was not taken to a police station, the arrest having been previously arranged as the start of court action to test the anti-boxing law. Bond of $5,000 was given.

In the preliminary bouts, Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., had a shade the better of Frankie Garcia of Memphis, Tenn., at 126 pounds in eight rounds. In the second preliminary, Lighthead John "Pewee" Kaiser of St. Louis outboxed Charlie Glazer of Chicago at 123 pounds. Lew Hurley, New York bantam, scored a technical knockout over Harold Smith of Chicago in the fifth of an eight-round go. They boxed at 118 pounds. Joe Burman of Chicago knocked out Patsy Flannigan of St. Louis in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout. They weighed in at 120 pounds.

Chicago's society invaded the famous stockyards to watch Leonard in his contest with Mitchell, staged for charity.

The Dexter Park Pavilion was packed with close to 9,000 spectators, apparently hungry for boxing, an illegal sport in Illinois, and the gate receipts, with the prices at $5, $10 and $15, were around $85,000.

VALGER BEATS DE FOE IN 12-ROUND BOUT

Wins on Points in Queensboro Stadium—Goldstein Knocks Out Darcy.

Benny Valger outpointed Billy De Foe in their twelve-round bout at the Queensboro Stadium, Long Island City, last night. The decision was awarded to Valger after a fast and interesting bout. He showed a good left and a snappy right cross. While De Foe forced the fighting during the closing rounds, Valger did the cleaner hitting. In the eighth round Valgner cut De Foe's left eye, and in the sixth Valger had his opponent bleeding fro mthe nose. Valger weighed 128¾ pounds and De Foe 129.

In the other feature bout Abe Goldstein knocked out Willie Darcy after two minutes and forty seconds of boxing in the eighth round. The bout was scheduled to last twelve rounds, but the referee stopped it to save Darcy from further punishment. Darcy had not been knocked down during the affair, but it was evident to those at the ringside that he was out standing up. He was hanging helplessly on the ropes in a neutral corner when the referee stopped the bout. Goldstain weighed 116¾ pounds and Darcy 116.

JOE LYNCH HELD TO DRAW.

Young Montreal Surprises Champion in No Decision Bout.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 29.—Joe Lynch, world's bantamweight champion, and Young Montreal of this city fought a sizzling ten-round no-decision bout here tonight in the first open air boxing show of the season. The bout was even throughout. The contestants fought at ringside weights.

In the fourth round the champion had his opponent in a bad way, due to effective use of right-hand punches to the chin, and in the fifth Montreal practically covered the score with left hooks to the jaw.

DUNDEE FAVORITE OVER BERNSTEIN

Little Money Wagered on Junior Lightweight Championship Bout Tonight.

With the junior lightweight championship hanging in the balance, Johnny Dundee and Jack Bernstein will clash at the New York Velodrome tonight in a bout scheduled for fifteen rounds. Both boxers have agreed to weigh in under 130 pounds at 2 o'clock this afternoon. After they concluded their light workouts yesterday it was announced that they were both under the prescribed poundage.

When the rivals climb into the ring at about 10 o'clock tonight it will be a case of a man who has been in the ring for a span of thirteen years and who has fought all of the leading lightweights and featherweights during that time meeting a comparative youngster in a bout in which he has burst into the limelight during the last year. Bernstein is a fighter who has shown so much promise in what bouts he has had that Tex Rickard decided he was entitled to a bout for the title and matched him with Dundee.

Naturally, Dundee is favored to win. In those places where wagers are usually recorded on boxing bouts it was declared yesterday that there practically was no betting; that Dundee was a big favorite but that there was no Bernstein money in sight. Reports from Yonkers, however, declared that the followers of Bernstein in his home city were so confident that Jack would be able to get the decision over Johnny that they were prepared to invade the Velodrome tonight loaded to the "gunwales" with money to place on their favorite.

Big Bout in Offing.

When the boxers square off for the first round it will be youth and comparative inexperience against a man who is 30 years of age and who has engaged in 284 battles. Dundee is 30 years old—that is he will be next November—and thirty years is considered an advanced age in boxing circles. There have been many fighters who have passed the thirty-mile stone in life and who have been just as rugged as they were at 22. Some of them have scored their greatest successes after passing that mark. Dundee is one of those boxers who seem destined to go along interminably. He seems to be just as fast and just as strong today as he was in 1915, when he fought Benny Leonard, Phil Bloom, Leach Cross, Joe Rivers, Joe Mandot, Willie Ritchie and others who at that time were rated as topnotchers.

Should Dundee successfully defend his title against Bernstein tonight he has been promised a bout with the winner of the Cubano-Criqui world's featherweight championship bout. Should Bernstein lose it is believed that Bernstein will fall heir to such a meeting. Therefore, the men will be battling not only for the junior lightweight championship but for a bout that would mean many dollars to them.

According to Tex Rickard, the advance sale for tonight's bout has been very heavy. "The sale has more than met my expectations," said Rickard yesterday. "I look for a big crowd to invade the Velodrome and have made arrangements to handle the gathering with dispatch and as little disorder as possible. I have done everything that a promoter can to insure the patrons a real service. The policing will be all that it should be. I know that a big delegation is coming from Yonkers. Bernstein's every supporter there and the fans of that city have made reservations for a big section. I am sure that the affair will be a financial success and I expect the bout to be one in which there will be enough action to satisfy any one."

Bernstein Outlines Plans.

According to the last minute plans of battle as outlined at the training quarters of the rival boxers, Bernstein intends to carry the fighting to Dundee from the clang of the first gong. He is going to try to score a knockout—something that Dundee has suffered but once in his long career; a feat that only Willie Jackson has been able to perform, and that was in the first round of a bout in Philadelphia in 1917.

Dundee, on the other hand, asserts that he intends to fight in his usual manner. He says he sees no reason why he should change his style for Bernstein. The little Italian welcomed the news that Bernstein intends to carry the fighting to him. "If he does, said Dundee, "the fans are sure to see action a-plenty. That is just what I want. If Bernstein will come to me I expect to score a knockout before the fifteenth round. I was afraid that he might elect to cover up. I hope he doesn't."

Andy Chaney and Red Cap Wilson have been matched to box in the semi-final of twelve rounds, and this bout holds much promise. Both are willing workers in the ring, and it should serve as a good warm-up for the fans in advance of the Dundee-Bernstein melee. In a six-pound bout Joe Schwartz and Georgie Vanderbilt will meet. Tony Vacarelli, who has been acting as one of Dundee's sparring partners, will mingle with Georgie Bender of Yonkers in the opening bout of four rounds. The first bout will be staged promptly at 8 o'clock.

ELKS ANNOUNCE PROGRAM.

Three Ten-Round Bouts Scheduled for Queensboro A. C. Friday.

The program for Elks' night at the Queensboro A. C. on Friday night was announced yesterday. Three ten-round bouts have been arranged. In one of these Italian Joe Gans and Pat Walsh will mingle, in another Willie Kohler and Sid Bernard will clash and in the third Pedro Campo, who claims the junior lightweight championship of the Philippine Islands, and Johnny Leonard will box.

Charley Hayes and Ray Duro will box six rounds, and the opening bout will be a four-round affair between Nick Quagierrelo and Billy Bell.

P. S. A. L. GAMES TODAY.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 29.—The Pittsburgh Pirates arrived from Chicago this morning without Clarence Jonnard, reserve catcher. He was released under optional agreement to Wichita Falls club of the Texas league.

SHELBY TO SPEND $1,000,000 ON BOUT

Montana Town Making Extensive Arrangements for the Dempsey-Gibbons Clash.

ARENA WILL SEAT 40,208

Additional Tracks Will Provide Room for 1,000 Pullmans—Tent City Planned.

Special to The New York Times.

SHELBY, Mont., May 29.—This heretofore obscure town of insignificant proportions is expected to be transformed into a thriving city as a result of the elaborate improvements undertaken in preparation for the world's heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey, the champion, and Tom Gibbons, St. Paul challenger, on the afternoon of July 4. It is estimated that at least $1,000,000 will be spent on the bout.

Not so long ago an almost unnoticeable smudge staked off on the wide Montana plains, with just enough living quarters to accommodate a modest population of 400, Shelby now is the centre of building and improvement activities typical of a frontier town which is progressing from the position of a train-whistling point on the line of the Great Northern Railway to the distinction of a city. Everywhere workmen are busily engaged. Everybody has something to do. From a booming oil centre the town rapidly is being modeled into one of the country's important pugilistic centres.

The work of transformation, of course, is not going to be accomplished without the expenditure of much time, money and labor. This was realized when tentative plans were first formulated, but from the most important to the least significant citizen in Shelby, everybody is back of the championship bout project and in addition leading figures of Montana in general are united in the common drive to put Shelby on the map.

Brick and frame buildings are being thrown up in profusion. Plans are progressing for permanent improvements which will affect the water, sewerage and lighting systems and include provisions for cement sidewalks to replace the misshapen paths which now serve as sidewalks. Construction work on the huge octagon-shaped arena in which Dempsey will engage Gibbons is progressing rapidly.

Framework Completed.

The framework of the bowl has been completed and the flooring is almost completed. The arena is being constructed a quarter of a mile west of the town instead of in the natural amphitheatre site which was first considered. Incidentally, the change in the site for the arena has resulted in voluminous law suits, according to report, because the change was made after concession privileges had been leased. The battle site will be forty miles south of Sweetgrass and Cutbank, on the Canadian line.

When completed the arena will be capable of accommodating 40,208 people. The amount of lumber necessary for the construction work has been estimated at 1,100,000 feet. Three carloads of nails will hold this timber together.

The arena will have sixteen entrances and eighty-five rows of seats. Each row will be separated by two and a half feet, with nineteen inches provided as seating space for each spectator. The arena itself will occupy six acres. The amount of ground covered by the arena and automobile parking space will reach thirty-three acres. Work is being rushed in day and night shifts in order to have it completed by June 20.

Elaborate arrangements are being made to accommodate the crowd expected to flow into Shelby. Every resource is being used in the drive for success. Every physical convenience has been considered in the adoption of plans. Sam S. Josephson, manager of the Shelby Chamber of Commerce, with statistics and details at his disposal, today gave the following definite outline on Shelby's pretentious arrangements for the biggest event in the town's history.

Space for 1,000 Pullmans.

Plans have been completed with the Great Northern Railway for installing eight miles of tracks at the west end of the town in addition to the three miles of double tracks which now lie between Shelby and Virden, a town situated three miles west of Shelby. On this trackage basis, provision is made for a maximum of 1,000 Pullmans with two diners for every eight pullmans. These Pullmans will be special trains which are being chartered from different parts of the country and Canada.

There will be no Pullmans other than these specials available. The specials will house only those who make the trip here in the trains. Arrangements have been made for thirty-eight special trains. It is estimated that seventy special Pullmans will be run to the battle, in addition to the coach trains which will be run out to Cutbank and other interested points.

It is expected that the railroad arrangements will accommodate 20,000 persons. The town facilities include an automobile tourist camp on 160 acres, two schools, which will be equipped for housing purposes, five hotels with a maximum capacity of from sixty to 200 guests each, a number of one-story and in some cases two-room shacks and improvised facilities in sleeping quarters made of wood and canvas combined. These resources of this small town are expected, in the calculations of the fight officials and civic authorities, to accommodate 20,000 more.

With the one-story buildings and tents already in evidence, officials estimate there are accommodations available now for between 7,000 and 8,000 persons. On the tent city planned, provision will be made for accommodating 3,000 automobiles. A total of 400 building permits have been issued. The city improvements planned represent an outlay of about $250,000.

Police Arrangements.

The policing of the town will be in charge of a police commission consisting of an official from the city police force, one from the County Sheriff's office and one appointed by the American Legion. Under this commission it is expected will be an adequate number of deputies from the city and county forces, an additional force supplied by the Legion, consisting of ex-service men and a citizens' committee. If necessary the Governor will be requested to send two companies of National Guardsmen.

A plan now is under consideration to request each of the larger cities of the country to send one or two detectives who will watch all incoming trains and the crowds in order to identify and apprehend for detention any undesirable characters who may come. The railroads sending special trains will have their own force of detectives.

In the matter of food supplies there are cold storage facilities in the town for carrying a large supply of meat and perishable food which will be augmented by refrigerator cars on the tracks. Local stores have promised to have on hand ample supplies of groceries, and the wholesale grocery firms within a radius of 100 miles are expected to be ready to make any shipments required. The town now boasts more than thirty restaurants and places where food can be obtained, according to Josephson.

Morally, the town is up to standard, this means it is no wilder and no more puritanical than any other similar town or some of the larger cities. Josephson is authority for the statement that the town has been approved by district prohibition agents. Booze is available, however, and so is real good beer. Six dance halls thrive when the day's activities lull and the darkness of night settles over the town.

PIRATES BEAT CUBS IN SEVENTH, 7 TO 6

Win After Chicago Ties Score in Its Half of Inning—Grimm Misses First Game.

PITTSBURGH, May 29.—Pittsburgh won an uphill game today, defeating Chicago, 7 to 6. The Pirates took the lead in the fifth inning by driving two runs. The Cubs tied the score in the seventh but the Pirates added another in their half of the inning, winning the game. Chicago used four pitchers and Pittsburgh three.

Grimm missed his first game of the season owing to slight injuries received in an automobile accident on his way home after arriving from Chicago.

TIGERS DEFEATED BY BROWNS, 6 TO 5

Shocker Driven From Box, but Five Double Plays Behind Bayne Beat Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., May 29.—Detroit's inability to solve Bayne's pitching and five double plays by the Browns cost the Tigers today's game with St. Louis, 6 to 5. Shocker and Holloway, who started the game, were driven from the box early, Shocker remaining through part of the second, while Holloway was withdrawn before two were out in the first.

Francis, whose suspension was lifted today, pitched well until relieved by a pinch hitter in the eighth.

GIANTS ARE BLANKED BY THE ROBINS, 3-0

McQUILLAN IS OUTPITCHED

Brooklyn Is Now in Possession of Third Place, Crowding Pirates Hard for Second.

Playing remarkable baseball behind pitching that was inspired and bewildering, the zealous Brooklyn Robins flattened the Giants again at the Polo Grounds yesterday, 3 to 0. The Brooklyn menace is now becoming interesting, if not dangerous. They are rapidly becoming the Athletics of the National League, pushing past the Cubs into third place yesterday and crowding the Pirates for the second rung of the ladder.

Frank J. Henry, new, raw and left-handed, pitched for the Robins and held the slugging champions to five hits. It was that kind of game. Without detracting from the picturesqueness of Henry's pitching, it is probable that if Uncle Wilbert Robinson had trundled his 300-odd pounds out to the mound, taken a hitch in his belt, spit on his hands and then pitched the nine innings, he would have beaten the Giants hands down. That's the way the champs looked, and that's the way the Robbie hit, fielded and ran bases behind their frankly-laid left hander.

Henry beat Hugh McQuillan, who, according to the records, has been the best pitcher of any variety in the National League this season. Frank J. was put in on a gamble and he paid Uncle Robbie odds of 100 to 1. Last year he was only a left hander for Robbie, down in the great open spaces of Alabama. More recently he was with the St. Louis Browns, who parted with him to get first baseman Schliebner from Brooklyn. When the Browns, with their pitching staff, let a twirler go, he must have a bright future before him.

Not a Giant Gets to Him.

But Henry upset the dope yesterday. He was so cool that he didn't raise a sweat under a hot sun. He gave only five hits, and what's more, not a Giant got to third base. Five lone singles were so carefully separated that the Giants did two of them get close enough to each other to shake hands. Opportunities were few and far between for the Giants, and when they did crop up the Robins were on hand to nonchalantly manage to hit the ball where it would do most damage—to themselves.

Behind Henry's fast ball, sharp curve pitching the Robins played magnificent baseball. They hit McQuillan in deadly fashion when hits meant runs and picked up their three runs one at a time, twice after two were out. It was a good game, albeit the Giants lost their second straight. The crowd was lively, and several hundred Brooklyn rooters massed behind the visitors' bench, shrieked, raved, ranted and carried on in other ways that the glum New Yorkers found extremely trying. So enthusiastic were the Flatbush delegation that even the mention of Charles Hercules Ebbets drew drew loud cheers.

All the Robins were heroes and all the Giants villains, which is as it should be. The plucky, smiling Henry got a terrific ovation after the game, and he deserved it. He pitched the best game the Giants have looked at this year.

Frisch kicked Griffith's grounder into a triple in the first, and Wheat walked, but there he was put out, and Jacques Fournier raised a long fly that the nimble Cunningham settled under. However, the Robins had better luck with their two-out rally in the fourth. Fournier's imaginary mates were helped by two flies by Wheat and McCarren. Then, when all hope seemed lost, High lofted a short fly to left centre. It fell safely between Meusel and Cunningham, who were playing out of their accustomed positions, and rolled on and on for three bases. Fournier, of course, chased home with the first run of the game.

Griffith's Single Scores Johnston.

With two gone in the fifth, the Robins again bestirred themselves. Johnston doubled to left and Griffith dropped a bright single in right, scoring Jimmy. Wheat's double sent Griffith to third, but Fournier rolled out to Frisch.

The Giants flirted with Dame Fortune themselves in their half of the inning, but didn't make the lady's acquaintance. Young doubled off Cunningham's shins. Brogan and Kelly lined a single off the same person's glove, Young being held at second. It looked like a gorgeous chance for big doings, but Cunningham asked to be relieved by Snyder hit hard enough, but had poor direction, for the ball whistled straight at Wheat, who easily doubled Young off second base.

And so it went. In the seventh the Robins continued their business of picking up runs. An error by Nehf, a single to right and Johnston sacrificed. A slashing grounder by Griffith bounced off McQuillan's anatomy for a single, Nels prancing to third. When Wheat hoisted a short fly to Young, Griffith stole a few feet lead off third while the catch was being made, but apparently nobody noticed the felony, and Nels scored easily. Kelly intercepted the throw for reasons unknown, and then flung past Snyder into the Brooklyn dugout. Griffith hurrying to third. Where he died when Fournier rolled to Kelly.

That was all there was.

YANKEES TRIUMPH OVER SENATORS, 4-2

Drive Zachary Off Mound in Second Inning and Score Three Runs.

PIPP HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Credited With Technical Single in Ninth and Hits Safely in Eighteen Games in Row.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Yankees scored their second consecutive victory over the Senators here today and Wallie Pipp, who previously had batted safely in seventeen consecutive games, preserved his string intact by getting a lucky single in the ninth inning after the side should have been retired. The score was 4 to 2, the champions making five hits and three runs in the second inning.

Pipp's hit was a technical blow. It is certain, however, that Pipp never could have made it but for an error by Stanley Harris after two were out in the ninth. Hoyt was the first man up in this inning and was thrown out by Peckinpaugh, who also threw out Witt. Dugan rolled to Harris, and the latter, after fumbling the ball, made a wild throw past first. Dugan reaching second. Ruth drew a pass and Pipp came to bat. In four previous times at bat Pipp had failed. In the ninth he slapped a roller to Peckinpaugh, but Dugan ran into the ball and accidentally kicked it into left field. Dugan was declared out, but under the rules the official scorer had no other alternative than to credit Pipp with a hit.

Hoyt went the route for the Yanks and was strong for five hitless innings. A double play by Scott and Ward stopped the Senators after they had scored one run in the first. A running catch by Witt ended another rally in the fifth after the Senators had scored one run and filled the bases on a single, a triple and two passes.

Zachary started for the Senators but was batted out of the box in the second inning and Russell, his successor, was taken out for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Zahniser finished the game.

Senators Score First.

Zachary escaped in the first but Hoyt was tapped for one run. Bluege opened with a triple and Harris walked. Rice grounded to Scott but the Deacon threw to second too late to force Harris, Bluege scoring on the play. Goslin also beat out a hit to Scott, Judge lined to Scott, whose throw to Ward doubled Rice off second. The next man popped to Scott.

The Yankees broke loose in the second. Meusel started with a single and went to third on a hit by Schang. Ward's swollop took to the mound past Bluege and rolled into left field for a single, Meusel scoring. Scott singled, scoring Schang, and Russell supplanted Zachary. Hoyt filed to Goslin but Witt singled to left and Ward scored the third run of the inning

U. S. GOLFERS HOME; PLEASED WITH TRIP

ALL PAY OUIMET HOMAGE

Dr. Willing's Game Also Praised—Group Disbands at Pier as Members Leave for Homes.

America's victorious Walker Cup golf team which pulled the international match against Great Britain out of the fire by a typically Yankee finish at St. Andrews, Scotland, on May 19, returned on board the Majestic at noon yesterday. Bronzed after their daily excursions over British links, enthusiastic over their adventures abroad, lavish in their praise of British sportsmanship and hospitality, the members of the team held a last "get-together" at the White Star pier while the customs officials examined their luggage and then made hasty departure for their respective homes in the Far West, in Texas, in the Middle West and in New England.

Captain Robert A. Gardner, former Yale track hero, left immediately for his home in Chicago; Francis Ouimet, the tall Bostonian whose play across the water captured the unstinted admiration of the British, who declared him to be the "best golfer in the British amateur tourney, hastened Bostonward. Fred J. Wright, now a Californian but formerly a resident of Boston, headed into New England to pay a visit to friends before taking the "sunset trail." Dr. C. F. Willing, the Portland (Ore.) dentist, who shared the lion's honors with Ouimet and who was the modest hero of that last day's battle at St. Andrews, left for the Far West. Jess W. Sweetser, the national amateur king who, after a brilliant start in the events held preliminary to the British championship at Sandwich, faded out of the picture in the blue ribbon itself, left last night for New Haven to take up his studies where he left them off and to graduate with his class in June.

S. Davidson Herron, former Pittsburger and the 1919 amateur titleholder, accompanied President J. F. Byers of the United States Golf Association to the city of steel, where he will spend a few days before returning to his home in Chicago. George Rotan, the Texan whose sense of humor caught the fancy of the Britons, will leave shortly for the Lone Star State. Max R. Marston, former metropolitan star, who played exceptionally well abroad, left for Philadelphia, and John F. Neville, selected to take Chick Evans's place on the team when the latter found himself unable to spare the time for the journey, will soon be on his way for California. One other star of the party, in addition to President Byers, who went abroad with the team to confer with officials of the Royal and Ancient regarding some of the mooted questions of golf, such as the steel shaft, the out-of-bounds penalty and other points on which the two controlling bodies are striving to reach uniform decisions, is Guy M. Standafer, formerly of Washington but now a resident of the Pacific Coast.

Standifer on Crutches.

Standifer hobbled off the boat with the aid of crutches. During the voyage he was the victim of a peculiar accident. The members of the invading force were celebrating Sweetser's twenty-first birthday when an enormous wave gave the ship a lurch. Standifer was hurled across the room and broke two bones in his foot, while other members of the team received minor cuts and bruises.

Ouimet brought with him a reproduction of the St. George's Golf Vase, perhaps the most valued trophy in golf and the first time it has ever been won by a "foreigner" in the three decades of its existence. The trophy caused a flurry among the customs officials for a time, for the Bostonian did not declare it. When the matter was explained to the officials, however, one of them, himself an ardent golfer, said that he had read all about it and, congratulating Ouimet on the winning of it, passed it duty free.

The members of the team were lavish in their praises of Ouimet and Dr. Willing. Ouimet, they said, played almost perfect golf throughout the sojourn abroad and came perilously close to duplicating the feat which only one American, Walter Travis in 1904, has performed. "It was unfortunate," said Captain Gardner, "that some one of us couldn't have assisted Francis more by getting either Tolley or Wethered out of the way, but we couldn't. To be called upon to face both of these sterling players in one day was a task that would have caused a less seasoned and courageous golfer to quake, but not so Francis. He succeeded in defeating Tolley when the latter was at his best and, while he failed against Wethered, he was glorious even in defeat. Wethered is a splendid champion, but Francis would have made just as great a one and he came mighty near returning with the championship trophy in addition to the St. George's Vase."

Received Fine Treatment.

"I cannot tell you how wonderfully we were treated on the other side. The trip was a wonderful one in cementing the ties between American and British golfers and when the British return to this country we will have to extend ourselves to equal their hospitality. Everywhere we went the British golfers and enthusiasts fairly outdid themselves in their efforts to make our excursion a pleasant one. During the various competitions it seemed almost as if they were anxious for us to win. In spite of the intense national pride that the British have in their golf the galleries behaved in true sportsmanship and our good shots got fully as much applause as those of our opponents. It was a great experience, one that none of us will ever forget.

"We will never forget the final day in the Walker Cup match. At the end of the opening day, when we lost three of the foursomes matches, we felt as if we were practically out of it. We couldn't quite see how we were going to be able to pull the thing out of the fire and at the end of the morning round on the final day we were even more discouraged for not a single one of us was up on our opponent. But with the start of the afternoon round the whole complexion of things changed. First Stotan crashed through with a splendid victory, then came Ouimet's heroic finish against Wethered and finally Dr. Willing's equally splendid finish against the Scot Murray, a fine golfer. It was a great team, a team that it was a distinct honor to captain and one that won the hearts of the Britons."

It was stated yesterday that in all probability the British would not send a team over to this side next Summer. The next Walker Cup match will probably not be held until 1925. Unlike the system which the U. S. G. A. has adopted, that of providing funds to defray the expenses of sending a team by means of an admission charge for the championships, the British rely on personal subscriptions. Last year, owing to dissatisfaction over the selection of the British team, there was a large deficit and it has been practically agreed between the two nations to make the event a two-year affair instead of an annual one, as it has been for the last two years.

Sweetser was a trifle disappointed over his showing in the amateur event, but said that he couldn't seem to be able to get going. "I started off fine," said he, "but when I struck St. George's and Sandwich my whole game seemed to leave me and there was nothing that I could do to get it back. However, Francis gave them a scare in the amateur and we won the Walker Cup, so everything in the game it was a great party one that I wouldn't have missed for a fortune."

Reginald M. Lewis of Greenwich, who competed in the British amateur, did not come back with the golfers who arrived on the Majestic yesterday. He will remain on the other side for some time and probably be one of the competitors in the British open at Troon.

International Golf Unanimity Is Near, Says U. S. G. A. Head

According to President J. F. Byers, who returned on the Majestic with the members of the American Walker Cup team yesterday, the Royal and Ancient and the United States Golf Association were never nearer a unanimity on questions relating to the game than at the present time. Mr. Byers stated that while on the other side he consulted with the members of the R. and A. anent some of the questions on which there is still a slight difference, and predicted that within a few years the two organizations would doubtless have rules identically similar in all respects. He said that the trip had proved a great boon to the game, and that the British were anxious for the Americans to come over annually. During his visit to St. Andrews he was initiated into the Ancient Order of Moles, a select golf society at the Scottish shrine. He was greeted on his arrival home by former President Howard F. Whitney and Vice President W. D. Vanderpoel of the U. S. G. A.

THREE MET. GOLFERS REACH SEMI-FINALS

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., May 29.—Three metropolitan golfers and one lone linksman from the Middle West remain for the semi-final round in the annual interscholastic championship tournament which is being played at the Westchester Biltmore Country Club here. The metropolitan players are C. H. Sommers of Stuyvesant High School, a member of the Scottish American Club, who played himself into the first sixteen in the recent Fox Hills invitation event; E. Byrne of Poly Prep and Donald Bomann of Plainfield, N. J., who is representing Tome School. The mid-westerner is Arthur (Sandy) Bush of Louisville, Ky., captain of football and baseball teams at Culver Military Academy, and the medalist on the opening day.

Bush, a husky player who possesses a sound game, won from F. Lucas, representing Milford School in Connecticut, 4 and 3, in the opening round in which play this morning, and in the afternoon session was somewhat aided by fortune in eliminating young A. B. Mackie, son of the Inwood pro, the Kentuckian, winning his match on the home green. Sommers, a Van Cortlandt Park product, had to travel to the twentieth hole to defeat A. T. Townley of Newark High School, last year's runner-up, in the morning match and in the afternoon, after being four down at the eighth hole, came from behind to defeat F. Rose of Lawrenceville School, 2 up. Byrne took the measure of M. McCarty, a son of the Woodway professional, 3 up, in the morning and then defeated A. F. Thompson of Manlius, 2 and 1. Bomann won both of his matches with the same score, 4 and 3. That was the verdict over A. M. Knapp of Hill in the morning and over S. L. Watson Jr. of Milford in the second round.

In the morning matches Watson defeated Kenneth Reid of Dobbs Ferry, son of Arthur Reid, the Ardsley professional, 2 and 1; Rose overcame A. F. Hunter of Kiski by 1 up; Mackie defeated W. McClure of Kiski by the same margin, and Thompson defeated Ullery of Kiski by 3 and 2.

Match Closely Fought.

The day's feature was the Bush-Mackie match. The former slipped away to a two-hole lead over his opponent in the first nine holes, but Mackie won the tenth and eleventh and then, after hanging on with bulldog tenacity, forged ahead by winning the short fifteenth. This sudden shift seemed to worry the Culver lad, but he managed to square the match at the sixteenth and to get a half at the finish, which was rather unexpected after the two shots. Then, after having all the better of things going to the home hole, Mackie hit an iron which looked as it started as if it would bring him victory. But his hopes disappeared when he discovered that his ball had traveled over the green and into a trap from where he failed in his attempt to "skim" the ball out, giving Bush the hole, 6 to 7, and with it the match.

Bush got away with the first hole by virtue of a birdie 3. Mackie evened matters with a victory at the third, 6 to 7, and they exchanged honors on the next two, Bush winning the fourth and Mackie the fifth. Then Bush produced a gem at the 462-yard sixth hole which restored his lead. With two fine shots his ball was on the edge of the green from where he sank the putt for an eagle 3. He then proceeded to win the seventh with a 4, but they divided the next two. Bush was 2 up at the turn, out in 41, to Mackie's 44. Bush was over the green at the tenth and lost the hole, 4 to 5, and he then proceeded to knock Mackie's ball into the cup at the eleventh, giving Mackie the hole and squaring the match.

From that point on it was a struggle, Mackie getting 5s at the next three holes for halves and winning the fifteenth by chipping in after he was short of the green from the tee. Mackie lost the sixteenth, 5 to 7, being in among the mounds on his drive. Playing the seventeenth, Mackie hit a beautiful tee shot down the middle of the fairway, while Bush was in the rough. In attempting to get across the water, however, Mackie, flailing away with an iron, looked up, missed the shot and lost his chance, the hole being halved.

Wins at Eighteenth.

At the deciding eighteenth, Bush, after sending his brassie in among rocks, won the hole with a 6 when Mackie, after playing two fine shots straight up the fairway, failed to hold the green with his iron third. The youngster hit a fine high ball which, when it left the club, looked as if it might be dead for the pin. It failed to "bite" into the green, however, and rolled into a trap. He then tried to skin it out and failed and Bush was the victor.

Sommers made a game fight against Townley, coming with a rush once he got straightened around. Bomann was always in front of Watson and Byrne had comparatively little difficulty in winning from Thompson.

Bush played remarkable golf in the morning round against Lucas, turning the difficult course in an even 80—a figure that many pros have a hard time in duplicating. Par for the course is 75, and a hard one at that, but the Culver student went out in 41 and came back in 39. On his first nine holes he had four pars and one birdie and coming in he had seven par holes. In spite of this withering brand of golf, Lucas hung on well, and was only 1 down at the turn. Bush won only the third and fourth in the outgoing nine, and it required a birdie and a par to do that. Lucas won the short eighth. At this point, however, the Culver athlete started out on a rampage, winning three straight holes. Lucas picked one up at the 525-yard fourteenth where he had a par 5, but he fell down at the next, the shortest hole on the course, and the match was over.

The summaries:

Championship Sixteen—First Round—S. L. Watson Jr., Milford, defeated R. Reid, Dobbs Ferry, 3 and 1; Donald Bomann, Tome, defeated A. M. Knapp, Hill, 4 and 3; C. E. Sommer, Stuyvesant, defeated A. T. Townley, Newark, 1 up (20 holes); F. Rose, Lawrenceville, defeated W. Hunter, Kiski, 1 up; A. F. Thompson, Manlius, defeated R. Ullery, Kiski, 3 and 2; M. Byrne, Poly Prep, defeated M. McCarty, Stamford, 1 up; A. B. Mackie, Lawrence High, defeated T. W. McClure, Kiski, 1 up; A. S. Bush, Culver, defeated F. Lucas, Milford, 4 and 3.

Second Round—Bomann defeated Watson, 4 and 3; Sommer defeated Rose, 3 up; Byrne defeated Thompson, 3 and 1; Bush defeated Mackie, 1 up.

MISS BAKER LOSES IN JERSEY TENNIS

Miss Hauselt Defeats East Orange Star by Decisive Scores, 6-1, 6-1.

SECOND ROUND COMPLETED

Third Brackets Filled in Singles Play—Semi-Finals Reached in Doubles.

Miss Ceres Baker of East Orange, N. J., was the victim of one of the most decided upsets of the tennis season yesterday when she was defeated by Miss Edna Hauselt of this city in the second round of the women's New Jersey State championship singles on the courts of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club at South Orange, N. J. The victory was a crushing one, the score of the match being 6—1, 6—1. As Miss Baker ranks twentieth on the national list, while Miss Hauselt is not rated, the nature of the upset may be appreciated.

Miss Lillian Scharman of Brooklyn, who is the only other seeded entry in the tournament, did not get into action yesterday, as she played through two rounds on Monday. All the brackets in the third round were filled yesterday, and the semi-finals were reached in the women's doubles, in which twelve teams are competing. Miss Baker and Miss Scharman, the strongest pair in the play, reached the semi-finals by defeating Mrs. Percy Wilbourn and Mrs. John C. Collingwood in the second round, both pairs having drawn a bye in the first. They meet Miss Caroma Winn in the upper half today, and in the lower half the contenders are Mrs. Simeon Tobey and Miss Edith Moore and Miss Florence Sheldon and Mrs. J. E. Taylor.

Miss Baker's defeat was largely the result of her own erratic playing. Miss Hauselt showed a strong attacking game, in which her net play stood out on a par with her opponent's, and on the defense she was an indefatigable court coverer, but most of her points were handed to her by the other's errors, few of which were forced. Repeatedly, after the score had gone to deuce, the New Jersey girl would throw away the points when they meant most by hitting into the net or outside the lines.

Miss Baker Makes Most Errors.

There were occasions when she was unable to help herself, as Miss Hauselt forced her out of position, but for the most part these shots that went into the net or over the lines were the result of lack of control. An analysis of the strokes shows that, while Miss Baker made twice as many earned points as did Miss Hauselt, she made more than three times as many errors. Twenty-seven outs and twenty-six nets are charged against her, to twelve outs and four nets by her opponent.

Miss Baker's game never developed at the outset. After Miss Hauselt had won the opening game on a placement and two pretty volley shots, the Jersey girl made three nets and lost the second. Three more errors cost her the fourth game also. In the fifth she made five errors, the total number of points won by her opponent in the game. The last two were made after she had brought the score to deuce. Miss Hauselt's last seven points were all won on errors.

It was the same story in the second set. In each of the first three games Miss Baker brought the score to deuce only to throw away the next two points on outs and nets. Miss Hauselt won the fourth easily at 4—1, all of her points coming on the other's faults again. The fifth game was the only one Miss Baker captured. She had the advantage in the sixth, in which she led at 40—15, only to throw the game away, and then dropped the seventh also, after pulling up to deuce from 15—40, hitting into the net and outside on the last two points.

It was a disappointing performance that the Jersey girl gave and nowhere near the calibre of tennis she is capable of playing when she is at-her best. Theyvictory marks one more notable improvement of Miss Hauselt, who began her experience as a tournament player only last season.

Miss Sheldon is Defeated.

One of the two Boston players were eliminated yesterday when Miss Florence Sheldon defeated Mrs. J. D. Corbiere. The match went to three sets, the first going to Mrs. Corbiere at 6—3. The Boston woman won the first two games of the second frame, and then came an unusual change. Miss Sheldon played so steadily from this point on that she took twelve games in a row, winning the second set at 6—2 and the third at love. Inability to handle Miss Sheldon's speed was largely responsible for the downfall of the Boston woman, who fell off badly in control, especially in the third set.

Mrs. William Shedden, the other entry from Boston, gained her third round bracket at the expense of Mrs. H. V. Kaltenborn of Brooklyn. The first set was a close back-court driving duel that was decided at 6—3 in Mrs. Shedden's favor. The Boston woman was clearly the superior in the second, allowing her opponent but one game. Miss Mary E. Case scored a commendable victory in putting out Miss Caroma Winn, taking the match in straight sets at 6—3, 6—3.

The most decisive triumph was furnished when Mrs. Percy Wilbourn defeated Mrs. George B. Stanwix in love sets. Mrs. Wilbourn drove with steadiness and returned everything until her opponent erred or was caught out of position. Mrs. John C. Collingwood failed to meet general expectations when she was eliminated by Mrs. J. E. Taylor at 6—3, 6—1. Mrs. Collingwood has been coming along well since her first tournament play last year, but she did not do herself justice yesterday.

Today the following matches will be played, with the winners going into the semi-finals: Miss Scharman vs. Miss Sheldon, Miss Case vs. Mrs. Wilbourn, Miss Hauselt vs. Mrs. J. Taylor, and Mrs. Shedden vs. Miss Edith Moore.

The summaries:

Singles—Second Round—Miss Edna Hauselt defeated Miss Ceres Baker, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. J. F. Taylor defeated Mrs. John C. Collingwood, 6—3, 6—1; Miss Florence Sheldon defeated Mrs. H. V. Kaltenborn, 6—3, 6—1; Miss Edith Moore defeated Miss Josephine Jewett, 6—1, 6—0; Miss Florence Sheldon defeated Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, 6—3, 6—2, 6—0; Miss Mary E. Case defeated Miss Caroma Winn, 6—3, 6—3; Mrs. Percy Wilbourn defeated Mrs. George B. Stanwix, 6—3, 6—0.

Doubles—First Round—Mrs. George B. Stanwix and Miss Helen Simpson defeated Miss C. Bannister and Miss Dorothy Berkenstedt, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Caroma Winn and Mrs. Ingo Hartmann defeated Miss Helen Moran and Miss Dorothy Gaus, 6—0, 6—2; Mrs. J. D. Corbiere and Mrs. William Shedden defeated Miss Mary E. Case and Miss Margaret Kidder, 6—3, 6—3; Mrs. Simeon Tobey and Miss Edith Moore defeated Mrs. J. F. Bailey and Mrs. H. V. Kaltenborn by default.

Second Round—Miss Ceres Baker and Miss Lillian Scharman defeated Mrs. Percy Wilbourn and Mrs. John C. Collingwood, 6—2, 7—5; Miss Winn and Mrs. Hartmann defeated Mrs. Stanwix and Miss Simpson, 6—2, 8—6; Mrs. Tobey and Miss Moore defeated Mrs. Corbiere and Mrs. Shedden, 6—4, 6—4, 6—2; Miss Florence Sheldon and Mrs. J. E. Taylor defeated Mrs. E. S. Miles and Mrs. N. W. Farlee, 6—4, 6—1.

CHAPIN WINS TWO "W'S."

Williams Honors Athlete for Work in Tennis and Track.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., May 29.—Alfred H. Chapin Jr. of Springfield was given two varsity "W's" by the Williams athletic council today, one for winning the New England intercollegiate tennis championship and the other for his work with the Purple track team, for which he won points in the pole vault.

In addition to Chapin, the following Williams track men have been honored with letters: Captain Stowers, Manager Shuttleworth, Fasce, Richmond, Olmstead, Barnes, Dodge, Miller, Wishard, Weber, Kemp and Coleman.

KYNASTON REACHES SEMI-FINAL ROUND

Defeats Whitlock in Eastern New York Tennis Tourney—Bowman Also a Winner.

One more bracket in the semi-final round of the Eastern New York State championship singles was filled yesterday on the courts of the Amackassin Club, Yonkers. Percy L. Kynaston of Rockville Centre, L. I., runner-up for the Harlem title, advanced by defeating George C. Whitlock in straight sets, 8—6, 6—3. But one other match was played during the afternoon. In the fourth round, Herbert L. Bowman disposed of S. G. Kelly, also in straight set fashion, at 6—2, 7—5.

Play will be resumed this morning, with Dr. George King scheduled to face Jones Mersereau, and Bowman to meet I. Glitchik. The winner of the first match will play Kynaston in the upper semi-finals, and the survivor of the second will be opposed to Paul Martin in the lower semi-finals.

Kynaston had his hands full for the first set of his match with Whitlock yesterday and found that he could not afford to let down in the second. Whitlock, realizing that he had everything to gain against the seeded player, took all the chances and played hard, fast tennis throughout the match. At every opportunity he made his way forward, and so dangerous was he when he got to the net that Kynaston did his utmost to keep him away.

Cross-Court Shots Effective.

It was the Long Island player's beautiful backhand cross-court shots that stopped this short court attack. Again and again Kynaston caught the other as he sought to close in with a sharply angled ground stroke that landed just within the outside corner of the service court.

The Long Island man frequently resorted to net play himself, and, while he was not always fast enough in making his way up, he could be depended upon to acquit himself in creditable fashion when he reached his objective. By hitting to alternate corners and working his opponent off the court, he paved the way for his advance and made short work of Whitlock's soft, high returns. With his more than average height, Kynaston was able to bring down everything overhead, and the few lobs that did escape him he retrieved at the base line with his indefatigable court covering.

It was the Long Island player's ability to get back the most difficult shots that enabled him to pull out the first set after it had gone to deuce twice. It was almost impossible for Whitlock to get anything past him, no matter how skillfully he changed length or position. Kynaston grew more effective as the play progressed. The other continued to press him closely, but it was evident almost from the start of the second frame where lay the superiority. Kynaston got his backhand passing shots to working their best in the frame and won, 6—3.

Bowman in Fine Form.

In the match between Bowman and Kelly the situation was reversed. After having it comparatively easy in the first set the New York State champion found himself extended to his best to win the second set. Bowman was in his best playing form almost from the first game, and the manner in which he forced his openings for acing shots again and again made it an almost hopeless task for his opponent to seek to win. But Kelly refused to be phased, covered court doggedly and in the second set made a splendid showing, making the most difficult recoveries and outteadying Bowman in many of the driving rallies.

The summaries:

Fourth Round—Herbert Lee Bowman defeated S. G. Kelly, 6—2, 7—5; Jones Mersereau defeated Charles Anderson, 6—2, 6—4; George C. Whitlock defeated Jerome Minster, 6—2, 7—5.

Fifth Round—Percy L. Kynaston defeated Whitlock, 8—6, 6—3.

STARS TO COMPETE IN TRICITY TENNIS

Tilden, Williams and Richards to Appear in Matches at Forest Hills Next Week.

The most important of the early season tennis matches will be played on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, Friday and Saturday of next week, when the leading players of the East will engage in the tricity competition for the Church Cup.

Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, who were scheduled to sail for England on June 5, postponed their departure until the twelfth in order that they might represent this city against Philadelphia and Boston in the matches. They will be the Nos. 1 and 2 men on the New York team in all probability, and Zenso Shimizu is likely to be the third selection. New York won the cup at Boston last year.

Philadelphia will have an unusually formidable combination that is expected to include William T. Tilden 2d, the national champion; R. Norris Williams 2d, fourth ranking player in the country, and Wallace F. Johnson. The Philadelphians will meet Boston on the first day and, unless the play runs decidedly against form, they should be the opponents of the local representatives on the second day.

While no order of matches has as yet been arranged, it is probable that Richards will play against Tilden and Hunter against Williams. Zenso Shimizu will probably face Johnson, a famous chop-stroke expert, in the event that the Philadelphians survive the first day. The play will be on the grandstand turf facing the clubhouse and special stands will be erected at each end of the court. Frequent train service will be available from the Pennsylvania Station direct to Forest Hills.

TILDEN TO MEET ALONSO.

Tennis Stars in Exhibition Matches at South Orange Sunday.

William T. Tilden 2d of Philadelphia, national tennis champion, will appear in exhibition matches of singles and doubles Sunday afternoon on the courts of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club at South Orange, N. J. He will first meet Manuel Alonso of Spain and then pair with the European Davis Cup star in doubles against Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter.

Zenso Shimizu was scheduled to play with Alonso in the exhibitions, but the Japanese is suffering from an attack of whooping cough and is not expected to be able to play again for several weeks. He was entered in the invitation tournament of the Orange club, which begins this morning, but was compelled to default. His teammates, Seichiro Kashio and Masamoseuke Fukuda, will compete in the tourney, as announced, and one more entry of prominence has been received from Harold Tarcokmorton.

WHITE KNOCKED OUT, FIRPO BOUT IS OFF

Cuban Welterweight Badly Beats American in Training With 12-Ounce Gloves.

HAVANA, May 29 (Associated Press).—The boxing bout between Luis Angel Firpo, the South American heavyweight, and Joe White of New York, which had been arranged for next Sunday, has been called off. This afternoon, during a sparring match with Estanislao Frias, a Cuban colored welterweight, White was twice knocked out by the lighter man with 12-ounce gloves.

The crowd which witnessed the training bout made a noisy demonstration and it was necessary for the police to take charge of the situation. The Cuban Boxing Commission, three members of which were at the ringside, immediately convened and reached a decision disqualifying White as an opponent unfit for Firpo.

Later groups of fight enthusiasts congregated outside of the Arena Colon, where the boxers have been training, and demanded that the promoters of the bout substitute Antolin Fierro, Cuban heavyweight champion, as Firpo's opponent Sunday afternoon.

Fierro, who weighs about 220 pounds, knocked out Sailor Martin of New York in the first round of a bout here last Sunday. Firpo, who was a spectator, characterized Fierro as "a veritable cyclone."

It is not known whether Firpo will accept Fierro as an opponent if the Boxing Commission should sanction the bout.

NEWARK TROUNCED BY ORIOLES, 24-4

Baltimore Celebrates Raising of Fourth Pennant — Scores in Every Inning.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 29.—The Baltimore Orioles raised its fourth International League pennant today and in honor of the occasion defeated Newark 24 to 4, scoring in every inning.

Because of the crippled condition of the Bears, several infielders took turns in the box.

KASHIO TO DEFEND CUP.

Voshell Also Entered in Brooklyn Tennis Title Play.

S. Howard Voshell and Seichiro Kashio are the outstanding entries received to date for the sixth annual open men's singles tournament for the championship of Brooklyn, which will be staged on the courts of the Terrace-Kings County Tennis Association, Brooklyn, beginning Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Kashio won the Terrace Club Bowl last year, defeating Fred C. Anderson in the final round. Anderson is to be a contender for the trophy again, as also are his brother Frank and Herbert Lee Bowman, New York State title holder.

Entries for the tournament will close tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, and the draw will be made three hours later. Royal D. Richey is Chairman of the committee in charge of the play, and is receiving the entries at 7,020 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, care of the Bulkley & Horton Company.

On the committee with Mr. Richey are Charles Chambers, who will act as referee; J. Trevette Allen, Frank T. Anderson, James W. Anderson, Armand L. Bruneau, who, as Chairman last year, ran off a record of eighty-four matches on one day; Walter L. Blackwell, George Copeland, J. E. Cameron, Dr. Nestor A. Cretin, Frank Danielson, J. Cecil Donaldson, Gerald Donaldson, Alfred Helwitz, Frank Lester, Francis Maloney, Selden G. Noyes Jr., Charles Pickford, Peter F. H. Reuther, Orville Sanborn, Charles F. Seiler, Robert J. Shearer, Reginald Talmage and Harry Wiswall.

MISS CASSELL ELIMINATED.

Paired With Miss Batchelor, She Loses in Philadelphia Doubles.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—The defeat of Miss Phyllis Walsh of Merion in the fourth round was the only surprise today in the Pennsylvania and adjacent States tennis tournament at the Merion Cricket Club. Miss Walsh was eliminated by Mrs. H. B. Coxe Jr., 6—4, 2—6, 6—2. In other fourth-round matches Miss Molly Thayer beat Mrs. W. P. Newhall, 6—4, 6—0, and Miss Edwards Gamble, Baltimore, won by default.

In the doubles Miss Virginia Carpenter and Miss Kitty Porter, Philadelphia, defeated Miss Claire Cassell and Mrs. Bronson Batchelor, New York, 11—9, 1—6, 8—6. Miss Thayer and Mrs. Coxe eliminated Mrs. G. R. Powell, Philadelphia, and Miss Margaret Powell, Pittsburgh, 6—0, 6—3.

Fire Destroys $50,000 Worth Of Shelby Tents and Blankets

CHICAGO, May 29.—Fifty thousand dollars' worth of tents and blankets ordered to house fight fans at the Dempsey-Gibbons championship bout at Shelby, Mont., July 4, were destroyed by fire here today.

JACOB RIIS PARK SOUGHT FOR BOUT

Rockaways Would Build Arena There to Stage Dempsey-Wills Battle.

The Dempsey-Wills fight will take place in the Rockaways on Labor Day if William H. Reynolds, Chairman of the Dinner Committee of the Rockaway Board of Trade, gets an affirmative answer from Jack Kearns to the message he sent him through Dan McKetrick at Shelby, Mont., yesterday. Chairman Reynolds has asked McKetrick to lay the whole matter before Kearns and have him wire back whether he will agree to permit Dempsey to fight in the Rockaways.

It developed yesterday that the promoters of the fight may urge the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to permit the use of Jacob Riis Park, between Neponsit and Rockaway Point, for the proposed fight. Mr. Reynolds says there are sixteen members of the Board of Trade on the Dinner Committee and they all are anxious to bring the big fight to the Rockaways.

Algernon Nova, counsel to the Kings County Register, and Alexander Cohen, another wealthy resident of the Rockaways, are said to be the men willing to supply the financial backing to put over the fight. They will agree to erect a stadium in Jacob Riis Park and then permit it to remain there for public use. They say this site is ideally situated for a fight of this kind, but if the city officials will not permit the use of the Riis Park, the men interested in the promotion of the fight claim to have another site near Edgemere.

"The Dinner Committee of the Rockaway Board of Trade is handling the arrangements for the fight and have the men with the money behind them," declared Chairman Reynolds last night. "Of course we are interested in this fight for the publicity and crowds that it will get us. T

SUNAYR IS FIRST IN BOUQUET STAKES

Runs Five Furlongs in 0:58 2-5, Fastest Made in Event Since Inception in 1896.

RIVAL, FAVORITE, IS LAST

Sunny Sal Also Wins for Kilmer Stable—Flannel Shirt Takes Woodside Handicap.

Sunayr, Willis Sharpe Kilmer's chestnut filly by Sun Briar-Misty Isle, carried off the Bouquet Selling Stakes, the featured event of yesterday afternoon's card at the Belmont Park track. The race was at five furlongs over the straight course and was worth $3,800 to Mr. Kilmer. Of all the eligibles only five came to the post. The winner covered the five furlongs in 0:28 2-5, which is the fastest time that has ever been made in this race since its inception in 1896.

The Rancocas Stable's Rival was made the favorite, opening at 5 to 5 and closing at 2 to 1. There was a heavy play on James Butler's Spur filly Cave Woman, which was backed down from 4 and 5 to 13 to 5. Sunayr, which opened at 5 to 2, closed at 6 to 2.

Sunayr was away slowly, and was outrun in the early stages. She closed with a rush in the last furlong to win cleverly by two lengths from Exalted Ruler, which had set the early pace and was always well up, but tired at the finish. Fredericktown, the Greentree Stable's Pennant colt, took the short end of the purse, more than three lengths ahead of Cave Woman, while Rival was never a contender and finished last.

Double Scored by Kilmer Colors.

The Kilmer colors were carried to the fore again in the final race of the afternoon, making it a double for Trainer J. I. Smith, who saddled them, and Jockey Johnson, who rode both fillies. This race was for maiden two-year-old fillies at four and a half furlongs on the straight course, and the winner was Sunny Sal, another daughter of Sun Briar, her dam being Salvolante. Sunny Sal broke fast and set the pace for the field of twelve starters from the drop of the flag. H. Waterson Miss Cameo was always closest to the leader, but was more than three lengths behind her at the finish.

There was a curious mixup in the winner of third money. The judges placed the Rancocas Stable's chestnut filly Loands third, but competent observers right on the wire gave the verdict to Harry Payne Whitney's Broomstick filly Drumstick, and that by more than a length. Drumstick finished close to the outside rail, and in pulling up the filly either struck the rail or tossed Jockey McAtee in some manner. The boy appeared to be badly injured at first, but was able to get on his feet after a bit. There was a strong wind behind the field, and the race was run in the fast time of 0:51 2-5, two-fifths of a second more than the record for the distance on the Belmont straightway.

C. A. Stoneham's four-year-old colt Flannel Shirt was the winner of the Woodside Handicap at a mile from five others. It was the first outing for the King James colt since he gave Comic Song a three-length beating in the Auburndale Handicap at Jamaica. The winner was in under the weight of 101 pounds, and Mack Fator rushed him into the lead, forcing a fast pace. Flannel Shirt barely lasted to beat Modo by a neck.

The Rancocas Stable's Little Chief, carrying 117 pounds and making his season's debut, had a lot of early speed, but tired at the end.

Mixup in First Race.

The Quincy Stable's three-year-old chestnut colt, Frank G., by Ultimus won the Runnymede, a six-furlong dash first on the afternoon card. There was another mixup in this race, which held the field of eleven ten minutes at the post. August Belmont's Diagram and the Greentree Stable's Canaque got into an argument. They pawed and fought each other, finally got their legs locked and fell wrestling. Diagram eventually got free and ran away around the turn, killing whatever chance he might have had of winning. As it was he was pulled up.

RIDERS ARE THROWN IN SHOW AT DEVON

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Two spills featured the annual Devon Horse Show which opened at Devon this afternoon. Miss Ellen Mary Cassatt had a narrow escape when her mount in the lightweight hunters' class, Captain Sowerly, refused to take the rail jump in front of the grand stand. Miss Cassatt was thrown over her mount's head. She was rescued by grooms in an instant, but she was able to walk from the track without assistance.

The other near injury followed a few minutes later when Isaac P. Clothier Jr., riding Durward Roberts in a class for half a dozen heavyweight hunters, was thrown into the enclosure at the in-and-out jump. The horse then pushed the white fence jump over upon the fallen rider. Mr. Clothier untangled himself, remounted and pulled out fourth place in the race. He suffered only a few minor bruises.

Those two spills were a few of the thrills served the largest crowd that ever attended an opening day at the classic Devon show.

Indian Arrow, one of the string brought down by Lieut. Col. Herbert C. Coxe from his Ennisclare Farms, Ontario, won the event for hunters and jumpers. Cragwood, also of the Enniscliare string, took second. Third place went to Sir Linsin, another Clothier entry.

OIL MAN CAPTURES PURSE.

Wears Down Triumph in Louisville Feature and Wins by a Head.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 29.—The Lebanon Junction Purse, in which the Derby candidates, Prince K. and In Memoriam, had been carded to start, was declared off this afternoon because of scratches due to the muddy track and a six-furlong claiming event was substituted.

The Orchard Hall Purse, at six furlongs, the other featured event, brought six to the post, and it was won by C. N. Daniel's four-year-old Oil Man. The colt was kept well up from the break and stood a drive in the stretch, wearing down Triumph and winning by a head. Jimmie Daw, which was far back in the first quarter and was given a weak ride, managed to take the short end of the purse.

RAY TO RUN TODAY IN FORDHAM MEET

Illinois A. C. Star Will Try to Break Mile Record in Handicap Event.

Joie Ray of the Illinois A. C. will make his initial appearance of the Eastern outdoor track season this afternoon at the Yankee Stadium at the meet that is being staged by Fordham University. Ray is to run in a special one-mile race that has been put on the list of events in order to give him a chance to shatter Norman Taber's one-mile outdoor mark of 4:12 3-5. The indoor record for the mile Ray himself holds at 4:14 1-5.

Ray will be opposed by a select field of six other starters in his attempt for a record. The sextet to compete with him is composed of the following well-known local runners: Walter Higgins, Frank Brennan and Bob Moore from Columbia University, Mike Devanney of the Millrose A. C., Pat Kennedy of the La Rabida Council, K. of C., and Newton Brown of New York University.

Ray is to start from scratch, handicaps up to seventy yards being given to the other starters. He arrived East yesterday and is making his quarters at the Newark A. C. The only work that he performed yesterday was to take a short limbering-up run.

This one-mile special race is the last event of the meet, coming at about 4 o'clock. The secondary feature, the 440-yard run, contains the entries of six other local stars. They are J. Coard Taylor of Princeton, Walter Koppisch, the Columbia University football and track star; Jack Sellers of the New York A. C., Vin Lally of the St. Anselm's C., and Buck Farley and Jimmy O'Brien of the Loughlin Lyceum. Koppisch and Taylor are to start from scratch in this event, the other starters being allotted handicaps of from five to ten yards.

The third important race of the afternoon will be the five-mile handicap run, in which a field of thirty-five distance men is scheduled to start. Willie Ritola of the Finnish-American A. C. is starting from scratch in this event. He is conceding handicaps up to 450 yards. Ritola, who at the recent Fordham meet smashed the indoor record for the four miles, is out to establish a new outdoor record for five miles.

Eddie Farrell of Fordham and Victor Grach of Columbia are to start from scratch in the 100-yard dash. Among the numerous local sprinters entered in this event are Johnny Furlinger, Ray Welsh and others from N. Y. U., Rutgers and Princeton. Nine other events are listed on the program. They are a 300-yard run, handicap; 880-yard run, handicap; one-mile college and club relay; one-mile run, novice; one-mile walk, handicap; 1,200-yard relay, closed to K. of C. teams; one-mile high and prep school relay; half-mile class relay, closed to Fordham Prep, and a one-mile interclass relay, closed to Fordham University.

VETERAN ATHLETES TO COMPETE TODAY

Seventeen Old Timers to Help Irish-American A. C. Celebrate Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

Seventeen athletes who have represented America in the Olympic games since the organization of the Irish-American A. C. a quarter of a century ago will be among the stars of the present and past who will take part in the anniversary celebration of the Winged Fist club when a special set of games will be held at Celtic Park this afternoon. The feature of the "old timers'" events will be a three-cornered relay race with New York A. C., Boston A. A. and Irish-American A. C. athletes competing. The Winged Fist team will be selected from the following: Lawson Robertson, Pete Waters, Jimmy Archer, Mel Sheppard, Harry Glasing, Jim Rosenberger and Henry Schaaf. Sheppard, Rosenberger, Glasing and Schaaf were members of the relay team that placed the world's record at 3:18 1-5 in 1911. This mark has been beaten since, however.

In addition to the events for the former members of the club, there will be several A. A. U. races open for men, and a sprint and relay race for girls. The open events for men will be the 300 yards, 1,000 yards and two-mile team races. Gaelic football and hurling will follow the track games.

The Irish American club was represented in the Olympic games in Paris in 1900, in St. Louis in 1904, in Athens in 1906, London 1908, and in Stockholm 1912.

The seventeen Irish-American athletes who took part in various Olympic games and who will compete today follows: George Bonhag, 1906-8-12; Billy Frank, 1906; Bill Horr, 1908; Lawson Robertson, 1904-8-8; Meyer Prinstein, 1900-4; Mel Sheppard, 1908-12; Sam Schwartz, 1912; Jim Rosenberger, 1912; Mike Ryan, 1908-12; Wm. Rolker, 1920; Eddie Pritchard, 1912; Matt McGrath, 1908-12-20; Pat McDonald, 1912-20; Alvah T. Meyer, 1912; Abel Kiviat, 1912; Johnny Hayes, 1908; Frank Zuna, 1920.

BLAIR IS CUE VICTOR.

Defeats Vogel and McGill in Three-Cushion Tourney in Brooklyn.

Four games were played last night in the continuation of the Captain Ennis Memorial Handicap three-cushion tournament at Lawler Brothers' Billiard Academy, Brooklyn. Robert Blair defeated R. Vogel, 22 to 18; Steve Husgard defeated Addie McGill, 20 to 15; R. Vogel defeated Ralph Boorum, 22 to 18, and Robert Blair defeated Eddie McGill by 20 to 10.

In the Blair-Vogel game Vogel was beaten after leading by 10 to 1.

Miss Terry Wins on Links.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., May 29.—In the women's putting and approaching competition at the Plainfield Country Club today Mrs. Paul B. Welles, Mrs. C. D. Boyce and Miss Zoe Terry were tied for first place with a score of 10. Miss Terry won the play-off.

U. S. Sub Base Nine Wins.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 29.—The United States Submarine Base baseball team defeated Georgetown University here this afternoon by a score of 2 to 1

SAIL FIRST TITLE YACHT RACE TODAY

Harlem Club Will Open Season of the Long Island Sound Association.

The first championship race this season of the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound will be sailed from the Harlem Yacht Club, City Island, beginning at 1 o'clock this afternoon. This is the forty-first annual regatta of the club and also marks the start of the official racing of the association, which will be continued on following Saturdays and holidays during the year.

Off Oyster Bay the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club will sail a race for the six meter boats and for the S. Fish and Kitten classes. There is a great deal of interest in the six meter event, for among the boats which will race today are probably some of the four which will sail in England this Summer for the British-American Cup.

Four courses have been designated for the races at the Harlem club. Over course A the New York Yacht Club forty-foot class, the Larchmont O, the P and Division 1 of the Handicap Class will compete. The New York Yacht Club thirty-foot class, Division 2 of the Handicap, Long Island schooners and a mixed handicap of the Harlem Yacht Club will sail. Course 1, and Division 3 of the Handicap Class, the U. Arrow, International six Meter, Victory, S and Glen Cove classes will sail Course 2. The Star Class, Division 4 of the handicap class, the Orienta, New York C. C. Knockabout, New Rochelle O. D., Shell Island Dory, Decked Sailing Canoe, and all small one-design classes will sail Course 3.

The start and finish of the races will be made on a line between the white flag of the Committee Boat and the black and red spar buoy to the northward and eastward of Executive Light. Course A has a distance of 15½ nautical miles; Course 1, 11 miles; Course 2, 9 miles and Course 3, 6 miles.

Yachts not finishing within one hour after sunset will be considered as having abandoned the race. The recall signal will be a white ball with a horizontal red band and one blast of the horn or siren for each yacht recalled. If two or more yachts start in a class, a first prize will be awarded. If four or more yachts start a second prize will be given, and if seven or more a third prize. The regatta is open to yachts enrolled in any recognized yacht club. R. S. Haydock is Chairman of the Race Committee.

This one-mile special race is the last event of the meet, coming at about 4 o'clock. The secondary feature, the 440-yard run, contains the entries of six other local stars. They are J. Coard Taylor of Princeton, Walter Koppisch, the Columbia University football and track star; Jack Sellers of the New York A. C., Vin Lally of the St. Anselm's C., and Buck Farley and Jimmy O'Brien of the Loughlin Lyceum. Koppisch and Taylor are to start from scratch in this event, the other starters being allotted handicaps of from five to ten yards.

The third important race of the afternoon will be the five-mile handicap run, in which a field of thirty-five distance men is scheduled to start. Willie Ritola of the Finnish-American A. C. is starting from scratch in this event. He is conceding handicaps up to 450 yards. Ritola, who at the recent Fordham meet smashed the indoor record for the four miles, is out to establish a new outdoor record for five miles.

Eddie Farrell of Fordham and Victor Grach of Columbia are to start from scratch in the 100-yard dash. Among the numerous local sprinters entered in this event are Johnny Furlinger, Ray Welsh and others from N. Y. U., Rutgers and Princeton. Nine other events are listed on the program. They are a 300-yard run, handicap; 880-yard run, handicap; one-mile college and club relay; one-mile run, novice; one-mile walk, handicap; 1,200-yard relay, closed to K. of C. teams; one-mile high and prep school relay; half-mile class relay, closed to Fordham Prep, and a one-mile interclass relay, closed to Fordham University.

COLUMBIA OARSMEN TO DEPART JUNE 7

Coach Rice Will Take 36 Athletes to Poughkeepsie—Other Plans Announced.

Columbia's plans for the invasion of Poughkeepsie early next month were announced yesterday by Graduate Manager R. W. Watt. Everything has been arranged for the big regatta except the matter of winning the varsity race, and that detail is being entrusted to Coach Jim Rice and the thirty-six oarsmen who will train on the Upper Hudson.

The start for Poughkeepsie will be made a week from tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, allowing the crews plenty of time to reach the Columbia boat house, unpack personal equipment and indulge in an unlimbering workout before sundown the same day. The Blue and White will be the first crew on the scene, as usual, and will get the customary three weeks' practice that Columbia tradition seems to demand. The other Poughkeepsie contenders—Cornell, Pennsylvania, Navy, Syracuse and Washington will not be far behind, and they will arrive at intervals of a few days, all of them spending at least a week on the scene of the big regatta on June 23. Columbia, crews will row in the races, but four will be taken to Poughkeepsie, the extra one being composed of substitutes for the three regular boats. With eight oarsmen and a coxswain to each combination Coach Rice will have thirty-six athletes from which to choose.

Accompanying the athletes will be a miscellaneous assortment of helpers, camp dignitaries and boatmen. There will be two coaches, Rice and Fred Miller, the freshman mentor; two launch runners, two cooks, one boatman, three managers, one waiter and one trainer in the person of Gus Peterson. "Doc" Barrett's assistant and wrestling coach.

The Columbia University Club has announced plans for a special train to the regatta for Blue and White alumni, undergraduates, Faculty members and their friends. The train will leave this city about noon on June 23 and arrive opposite Poughkeepsie in time to make connections with the observation train near the finish line. After the last race the train will return promptly to New York. It will be run over the West Shore Railroad, leaving from Hoboken.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, MAY 30, 1923.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Observance of Memorial Day has now become world-wide. Our allies in the great war have not forgotten. "Since the Crusades," CARTON DE WIART, the Belgian Prime Minister, has said, "I do not know any enterprise that has done more honor to men than the intervention of America in the war. The children of the United States who fell are entitled more than our own children to the everlasting gratitude of those for whom moral law exists." It is in this spirit that the French will repair today to cemeteries in which American soldiers lie under white crosses, to cover their graves with flowers and hold exercises in which the heart speaks of the tie that binds the two nations. At the Suresnes ceremony a year ago a chorus of French orphans sang in English, after many days of instruction, "The Star-Spangled Banner" in the presence of 10,000 people. France, "the Joan of Arc of nations," does not forget. The grave of every American soldier in her territory will be honored today. Her own Jour des Morts is in November.

There are American soldier dead in English graves, men who succumbed to wounds in passing through the country and whose people were willing that they should lie in the soil of the friendly ally. Tribute is paid to all of them with wreaths and flowers. At the Aldershot cemetery the Guards sound the "Last Post." At Warsaw the graves of American aviators of the Kosciusko Squadron are decorated. Wherever an American soldier is buried in a country that was our ally in the war Memorial Day is observed for him and the flag is displayed. What patriotic American can fail today in his duty to honor our dead who fell in the great war when he thinks of the tenderness and loyalty of our allies?

Three years after the Civil War the 30th of May was chosen for memorial exercises, because Spring is then most lavish of her flowers and the day is usually "so cool, so calm, so bright" that nature seems to be in harmony with the reverent spirit of the occasion. "The season," it has been said, "brings its tribute to the scene, pays its homage to the dead, inspires the living." Yet we are not far enough in time from the great convulsion that almost wrecked the world, and the civilization that the United States and its allies were to save is still laboring so heavily in the ground swell of the conflict that the serenity and resignation that should mark Memorial Day are more in the hope than in the realization. The full peace and security of an ordered society that we fought for are still to be attained. Memorial Day should be a dedication to that purpose as well as a mourning for and a pride in the brave men who laid down their lives for humanity and the cause of liberty and progress. The good in mankind and not the base will eventually emerge from the ordeal. "I love to believe," said JAMES A. GARFIELD in a Memorial Day address at Arlington, "that no heroic sacrifice is ever lost, that the characters of men are molded and inspired by what their fathers have done."

THAT "POLITICAL" WORLD COURT.

Senator BORAH, with the air of a man scoring heavily, waves the fact that the Permanent Court of International Justice undertakes to give advice to the League of Nations. What is actually meant is that the Court will give its opinion in regard to the proper interpretation of a treaty when asked to do so by the League. So it will in the case of any Government, or of any party before the Court, when so requested. Plainly this does not imply that the League has any sort of supervisory power over the Court. The latter's independence is absolutely guaranteed. The facts were accurately stated by Secretary HUGHES when he wrote to President HARDING:

> It is an establishment separate from the League, having a distinct legal status resting upon the protocol and statute. It is organized and acts in accordance with judicial standards, and its decisions are not controlled or subject to review by the League of Nations.

Another assertion often made is that the World Court is certain to function, not as a judicial body, but as a political organization. The meaning is that the various Judges will vote as their own Governments direct them to do. This is an aspersion upon the character of the Judges, 'sworn as they are to do impartial justice, and it is happily refuted by one of the decisions which the International Court has already made. It was in the case between France and Great Britain having to do with the claims of certain British subjects resident in the French zone of Morocco. The French Government maintained that the matter was one of domestic jurisdiction, but agreed to submit the question to the World Court. The Court heard the argument and decided that the matter was not one of internal government. This decision went against the French contention, but it is instructive to note that it was a unanimous decision, the French Judge agreeing with his colleagues against his own Government. So much for the assumed dread that the World Court will be subject to "political" control.

THE POLISH CABINET.

The probable direction of Polish internal politics in the near future is suggested by the Cabinet crisis which has culminated in the formation of a new Government under former Premier WITOS, leader of the moderate farmer party. SIKORSKI, former Chief of Staff, formed a non-political Ministry last December, just after the excitement of the first Presidential election and just before the assassination of President NARUTOWICZ, to carry on until feelings cooled off and the formation of a parliamentary Ministry should be possible. But this change was long delayed in consequence of the elections which had left the lower house divided almost equally between the united Conservatives and a left wing divided into many groups, but almost always able to unite in opposition to the Right; with the balance held by the strong bloc of national minorities, unsympathetic, to say the least, with the Polish State.

It was a dangerous situation which left the decision on almost every parliamentary issue to this minority group; and the solution has come in the only possible way. The moderate farmer party (Piast) of WITOS has again become, as it was now and then during the provisional régime after the war, virtually a centre party in political action as it has always been in political theory. SIKORSKI's Cabinet, which apparently hoped to hold on with the support of the Right and the Piasts, was finally overturned by the adverse vote of Conservatives, Piasts and the national minorities. But the Conservatives alone were helpless; Piasts and minorities would have voted against them. Without WITOS they could do nothing; but in collaboration with WITOS they can at least have a share in the Government. So WITOS forms a new Cabinet, which can count on a majority of some twenty or thirty votes even without support of the minority bloc.

This is the only political combination which in the present temper of the Polish electorate seems capable of a coherent and sustained policy. As in every coalition, that policy has to be in part one of compromise. The Conservatives must be less conservative, WITOS more conservative, than before. The first result is the secession of the more radical wing of the WITOS party—two of his 17 Senators and 14 of his 70 Deputies—who have organized as a separate group under the leadership of DOMBSKI, known abroad for his negotiation of the Treaty of Riga. But this removal of an inharmonious element can only strengthen the new coalition; and it is likely to mean that Mr. WITOS's followers hereafter will be a centre group leaning toward the right instead of a left group leaning toward the centre.

THE INDUSTRIALISTS TO THE RESCUE.

"Give us a free hand and agree never again to tax us, and we will get you out of the mess you are in." This, baldly put, is the offer of the German industrialists to the Cuno Government. Having spent countless paper marks in obtaining control of properties and factories throughout Germany, and having, through their association with the Government, made enormous sums through the rise and fall of the mark, these gentlemen now offer to pay Germany about $300,000,000 annually, it being understood that they will henceforth be exempt from Government control and regulation. In other words, having profited enormously by Germany's collapse, they now wish to be assured unrestricted future profits out of Germany's reconstruction. Not for them is the risk of an increase in taxation or a capital levy. This might cut down their big surpluses. Today, while the Government is weakest, they wish to purchase immunity on excellent terms.

The conditions which they seek to impose will, of course, be refused. No self-respecting Government could accept them, even under pressure such as will be brought to bear on Chancellor CUNO. More significant than these conditions, however, is the fact that the industrialists are at last making a definite offer to shoulder a part of their share of the burden. Ultimately they will have to take it all over, for in their hands is most of the productive wealth of Germany. In what form the pledges can best be made is not yet known. The Belgian proposal is said to contemplate the creation of monopolies of different commodities or industries, operated by syndicates in which the Allies will be represented. Wine and beer would form one, tobacco another, the railroads another, &c. Probably there would also be a potash and a steel syndicate. It is clear that the German industrialists, foreseeing that they may have to submit to some such plan, are anxious to conclude an arrangement with their own Government which will assure them the chances of the greatest profits with the smallest responsibilities.

In Germany itself the offer has been criticised because it gives to the industrialists advantages altogether out of proportion to what they concede. In other words, if properly taxed and supervised, the industrialists can produce and hand over to the German Government for reparations payments much larger sums than they now offer. Their demand that they be freed of the eight-hour day restriction has also been criticised on the ground that, together with the other restrictions which they ask to have removed, this would give them virtually complete control of the German labor market.

Despite its exorbitant stipulations, however, the present offer embodies the essential idea of definite pledges by the business men of Germany for the fulfillment of Germany's obligations. When the industrialists come to the Government and say, "We are at your service; we will help you out of the hole," instead of saying, "You are at our mercy; give us what we want and we will pay you a pittance," the solution will be close at hand.

LOVES OF THE LABORITES.

Directly after the British ultimatum to the Russian Soviets the Labor Party in England showed great concern in behalf of its brother-workers in Russia. Protests and pronunciamentos followed thick and fast, and it looked at one time as if Mr. RAMSAY MACDONALD thought of taking the whole negotiation out of the hands of Lord CURZON. The effect of this activity was seen in one statement of the Soviet reply, namely, that it was gratifying to find that "the people of England" were opposed to harsh measures directed against the Moscow Government. The Labor Party had previously sought to demonstrate its friendly feelings for the Russian proletariat and sent a delegation to report on the workings of the Soviet millennium. But these British workmen, going to bless, came away only to curse most of what they had seen. A similarly sudden affection for the Germans in the Ruhr led to the dispatch of another British Labor delegation to that region. But it returned rather more anti-German than it went.

Commenting on this love of the Labor Party for people about whom it knows little, and who dwell in remote parts of the earth, The London Morning Post suggests that Mr. MACDONALD send agents to investigate the Island of Saghalien, concerning which the Labor leaders in Parliament have been much exercised. It is certain, gravely argues the newspaper cited, that the Labor Party would be intensely interested in the Gilyaks, the Ainus, the Yakuts and the Orochons, who constitute the bulk of the inhabitants of Saghalien. Moreover, in that island it appears that the doctrines of communism have been carried further than even in Russia. The natives have lost the art of writing, but are understood to be deeply grounded in the philosophy of KARL MARX. But it is in their Parliament that, according to The Morning Post, they have made the greatest progress. "Their parliamentary language consists entirely of curses, and each session ends with a general massacre." The point of this sarcasm lies, of course, in its suggestion of the violent scenes in the House of Commons brought on by Mr. NEWBOLD, Mr. KIRKWOOD and other uproarious followers whom Mr. RAMSAY MACDONALD tries in vain to suppress or keep in order.

BAPTIST FUNDAMENTALS.

Fundamentalists seem to derive their name from their lack of interest in the fundamentals of Christianity and their passionate addiction to odds and ends of dogma borrowed from other religions. This is particularly true in the Baptist Church, of which the history has been little more than variations on the theme of liberty for the individual conscience and the individual congregation. Like other religious bodies, the Baptists have sometimes been more concerned for the rights of minorities when they were in the minority than when they got on top; yet the beginnings of Baptist history in the United States are also the beginnings of that complete religious tolerance which eventually was universally accepted in principle, though it is not even yet outrusively evident in practice.

All that needs to be said of the action of the Northern Baptist Convention in its meetings this year and last is that it is living up to the tradition of Roger WILLIAMS. In gratifying contrast with the two other great denominations whose recent assemblies have shown that the struggle between liberty and obscurantism in their membership is still undecided, the Baptists seem to be determined to set their faces forward, at least north of Mason and Dixon's Line. The reiterated attempt to impose a creed failed disastrously.

It ought to be plain, though evidently it is not even to all Baptists, that this "victory of the liberals" imposes not the slightest restraint upon the belief or practice of the adherents of old-time orthodoxy. If there is any principle that is fundamental in Baptist polity, it is the autonomy of the individual congregation. Other Churches may refuse fellowship, if they like; but they can do no more, and in practice they hardly ever do even that. Congregations inclined to so-called fundamentalist doctrine are free to go in for it. The "liberals" will not stand in their way; all that the liberals ask is that the road be left open for those who want to go ahead.

THE ST. LOUIS RING-BREAKER.

Twenty-odd years ago the Missouri Democracy slept in peace while the professional politicians parceled out the offices. "A yaller dog is better than a Republican" had long been their lofty motto. In 1894 a young Tennessee lawyer named FOLK settled in St. Louis, whose Municipal Government for perhaps half a century had been run on the principle of "What is there in this for me?" In 1900 the so-called "Indians," henchmen of the famous millionaire boss, Colonel "ED" BUTLER, had the City Government under their thumbs. A Circuit Prosecutor was to be elected. The office was safe in the hands of a Republican who never thought of interfering with the pecuniary diversions of "the boys." Some "Indian" recommended FOLK, who would serve to give a glaze of "respectability" to the ticket. He didn't want the nomination, but said that if elected he would "go after" the boodlers.

No "Indian" believed him or supposed he would be elected. But he was, and set to work as soon as he got into office. He prosecuted the election frauds committed by members of his own party. He broke up the "straw bond" system. In 1902 came his great achievement, then familiar to a nation to which it now seems almost incredible. For years a "combine" in the House of Delegates, the lower branch, and the Council, the higher branch, of the city legislature had controlled legislation, selling or withholding votes for money. In one case twenty-five out of twenty-eight members took bribes of $8,000 apiece. Members of the Council got salaries of $5,000 a year from the street railways, besides fat miscellaneous bribes. FOLK got indictments from the Grand Jury, sent some twenty defendants to the penitentiary, pursued the corruptionists in the State Legislature, forced the Lieutenant Governor to resign.

This was his chief work, done in his early thirties. It made him Governor in 1904, though Mr. ROOSEVELT carried the State; and a considerable body of reform legislation was passed in his Administration. He had to yield to CHAMP CLARK in 1912; Missouri couldn't support two Democratic candidates for President. Thereafter he was sporadically "mentioned." In 1918 he did a public service by beating a pro-German candidate in the Missouri Senatorial primaries. For five years previously he served under Mr. WILSON's Administration as Solicitor for the State Department and as chief counsel for the Interstate Commerce Commission. Like so many others, he was an "inheritor of unfulfilled political renown." He did far more for reform by hunting the Missouri grafters than by any of the more or less speculative reforms which he favored in his later years. He was a prosecuting attorney who got indictments and convictions instead of contenting himself with virtuous talk to the public.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Only One Man at One Time Has Been Trapped.

Another exposure as a clumsy juggler of a man who pretends to be a medium through which spirits of the dead manifest their presence to the living has been added by The Scientific American to the thousands of like exposures already made. It was done in a somewhat new way by the use of hidden electrical devices, and is entirely conclusive—entirely so, that is, as regards this particular man at particular seances.

Upon such believers as Sir ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE and the army of less distinguished and less intelligent votaries of spiritism these revelations of trickery will have no effect whatever, and, indeed, there is no logical reason why they should. It still is possible to say that the exposure of one fraudulent medium tells nothing with certainty about the hundreds and thousands of other mediums who have not been exposed, and it even can be denied that this particular man always cheats, though it has been proved that he sometimes does.

What The Scientific American has accomplished, therefore, is as yet little if anything more than the saving of the money prizes offered by it for the convincing presentation of phenomena inexplicable except as resulting from the exercise of psychic or spiritistic powers. It is unlikely that other mediums whose "manifestations" are of the same kind as VALENTINE'S will risk their reputations—and their livelihoods—by submitting themselves to the investigation of observers who command the resources of modern science and are willing as well as able to use them.

This is a regrettable consequence of Mr. HOUDINI'S hurry to convince his jeering friends that he was not such a "simpleton" as to be taken in by tricks that any professional "magician" could duplicate and improve upon. Except for that, probably half a dozen Valentines could have been exposed, and the impressiveness of the disclosures would have been greater.

Another Kind of Spiritism.

Mediums of the wiser and higher sort do not juggle with tin horns and other musical instruments, they do not produce "materializations" of the dead—in short, they do not appeal to ears or eyes at all. They keep within the safe domain of trance speaking, automatic writing and a few more closely related activities of the subconscious.

There not only are they secure from the investigator with an electric battery or the rough fellow who, when a spirit hand touches him in the dark, seizes and holds it till the lights can be turned up, though he has been told most solemnly that such behavior endangers the materializer's life.

Quite different is the trance medium or the automatic writer. Not only may either of them sincerely believe, as many or most of them do, that they are only transmitting agents or channels for the "communications" that come; there is no possible way to prove that the written or spoken words are not from spirits, and from the very spirits that claim to send them. Of course, the psychologists do not believe this and have a wholly different explanation of these messages, but there is no absolute necessity for accepting their theory.

If The Scientific American invades this field, its electrical traps will be of no service to it, and while it may run across an exploiter of the unconscious who is dishonest and can be proved so, the chances are that it will be brought up helpless between two contradictory assertions, each about as well supported as the other and neither susceptible of conclusive denial.

"Continental" Joys in America.

News of the success achieved by the St. George's Parish Party Committees in planning and conducting an outdoor festival this month in Stuyvesant Square and Sixteenth Street has spread far, and now other churches are asking for information about it and purposing themselves to hold like "functions." The Churchman has admitted to its columns an enthusiastic description of St. George's "party," in which something like 5,000 young folk—they all seemed to be young that night—danced and sang and looked at movie pictures and evidently enjoyed themselves vastly as well as quite innocently. Pious people whose ideas of churchly activities were formed many years ago might be inclined to view a little askance the "worldliness" of these amusements—to be startled, if not shocked, by seeing a leaflet in which Dr. RHLAND commended the "party" under the heading of "God and a Good Time." If any were present on the great night, however, they must have been convinced that it was all right. It was a notable fact, too, that the Friends Meeting House, almost across the street from St. George's, was decorated with lights as evidence of approval and of participation in the festivities. Of disorder among the dancing multitudes no trace was to be seen. There was some oversight of the crowds, but the overseers had nothing to do, and the only policemen present were the members of the police band, who supplied part of the music.

A Cry for Help From Westchester.

From several parts of Westchester County come affrighting tales of trees completely denuded of their new Spring leaves by a plague of caterpillars. In some of the reports they are called army worms and in others the more terrible gypsy moth is charged with producing them, but there is no doubt of their obnoxious presence in unusual and even enormous numbers, and they are doing a lot of damage in wide areas of the county.

Particularly are they causing grief by their voracious assault upon the young trees planted around the municipal reservoirs—trees which, if they escape this and other dangers, will become in not many years fine forests. To have them killed or even stunted would be a shame as well as a misfortune, for the precious trees can be protected if care and intelligence are used—and used betimes.

The sprayers and the burners cannot get to work on the invaders too soon. In New Hampshire, today, representatives of the Agricultural Department are to try what can be done in the war on tree-killing insects and diseases by scattering the proper poisons from what in another war was called a "blimp"—a motor-driven balloon, properly equipped.

Why New Hampshire and not New York, especially as the "blimp" to be used near Concord was made in this State?

And if the Boy Scouts, every time they see a worm's nest in a tree, take pains to destroy it, they will be both teachers of their elders and benefactors of the public, including themselves.

Advantages in National Guard.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I point out the advantages of joining a National Guard regiment, and in particular the Seventy-first Infantry, New York National Guard?

The first is a two weeks' vacation with pay, beginning July 15. A man gets training in shooting with rifle, pistol, one-pounder and trench mortar; he has all the joys of camp life and doesn't pay a cent, in fact gets paid from $1 a day up according to his rank.

Then when he returns to the armory he has his clubroom, library, gymnasium, bowling alleys and billiard room, all of which are free to members of the regiment.

If a man is interested in track athletics Mr. Bernie Wefers, the famous coach, will train him, or, if he prefers boxing and wrestling, there is an instructor for both of these. Last but not least, a man makes many friends, friends that last a lifetime.

The Howitzer Company needs some good recruits. I shall be at the armory, Thirty-fourth Street and Park Avenue, every Tuesday and Friday night from 7:30 on and should be glad to talk things over with any eligible men. JACK G. HARLO, Captain Howitzer Co., 71st Inf., N.Y.N.G.

'MIRACLE OF CANA' PAINTING

George Bellows Defends Artist's Right to Rebuke Prohibitionists.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your issue of Friday, May 25, you carry the news of the decision of Justices Daniel F. Murphy and Henry W. Herbert and the dissenting opinion of Justice Clarence Edwards in the case against the Secretary of Independent Artists for exhibiting a certain painting in the exhibition of this year.

To me it is the most amazing contravention of the fundamental basis of this country's Government that has come under my personal notice for a long time. The picture aroused no question of morals, of vulgarity or of inciting to riot. The anger aroused seems to be and the case itself could only be religious in background and basis.

The decision of the Court therefore joins definitely the Church and the State. It is in this country an illegal act to treat merely unconventionally the dogmas of the Christian religion. The artist in this case—with however little of charm or power, of good taste or wit, is beside the point—says just this and only this: The miracle of Cana has it that Christ created wine for the consumption of the wedding guests, and that the position of Mr. Volstead, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Bryan, had they been present, would have been to empty the wine flasks and rebuke the maker thereof. A simple cartoon idea. It is supposed to be possible, I believe, to state that one is convinced that the Eighteenth Amendment should be rescinded by due process of law.

What a horrible mess the various kinds of busybodies are always making to reform people by the whip, to create goodness by force.

The Society of Independent Artists, as you know, is an organization based on the idea of furnishing a public market place in which artists may display their works freely and of their own will without the intervention of any kind of academic authority. As such it serves a high and useful purpose. The Secretary and Directors, however, are put in the position of being responsible to the law, and at the same time the law is as imponderable as the vagaries of the minds which administer it.

GEORGE BELLOWS,
Vice Chairman, League of American Artists, Inc.

Soldiers and Sailors' Club.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Believing as we do that "the best monument to the dead is service for the living," we are asking at this time of Memorial Day for contributions to the Soldiers and Sailors' Club of New York, where we are carrying on a work which may well appeal to all patriotic citizens.

In no way would I wish to detract from the sentiment of floral remembrance and decoration of the graves of our glorious war dead, but at the same time I feel certain that these men, could they be consulted, would urge us all to hold high the torch of remembrance by a greater service to their comrades, both men in active service and those in the Government hospitals, who are at all times welcome in this club.

During the past year we have had an attendance of over 63,000 men, have served more than 38,000 meals in the canteen and more than 16,000 men have slept at the club. The club is partially self-sustaining, but it is largely dependent on the public for its continuance. General Robert Lee Bullard, in command of the Second Corps Area, and Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, in command of the Third Naval District, heartily endorse the work as helping to maintain the morale of the soldiers, sailors and marines on leave or in service in the city.

Checks should be made payable to Reine Martin, Treasurer, and sent to him at the club, 261 Madison Avenue.

MRS. FRANCIS ROGERS,
President, Soldiers and Sailors' Club.
New York, May 28, 1923.

A Historical Coincidence.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

On the fifth of June, 1723, Adam Smith was born at Kirkcaldy, Scotland. In the year 1776 he published his now famous "Inquiry Into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations."

The year 1776 was also the year of the publication of the American Declaration of Independence. In three years we shall celebrate the sesquicentennial anniversary of that event. The publication of these two documents which have had such great, far-reaching and significant consequences in the world's history was, of course, a coincidence merely. To us, Americans, the celebration of the anniversary of both historical events should not remain a mere coincidence.

The fifth of June, this year, is but three weeks away; yet there should be time enough to plan an appropriate program in commemoration of the birth of the famous man whom many consider the founder of the science of political economy.

Would Have Traded Leviathan.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read the letter in your columns by Mr. Dillard of Norfolk, Va., regarding the Government's extravagances in fitting out the Leviathan.

My idea has always been that we should have traded the Leviathan to the Germans for buildings in Berlin and elsewhere in Germany for accommodation of our Ambassador and various Consuls, and for a pier at Hamburg for our Shipping Board freighters.

But what can you expect when an advertising man is placed at the head of the Shipping Board? CIVIL ENGINEER.

SOLDIERS.

Up from the sea a sweeping wind is springing,
Waking our hearts to memories of love—
Love at its best, its tolling torches bringing Vistas of endless peace for which they strove.

Sleep, soldiers, sleep,
Nor sigh for tasks unfinished;
Wine with the gods—
The world is yours today!

Wake not if war should o'er the land come creeping;
New hands will lift your banner, draw your sword;
Swift feet will guard the sod above your sleeping—
Keep it as 'twere the Garden of the Lord.

Wake not in peace, when quiet firesides brighten;
Only remember life is but a day;
Look from the bar of heaven—see it lighten,
The splendid dawn of friendship from your fray!

The world forgets, and, steeped in careless living,
Smothers its soul in folly and in foam;
But to the little lives you still are giving
Courage that cuts the pathway to a home.

Still keep your deeds like altar fires before us,
Breathe on our souls the message of your strife;
We are but men—yet with your valor store us,
That we may be the soldiers of our life.

JOHN HAY ON DISARMAMENT.

He Wrote From Vienna in 1868 Urging Need of Simultaneous Action

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Advocates of disarmament might well include in their campaign literature the following passage from a dispatch of John Hay's, addressed to Mr. Seward on Feb. 5, 1868. Colonel Hay at the time was our Charge d'Affaires at Vienna, keeping warm the seat Mr. Motley, Minister to Austria, had recently quitted over an official communication from the Secretary of State:

> The great calamity and danger of Europe today are these enormous armaments. No honest statesman can say that he sees in the present attitude of politics the necessity of war. No great power is threatened. There is no menace to peace that could not be immediately dispelled by a firm protest of the peacefully disposed majority of nations. There would be, therefore, no danger to any people, but a vast and immediate gain to all, from a general disarmament. It need not be simultaneous. It is idle to say that France fears an invasion from Prussia or Prussia from France, and an honest understanding among the Western nations would keep the peace from the Eastern side.
> Why, then, is this awful waste of youth and treasure continued? I believe from no other motive than to sustain the waning prestige of Kings. Armies are today only useful in Europe to overcome the people in peace, or by groundless wars to divert their attention from domestic misrule. With the disappearance of great armies, the welfare of the people would become the only mainspring of national action, and that false and wicked equilibrium by which now the interests of one man weigh as heavily as those of millions of his fellow-creatures would be utterly destroyed.

Hay's apparent failure to see the imminence of the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 in no wise invalidates the soundness of his view on the subject of disarmament, but tends rather to confirm it. Had not Napoleon III. and Bismarck been devotees of the sword, with hundreds of thousands of armed and trained backers, that war need never have been fought. But how could a general disarmament be effected otherwise than simultaneously?

FIRST AID KITS ON TRAINS.

Passenger Finds No Provision Made in New York State for Accidents.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While riding from New York to New Haven last evening on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad a very deplorable fact was forcibly brought to my attention. At one of the stations a trainman had the misfortune to have two fingers crushed when a vestibule door was accidentally slammed shut on them. When he sought first aid the fact was brought to light that the train did not contain a single emergency or first aid kit. It just happened that there was a doctor aboard who had some pieces of gauze and a weak antiseptic with him, wholly inadequate for the case.

I learned from the conductor that the State of Massachusetts, as well as many other States, has a law requiring every train to have at least one emergency kit aboard. To my mind, the mere fact that New York State has not a law of this nature is not sufficient reason for trains to run inadequately equipped, as it is obvious that the trains and the people on them are liable to accidents between New York City and Hartford, where the first aid supplies are taken on to comply with the Massachusetts law.

Evolution and Modern Science.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Let me thank you for your excellent editorial in yesterday's TIMES entitled, "An Innocent at Indianapolis." I would even go further than you do when you say: "But if [evolution] is and will long remain, so far as now can be seen, the tacit implication and the master guiding principle of all modern scientific efforts to extend the bounds of knowledge."

It seems to me that if scientists were to discard the theory of evolution they would ipso facto throw on the scrap heap of outworn thought the whole vast structure of deductive reasoning which science has reared during the centuries. The idea of evolution has been imminent, whether consciously or not, in all the work that modern philosophy has done during the past four hundred years in correlating and giving a meaning to the facts so laboriously gathered by science.

For the idea of evolution is nothing more than the affirmation, in scientific terms, of the indisputable fact that life is a process of growth and decay; that human and subhuman life on this planet, and cosmic life in general, has evolved from one form and is evolving into another.

So long as science maintains her present unhampered and commanding position in western civilization so long will she continue to use evolution as the instrument (or at any rate the chief instrument) by which to unravel the world-riddle of existence.

Pleads for New York Trees.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A party of tourists from Illinois has driven 4,500 miles through Gulf and South Atlantic States during the past five weeks, returning north through Washington, D. C., New Jersey, New York and Connecticut. Of all this country we have passed through none has surpassed in beauty of vegetation and scenery that which we saw today when we crossed the Hudson by ferry to Tarrytown, driving from that town past the New York water supply preserves, to New Haven over almost perfect roads.

But one defect marred the entrancing beauty of the landscape upon which we feasted our eyes, one drawback to the deep content and restfulness of the day's experience; at very frequent intervals by the wayside, in trees, already dead or dying, appeared caterpillars' nests without number.

This condition would seem to a passing observer to be a serious one. In view of the great damage to fruit as well as shade trees and in view of the benefit which would accrue to the owner of the trees, as well as the public, by destruction of these pests, would it be out of reason to require each property owner to see that these conditions are remedied before the trouble spreads further? May I, as one who has had an impartial view of existing conditions, enter a plea for the preservation of the trees? S. P. A.

Upshaw's Attack on New York.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The denunciation by Representative Upshaw of New York's attitude toward the Volstead act, reported in today's TIMES, is a fine example of impudence and effrontery. For a Congressman from Georgia, who winks at the violations of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the Constitution, who is a beneficiary of nullification and lawlessness—for such a Congressman to preach to the people of New York—it is to laugh!

Representative Upshaw can find what he charges, namely, "serious encouragement toward nullification of our Constitution," right in his own State, in his own district and in his own city of Atlanta. He will also find more intemperance there in proportion to the population than he will find in New York. ROBT. K. JOHNSTON.

HEROES OF 3 WARS TO HONOR THE DEAD

G. A. R. in Chief Place Among Eleven Divisions of Memorial Day Parade.

BRITISH VETERANS TO JOIN

'Drummer Boy of Shiloh' to Review Marchers—Two Statues to Be Unveiled.

Eleven divisions, drawn from the fighting ranks of three wars, will swing up Riverside Drive this morning at 9 o'clock from Seventy-second Street to Ninety-second Street, in tribute to comrades mustered out by death. Throughout the city, soldiers, sailors and civilians will join in remembering the war dead of '61, '98 and '18.

"The 'thin blue line' is still the greatest in traditional reverence and patriotic romanticism, and the American Legion can well afford to fall in behind, giving preference and honor to the men of '61," said the Legion in an announcement yesterday. "Wherever possible, a veteran of the Civil War should be selected as marshal, and parade formations should be so planned as to allow the G. A. R. the position of honor. We have little time left in which to honor these men who stood ready to give their all that the slavery of a people might be ended. Make this Memorial Day one of lively, vital patriotism. Let us keep untarnished the glorious deeds of soldiers gone before, keeping alive the sentiment that will still breathe on when the khaki line thins out and our children and their children glorify that day."

Henry J. Kearney will be Grand Marshal and the parade will pass in review at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, Eighty-ninth Street and the Drive. The Veteran Corps of Artillery and the Old Guard will be on duty at the stand, in which will be Governor Smith, Mayor Hylan and a host of city officials. Major Gen. John L. Clem, U. S. A., retired, "the drummer boy of Shiloh," will also review the parade.

Leading the line will be a battalion of regulars with the band from the U. S. S. Wyoming. Next will come the troops of the New York National Guard and the New York Guard. In this division, commanded by Brig. Gen. George R. Dyer, will be the Seventy-first Infantry, 165th Infantry, 107th Infantry, 369th Infantry, Ninth Coast Defense Command, 212th Artillery, 102d Engineers, 102d Medical Regiment, 104th Field Artillery, 101st Signal Battalion, Fifty-first Machine Gun Squadron and Twenty-seventh Division Special Troops. The Naval Militia will comprise the Second Division and then will come the G. A. R., with Farragut Naval Post No. 516 in the fore. Next in line will be the Spanish War Veterans, followed by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, Military Order of the World War, and in a division, all to themselves, the Marine Veterans of Belleau Wood. The boy scouts will march as a divisional unit. The last in line will be cadet corps and girl scouts.

Eight divisions will march in the Bronx parade, which is scheduled to get under way at 10:30 o'clock, moving north on the east side driveway of the Grand Concourse from 161st Street. George Gade will be Grand Marshal. Borough President Henry Bruckner and other borough officials will review at Bush Street. The parade will disband at Kingsbridge Road.

In addition, the Bronx will unveil a memorial statue at Washington Bridge and University Avenue at 2 o'clock. The statue bears the names of twenty-one Highbridge soldiers who died in the World War. The speakers will be United States Senator Copeland, Borough President Bruckner and Congressman Frank Oliver.

Members of the British Great War Veterans of America, scheduled to march from their clubhouse, 125 East Thirty-eighth Street, to participate in the Riverside Drive parade, will entrain later for Oyster Bay to decorate the grave of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. The organization yesterday dispatched a cable to London asking that the main units of the association decorate the graves of Americans in the British Isles.

A message from President Harding will be read at the services at Flag Pole Green, Forest Hills, L. I., at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The observance will be in charge of Forest Hills Post, No. 630, of the American Legion. Robert W. Bonynge is to speak.

A feature of the Memorial Day celebration in Westchester County will be the placing of a mammoth wreath of sprays sent from President Harding and almost every Governor in the Union upon the monument to the two unknown Revolutionary soldiers whose bones were recently disinterred at Tuckahoe. President Harding sent a spray from one of the old trees in the White House grounds. Governors from more than twenty States sent sprays cut from trees and shrubs in the Capitol grounds.

Owsley Asks Homage to War Heroes.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 29.—The splendor of the sacrifices of America's war dead were recalled today by Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, in a proclamation urging the nation to pay homage to its heroes in a fitting commemoration on Memorial Day.

Commander Owsley said:

75,000 SEE JUBILEE ON ALDERMANIC DAY

Mayor of Allentown, Pa., Hails New York as World Leader—Ticket Fraud Foiled.

Seventy-five thousand persons attended the city's Silver Jubilee Exposition yesterday, according to an estimate made last night by Commissioner of Correction Frederick A. Wallis, Chairman of the Ticket Sales Committee. Mr. Wallis said that 50,000 tickets at 50 cents each were sold and that, in addition, 25,000 school children were admitted free. Mr. Wallis predicted that in a few days the daily attendance would be averaging 100,000.

Yesterday was Aldermanic Day, and Murray Hulbert, President of the Board of Aldermen, spoke briefly in the evening. Mr. Hulbert said that his experience in Congress had caused him to know that there was a great deal of prejudice against New York City throughout the country. "This prejudice is not founded on ignorance, as is often stated, but on misinformation," he said. "An educational exposition such as this will give correct information concerning New York, its advantages and activities."

Mr. Hulbert asked his hearers to look at the exhibit in the Board of Aldermen's headquarters, which showed the disproportionate representation of the city in the State Senate and Assembly. "Why should we not have home rule?" he added. "When you go through the building and observe the wonderful display of what the city is doing, may it not stimulate action on your part as good citizens to assure a fuller measure of home rule to guard what you have and to extend your accomplishments in the future?"

The school children, who visited the exposition in the morning, seemed greatly pleased. Groups from several schools gave calisthenic drills. A delegation of school children will be taken to the exposition every morning.

Visit Goes Off Without a Hitch.

"We had 25,000 children as visitors and they visited the four floors without a hitch," said Commissioner of Plant and Structures Grover A. Whalen, head of the exposition. "This seems to indicate that we will be able to handle very large crowds in a short while. The children were delighted with the show and the teachers seemed to think that their pupils would benefit educationally from their visits."

Mr. Whalen addressed the members of the Advertising Club at luncheon at their home at 47 East Twenty-fifth Street. A wireless message from G. Harold Vernon, Secretary of the Thirty Club of London, now on board the liner Berengaria, due here on Friday, accepted an invitation to visit the exposition. Members of the club, at the invitation of Mr. Whalen, will tour the harbor on municipal boats.

Three hundred boys from Allentown, Pa., called upon Mayor Hylan yesterday and presented a congratulatory message from Mayor M. W. Gross of Allentown. After visiting the exposition in the afternoon the boys were the guests of Eddie Dowling at the performance of "Sally, Irene and Mary" at the Century Theatre in the evening. In his message Mayor Gross said:

"The City of Allentown, Pa., sends greetings on this, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the incorporation of Greater New York. We congratulate you on the wonderful progress you have made. From the foremost city of the Western Hemisphere you have become the greatest city in the world."

The Police Band and the Police Glee Club were leading attractions at the exposition. The Police Band was on duty both afternoon and evening. The glee club gave a concert in the evening.

Firemen Give Display.

The Municipal Band furnished music on the Park Avenue plaza. Members of the Fire Department gave a demonstration of rescue work on a four-story structure erected in the centre of the park space. Methods of using scaling and extension ladders were shown.

Commissioner Whalen issued a warning against the purchase of an alleged jubilee souvenir program offered for sale on the streets for 25 cents, half the price charged for the official program. The official program is a book of 300 pages, handsomely illustrated and with pictures of the City Hall and the Hall of Records on the cover.

Mr. Whalen said that an attempt to sell forged tickets was frustrated. Information concerning an order for such tickets came from a printing firm which undertook the work in good faith and then became suspicious. Mr. Whalen said the man who gave the printing firm the order was evidently not in good health, and had been placed in a Brooklyn hospital for observation.

Special Memorial Day exercises will be held at the exposition today, which has been designated officially as Veterans' Day. General William Griffith Patten, Past National Commander of the Union Veteran Legion and Chairman of the Memorial and Executive Committee of the Kings County Grand Army of the Republic, will preside. Representatives of the United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of the Foreign Wars of the United States and the American Legion will participate.

NOT A HYLAN FETE, HE SAYS

Whalen Denies Jubilee Is to Advertise Present Administration.

Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, yesterday denied that the purpose of the City's Silver Jubilee Exposition was to advertise Mayor Hylan's Administration.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Advertising Club of New York, at 47 East Twenty-fifth Street, he said that the progress of the city during the last quarter of a century is depicted at the exposition. He charged some newspapers with possessing a lack of civic patriotism for not giving sufficient publicity to the jubilee before the celebration began.

"We are not trying to advertise this Administration," the Commissioner said. "New York has grown in twenty-five years through the efforts of many administrations; not the effort solely of this Administration, although the progress has been great during the last five or six years."

Commissioner Whalen announced that Mayor Hylan will be glad to give the freedom of the city to the British advertising men who will arrive on Friday. The visitors will be the guests of the Advertising Club at a dinner Friday evening at the Hotel Pennsylvania, at which Julius H. Barnes, President of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be one of the speakers.

Mme. Greulich Sails June 6.

Mme. Slavko Greulich, wife of the former Serbian Minister at Washington, is booked to sail Wednesday, June 6, on the Paris for Europe. Mme. Greulich has completed the organization of a committee of prominent Americans, with General Tasker H. Bliss as Chairman, to establish a Summer home and clinic on the Dalmatian coast of Jugoslavia for children whose fathers were killed in the World War.

VISCOUNT CHAPLIN, SPORTSMAN, IS DEAD

HERO OF A TURF DRAMA

Elopement of His Fiancee With the Marquis of Hastings Had Its Sequel at the Derby.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 29.—Viscount Chaplin, last of Victorian men about town and sportsmen, died this morning at the home of his son-in-law, Lord Londonderry. He was 82 years old and had for forty-seven years been a member of Parliament, having held Cabinet offices under Salisbury and Balfour. He took a keen interest in politics to the last.

He will best be remembered as the hero of one of the classic stories of the turf. He was owner of Hermit, which won the Derby in 1867, not as is commonly alleged "in a snowstorm," but just after a snow flurry had swept over the course.

About three years before, Chaplin, then Sir Henry Chaplin, was engaged to Lady Florence Paget, but one day she left the hotel where she was stopping, went to a fashionable store and passing through it met at another door the Marquis of Hastings. He put her in a cab and they drove straight to St. George's, Hanover Square, where they were married.

Naturally there was ill-blood between Chaplin and Hastings, and it is alleged the latter did everything to depreciate Hermit's value in the market. As the Derby drew near the horse itself had a mishap, a month before the meeting breaking a blood vessel. But its trainer slept every night in its box and watched over it.

The odds quoted on the morning of the race were 100 to 1 against Hermit. Chaplin waited till the horses were actually at the starting point and then sent a commissioner along the line to take every bet at those odds he could lay. Hermit won easily. Chaplin is supposed to have cleared £100,000 and Hastings to have dropped £70,000.

WAR TOWNS IN ARMS OVER SALE OF HOMES

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 29.—Asserting that fair play was not given to tenants, a mass meeting of residents of Brooklawn, south of Camden, N. J., was held tonight when a variety of charges were made against Auctioneer Day, representing the Government. Brooklawn is one of the villages built during the war for shipyard workers from all sections of the country. Since the war many of the workers have continued to occupy the houses, although the great majority are not now working at the shipyards.

When it was learned that the Government intended to sell the houses, many of the occupants planned to buy. They charge now that bids offered at the sale were not entertained by the auctioneer and that speculators were favored. These speculators, tenants say, are now offering the houses at advances up to $600 over the sale price.

Many householders, unless they pay advanced prices, will be compelled to seek homes elsewhere. An association has been formed which plans to send a committee to Washington to put the facts before the President.

Joseph P. Day, replying to the charges made by tenants of Brooklawn, N. J., houses which he auctioned, said:

"I was selling the houses for the Government with the understanding that the Government should get the best prices possible for its property. Exceptions were made in cases where we had to be governed by common sense and mercy.

"When we knew that a tenant was a working man, who was trying to rear a large number of children we knocked his house down to him at a little less than the house would have sold for. There was a war veteran who said he had four children in the last three years, and when I asked him how it happened he said:

"'The second one was twins.'

"We had to let a Methodist minister have his house at a little less than we could have sold it for to another bidder. We tried to use sound judgment in extenuating cases."

J. R. Murphy, Vice President of Joseph P. Day, Inc., said that every effort was made to knock down the prices of Board houses at Brooklawn, N. J., to those tenants who desired to buy their homes. He denied that any favor was shown to speculators, and said that only a few operators bought the houses.

GIRLS' SERVICE CLUB GIFTS.

With $5,000 Just Sent by Edwin Gould, Only $11,500 Is Needed.

The Building Fund Committee of the Girls' Service Club announces that with the gift of $5,000 just received from Edwin Gould there remains to be raised for its new home, 136 East Nineteenth Street, only $11,500. Contributions may be addressed to the Treasurer, Mrs. George F. Baker Jr.

Other donations, beginning with an anonymous gift of $20,000 from a member of the Board of Directors, have been $7,500 from John D. Rockefeller Jr., $5,000 from the Milbank Memorial Fund, $3,500 from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Altschul, $2,500 from Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Ladd, $2,000 from Ernst Hoseneld, $1,500 from Mrs. George W. Perkins, and $1,000 each from George F. Baker Jr., Mrs. Edward W. Freeman, Henry S. Glasier, Mrs. Harold A. Hatch, Glenn Ford McKinney, Mortimer L. Schiff, Felix M. Warburg and the Altman Foundation.

BOODYS TO CELEBRATE.

HORACE M. KILBORN, RETIRED BANKER, DIES

Former Vice President of National City Bank—On Many Boards of Directors.

Horace M. Kilborn, retired banker, for many years a Vice President of the National City Bank, died yesterday at his home, 800 West End Avenue, of heart disease. He was 67 years old.

Mr. Kilborn came to New York when 16 years old with the ambition to become a lawyer, but obtained work as a runner in the old First Avenue Bank. Two years later he went to work for the National City Bank. Fourteen years before he retired, three years ago, he became a Vice President of that institution and at the time of his retirement he was senior Vice President.

In the panic of 1907 Mr. Kilborn headed the group of financiers whose cooperation eventually brought relief to the money markets. During the war he was active in Liberty loan campaigns, in one of which it is said he raised $10,000,000 in thirty-six hours.

Mr. Kilborn directed the construction of the present National City Bank Building at 55 Wall Street. He was a Director of the Tennessee Copper and Chemical Company, the Southern Agricultural Chemical Corporation and the Federal Sulphur Company. He formerly was a Director of the Paragon Films Company and the Tennessee Copper Company.

Henry J. Biesmeeke.

Henry J. Biesmeeke, formerly a general superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, with which he had been connected for forty years, and President of the Stevenson Real Estate Company of East Orange, died at his home in that city Monday night of heart disease. He was 67 years old. At one time he was a lessee of the Newark Velodrome and an owner of the Newark baseball club of the Eastern League. He is survived by his widow and one daughter.

AMERICAN COTTON CONVICTION STANDS

Court of Appeals Unanimously Affirms Verdict Against Exchange.

ACCUSED OF BUCKETING

Pecora Says Principle of Law Laid Down Will Aid in Fuller Prosecution.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Pecora received word from Albany last evening that the Court of Appeals had unanimously affirmed the conviction of the American Cotton Exchange, Broad and Beaver Streets, for permitting its members to bucket the orders of customers on the floor of the Exchange. The decision was handed down without an opinion, Mr. Pecora was informed by an attaché of the court.

The decision will have an important bearing on the indictments returned on March 31, 1922, against George W. Pratt, secretary and treasurer of the Exchange, and Edward L. Patton, Martin Gouiko, Randolph Rose, Raymond Palmer and Angelo T. Jennings, all of whom were directors at the time.

Witnesses testified at the trial that members engaged in "cross-trading" of customers' orders on the floor and that nothing was done by the officers of the Exchange to prevent this, although complaints had been made.

When Assistant District Attorney Hugo Wintner, who prosecuted the Exchange, was informed of the higher court's decision, he said:

"The principal point in the contention of the defense was that certain of the witnesses for the prosecution were accomplices within the meaning of the law and that, therefore, there must be independent corroboration. I believe that the Court of Appeals has set down a principle of law that will aid us in the trials of the indictments against Edward M. Fuller and William F. McGee, of the bankrupt brokerage firm of E. M. Fuller & Co., who raised the contention at the last trial of Fuller on a bucketing indictment, and which resulted in a disagreement by the jury, that one of the witnesses, J. Harold Braid, was an accomplice under the law."

Braid who was a member of the defunct brokerage firm of Braid & Vogel, testified at Fuller's trial that he had agreed with Fuller and McGee to bucket certain orders received by Fuller & Co. Among these orders was one from Frederick L. Link of Westmoreland, Tenn., the complainant in the indictment on which Fuller is to be brought to trial for the fourth time on June 11.

It was understood that the Court of Appeals decision cleared the way for the trials of many other bankrupt brokers on bucketing charges, and which have been pending for some time. The first of these trials is expected to begin simultaneously with Fuller's fourth trial. This trial will be based on indictments returned against Elmore D. Dier, of E. D. Dier & Co., who failed more than a year ago for about $5,000,000. Mr. Pecora said yesterday that subpoenas would be issued for witnesses in this case before the end of the week.

SAY KARDOS & BURKE LOAN WAS MYTHICAL

Creditors Find No Trace of $2,000,000 Item Listed as an Asset.

A meeting of the creditors of the brokerage firm of Kardos & Burke, which failed on February, 1922, for nearly $1,500,000, was held yesterday morning before Referee Peter J. Olney Jr. in his offices at 68 William Street. W. S. Silkworth, President of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, who has been examined in connection with the Fuller bankruptcy case, was the principal witness, and said that the Exchange was eager to assist the creditors to locate the missing assets, mounting to millions, lost in the failures of Kardos & Burke and E. M. Fuller & Co.

Two exhibits placed before the referee were a mimeographed letter written on stationery of the Consolidated Stock Exchange and signed by "W. S. Silkworth" and an alleged false financial statement submitted a few months previous to the failure of Kardos & Burke.

The letter, which is in the possession of Benjamin Bulmer, counsel for the creditors of Kardos & Burke, purports to have been written by the Exchange President in March, 1922, after the failure. It said that there was no reason known to the writer why Kardos & Burke should not be recognized as was suggested at the time, and be permitted to continue in business.

In addition to the signature, the letters W. S. S.—F. appear in the lower left-hand corner. Asked if he had a secretary or stenographer with the initial F., Mr. Silkworth said that he had not. He further said that he was not in the habit of using his three initials on such notations, but only the letter S.

The financial statement, dated Sept. 30, 1921, was made to the Consolidated Stock Exchange by Kardos & Burke and listed assets in loans of $2,120,882.92; cash, $45,954.43; and other items totaling $3,384,404.33. Recent disclosures at the bankruptcy hearing show the statement to have been false. Not more than $100,000 in assets has been found and the loan item of more than $2,000,000 is regarded as mythical.

Questioned as to other reports and records, Mr. Silkworth said that he would direct J. E. Lynch, Secretary of the Exchange, to appear with them on Thursday at 2 o'clock. He said that L. M. Kardos Jr. was the firm member of the Exchange at the time of the bankruptcy, and that a seat on the Consolidated was worth $5,000 at that time.

Harry J. Murray, cashier of Kardos & Burke, and Peter J. Flannagan, the auditor, were present at the hearing and will be questioned on Thursday about the assets and office methods of Kardos & Burke.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Savings deposits in banks in the New York Federal Reserve District, while showing a slight decrease May 1 of this year as compared with April 1, were $120,000,000 larger than those of May 1, 1922. On May 1, 1923, thirty banks in the district showed savings of $1,820,182,000. On April 1, the savings deposits were $1,825,961,000, while on May 1, 1922, they were $1,700,686,000.

Except in the New York district savings deposits as reported by 896 banks distributed through all parts of the country showed an increase during April in all the districts. On May 1 the total deposits amounted to $6,496,006,000, an increase of 0.4 per cent. over the total deposits of $6,474,101,000 on April 1, 1923.

The total deposits on May 1 are taken as "reflecting the improved business conditions throughout almost all sections of the United States," according to a statement from the Federal Reserve Board this afternoon.

EVERLASTING PERFORMANCE

HYLAN AND ENRIGHT LETTERS SUBPOENAED

Corrigan, Defending Libel Suit Brought by Police Commissioner, Makes Demand.

JUDGE CRAIN UPHOLDS HIM

Also Orders Hirshfield, Called as a Witness, to Appear at Once in Court.

SENATOR MEYER ON STAND

Produces Records of Enright's Testimony Before the Meyer Committee.

All correspondence between Mayor Hylan and Police Commissioner Enright with regard to police enforcement of the Mullan-Gage law, the record of Commissioner Enright's testimony before the Meyer legislative investigating committee and numerous other letters, records and newspaper clippings bearing on police affairs will be offered in evidence by the defense in the criminal libel action started by Commissioner Enright against Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, it developed at yesterday's hearing before Judge Thomas C. T. Crain in General Sessions.

John D. Lindsay, Magistrate Corrigan's counsel, in asking that a number of the records and clippings be marked for identification, indicated that as the proceedings progressed they would be offered in evidence in justification of the making public of a telegram from Assemblyman Cuvillier to Magistrate Corrigan on which the libel charge is based.

Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora, however, blocked the presentation of evidence in justification until Magistrate Corrigan takes the stand in his own defense. After an argument on this point, Judge Crain adjourned the hearing until Monday at 10:30.

Calls on Mayor for Letters.

Judge Crain, despite objection by the Corporation Counsel, issued a subpoena calling upon the Mayor to produce the letters to and from the Police Commissioner bearing on Mullan-Gage law enforcement. Corporation Counsel Nicholson appeared in person to object to a subpoena that Mr. Lindsay had caused to be issued, calling for the production of correspondence between Jan. 23, 1918, and this week.

The introduction of the letters, Mr. Nicholson contended, would be against public policy. He declared that it appeared that the defense was "going on a fishing excursion" in an attempt "to see whether they could find documents having any bearing on the case."

"Can anything be more important with regard to the right of Judge Corrigan to give out the telegram concerning police conditions than letters of the Mayor to the Police Commissioner with regard to conditions in the department?" asked Mr. Lindsay, opposing Mr. Nicholson's contention.

"What could be more conclusive evidence than that of what was going on through the Police Commissioner's entire administration? If I can't show that the Mayor of New York has repeatedly called the attention of the Police Commissioner to rank corruption in the department from top to bottom, I will abandon all attempts to show it in any other way."

Inquiry Is on Broad Lines.

In ruling that the Mayor must produce the letters, Judge Crain said: "No investigation ever carried on in this city was ever conducted along broader lines than this investigation. I shall assume I have the largest measure of power and I shall exercise it except as its exercise may be restrained by some official body in the premises."

The modified subpoena called for the production of "all letters received by the Mayor from Commissioner Richard E. Enright and copies of all letters sent by the Mayor to the Police Commissioners since the enactment of a law called the Mullan-Gage law, relating to the enforcement of that law by the Police department and relating to the conduct and manners of the Police Department relative to the enforcement of that law."

"I think that is as far as I will go," said Judge Crain.

David Hirshfield, Commissioner of Accounts, who held hearings on the police graft charges, and Schuyler M. Meyer, former Senator and Chairman of the Meyer Committee, which conducted a legislative investigation into city affairs, were among the witnesses whom Mr. Lindsay called yesterday.

When Mr. Hirshfield's name was called, the Commissioner was not present, but a clerk from his office appeared with a bundle of documents.

Hirshfield Summoned to Court.

"You are not Commissioner Hirshfield," said Mr. Lindsay. "I want Commissioner Hirshfield, not a messenger."

"Tell Commissioner Hirshfield to come to this court, that I will wait for him," Judge Crain directed.

In the meantime ex-Senator Meyer was called. He produced records of Commissioner Enright's testimony before the Meyer Committee. He said that the records were in a safe in his office and that they were open to the public. So far as he knew, neither Magistrate Corrigan nor Assemblyman Cuvillier had ever examined them.

When Commissioner Hirshfield appeared he explained that he did not believe a subpoena duces tecum called for his appearance in person. He admitted having been served with a subpoena to appear in person at the last hearing, but added: "I thought perhaps you had changed your mind and didn't want to waste my time."

Mr. Lindsay asked several questions relating to the circumstances under which Commissioner Hirshfield started his inquiry. Some of the lawyer's questions with regard to the Accounts Commissioner's methods provoked angry retorts from Mr. Hirshfield.

"You know as well as I do that your statement is entirely insulting and uncalled for," declared Hirshfield at one point.

"Your purpose was to have a fair and impartial inquiry?" asked Mr. Lindsay.

"As always," replied Mr. Hirshfield emphatically.

Mr. Lindsay declared that Commissioner Hirshfield during his inquiry had "called witnesses perjurers even before they were allowed to testify."

Hirshfield said that he had started the inquiry to "find out whether there was any truth in the statement by Magistrate Corrigan that half of the police were bootleggers." "If so," he continued, "the Mayor would have to take action. I wanted to see if these statements were true or just explosions by Corrigan for personal advertisement."

Pecora Objects to Testimony.

The question of the admission of evidence bearing on justification of the publication of the telegram was raised while Mr. Lindsay was questioning Commissioner Hirshfield with regard to a newspaper interview that appeared on April 22, the day before the Cuvillier-Corrigan telegrams were published.

City Wins the Title To Gravesend Land

ALBANY, May 29.—The title of New York to filled-in and formerly submerged land in Gravesend Bay, now valued at millions of dollars, was upheld by the Court of Appeals today in a decision handed down in the case of the Harway Improvement Company.

The city and company based claims on Colonial grants more than two centuries old, that of the city being a grant by Governor Lovelace in 1670, confirmed by a patent from Governor Dongan in 1686 to the Town of Gravesend.

The city's claims were attacked on the ground that they had never been recorded, but the court ruled that at the time the grants were made no law required such procedure.

When Mr. Lindsay tried to have the interview read into the record Mr. Pecora objected to its admission.

"I am not going to exclude anything bearing on the merits of this controversy, said Judge Crain, "but I will not allow these things to go in unless their relevancy is shown."

"I propose to show the situation that existed when Judge Corrigan received the telegram," said Mr. Lindsay.

Judge Crain ruled, however, that Mr. Pecora was right in his contention that evidence of the kind should not be introduced until its relevancy had been shown by Magistrate Corrigan's testimony.

"I have reasons which I wish to communicate to you privately, in the presence of the District Attorney, why the evidence should be presented in this way," Mr. Lindsay persisted. Judge Crain then adjourned the hearing and conferred with Mr. Lindsay and Mr. Pecora in chambers, but there was no announcement that he had changed his ruling.

Newspapers Marked for Evidence.

Other evidence which Mr. Lindsay asked to have marked for identification included copies of THE NEW YORK TIMES, The New York American, The Sun, The New York Herald and The Chief, city Civil Service publication. The dates of these papers ran back to 1905. Their contents and the purpose of their presentation were not disclosed.

Magistrate Corrigan sat at the defendant's table throughout the hearing. Commissioner Enright sat just behind him, but outside of the railing. Martin Dolphin, Assistant Corporation Counsel assigned to Police Headquarters, and Harry E. Gordon, his personal counsel, sat with Mr. Enright.

Assemblyman Cuvillier, who was named with Magistrate Corrigan in the complaint, was not present. He is to appear on Monday, when the Attorney General is expected to present a brief in support of the Assemblyman's contentions that the telegram was a privileged act of a legislator and that, in any event, the sending of it was without the jurisdiction of New York City courts, since the message was filed in Albany.

Judge Crain did not announce any decision yesterday in the perjury case against Detective Robert McAllister growing out of a liquor raid at the home of Charles F. Zittell. McAllister, with his counsel, Joseph Shalleck, was present in court, prepared to go on with the perjury case and the bribery complaint made against McAllister as a result of another raid in a Water Street sailors' boarding house.

HER SPEED 50 MILES ON A 10-DAY LICENSE

Woman on Trial for Killing Boy Admits She Was Convicted in 1921.

Mrs. Loretta Thompson of 2,117 East Fourteenth Stree, Brooklyn, was a witness in her own defense yesterday before Justice Faber and a jury in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, where she is being tried for manslaughter for killing Dominick Leo, 11 years old, on Jan. 17, 1922, while driving her automobile. Her car ran up on the lawn at 2,721 East Twenty-third Street, Brooklyn, and in backing off it struck and injured John Fazio, an iceman, and Girard Fox, of the foregoing address, and killed Leo.

The prosecution has introduced testimony that Mrs. Thompson used vile language and tending to show that she was intoxicated. Mrs. Thompson denied that she had been drinking.

"I did my best to get the car out of the yard," she said. "Mr. Fox told me to take the car out of his place. He and several men were pushing before I could do anything at all. The car moved and I was back in the same position from which I started. There was a crowd of several hundred persons surrounding the car. This, of course, confused me."

Replying to a request to tell the story in her own way, Mrs. Thompson said: "I heard a scream and that's all I know."

Under cross examination, Mrs. Thompson admitted that on Dec. 21, 1921, she had been convicted of speeding at 50 miles an hour. She admitted further that she subsequently had been arrested for operating an automobile without a license, and then testified that she never had had a permanent license to drive, but had been driving on a ten-day driver's license.

The case will be continued tomorrow.

MAYO FIGHTS DIVORCE.

Declares His Wife Has Married a Curb Broker.

The tangled marital affairs of Roy A. Mayo, broker, who is now in the radio business at 2,671 Broadway, have come up again in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn. Mrs. Mayo some time ago brought an action for divorce, and as Mr. Mayo made no answer, it was put on the list of undefended cases. Mr. Mayo applied yesterday to Justice Lewis for an order permitting him to put in an answer and defense.

Mayo said that he had not made answer because he knew his wife had no grounds on which to base such a suit. He charges his wife with having contracted a bigamous marriage with Ralph Graham Kretschmar, a member of the New York Curb Market Exchange, at Port Chester, N. Y., on March 30, nine days before she began her divorce action. Kretschmar, who is said to be suing for annulment of his marriage, appears in the papers as supporting Mayo.

CAUGHT IN DIVORCE MILL, SWEARS WIFE

EVIDENCE ALL PLANNED

Professional Corespondent Went to Hotel Room in Anticipation of Raid, Both Declare.

A husband and a wife, who had been the central figures in a divorce proceeding in the Supreme Court in Westchester County in 1921, yesterday testified in Judge Mulqueen's part of General Sessions against Jerome A. Jacobs, a lawyer, and Edward J. May, head of a private detective agency, whom they accused of conspiring to obtain a divorce for the wife with the aid of a professional woman corespondent.

Mrs. Eva S. Baltuck, the wife, of 549 West 180th Street, told the jury that she became separated from her husband, Samuel H. Baltuck, in 1920, and on Sept. 24 of that year she called on the lawyer in his office at 1,482 Broadway, and consulted him about obtaining a divorce. She said that she had no ground for the action except her inability to get along with her husband, but that the lawyer told her that that would be all right.

She said that Jacobs then told her that it would cost her $500 to obtain the divorce, and that the matter would be settled in the Supreme Court in White Plains within three weeks. Mrs. Baltuck added that, in accordance with an agreement with the lawyer, she immediately gave him $200 as a retainer, $100 when the papers in the divorce proceeding were drawn and $200 when the case was called for trial before Justice Seeger.

She said that the decree was not granted in three weeks, as the lawyer had "guaranteed," and that after making repeated visits to Jacobs's office, usually with one or more relatives, the lawyer eventually got her to waive alimony and counsel fees. On one of these visits, she continued, Jacobs told her that her husband was in an adjoining room.

Room in Hotel Raided.

She said that on April 28, 1921, she was introduced in Jacobs's office to May, the lawyer's co-defendant. May was represented to be "Mr. Reynolds," she said, and in her presence he called up a hotel and made reservation for a room for "Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin of Albany." She said that Jacobs then told her to remain in his office, but later May came for her and her brothers to room 306 at the De France Hotel in West Forty-ninth Street.

"May knocked on the door, and a voice from inside, which I recognized as that of my husband, demanded to know what we wanted," Mrs. Baltuck continued. "We forced the door, and walked into the room. My husband and a young woman whom I did not known were inside. One of my brothers who had gone to the hotel before me with May attempted to strike my husband, but May prevented him from doing so."

Mrs. Baltuck said that Jacobs, who was present in the hotel then, told her to go home and to prepare for her appearance as a complainant against her husband in the Supreme Court in White Plains in a divorce suit. She said that her husband did not defend the action when it came before Justice Seeger. The latter became suspicious of the testimony of one witness at the trial, it developed, and refused to grant a divorce.

This witness had represented himself to be "Harry Sorenson," clerk in the De France Hotel on the night Baltuck was alleged to have been trapped in the room with the young woman and thus evaded the jurisdiction of Judge Mulqueen's court. The man had told of assigning Baltuck and the "co-respondent" to the room, but when he was being subjected to a cross-examination by Justice Seeger, he was unable to recall the name he had represented as his when he took the witness stand. Later Henry Sorenson, who actually was employed as a clerk in the hotel on the night of the alleged divorce raid, appeared as a witness before Justice Seeger. He said he had no recollection of the occurrence and declared he was unable to explain how the man who impersonated him at the trial was able to produce as evidence the register of the hotel containing the name "Baldwin."

Reconciled at Hospital.

Mrs. Baltuck further stated that she became reconciled with her husband in December, 1921. She explained that he had undergone an operation in Mount Sinai Hospital and sent for her. Eventually they recounted the parts they played in the divorce raid and she said her husband had convinced her that the girl she saw was only acting.

When the husband took the stand he told the jury that he was a window cleaning contractor with an office at 48 Vesey Street. He said that about six months after he and his wife separated Jacobs called on him at his home at 1,060 Bryant Avenue, the Bronx, and informed him that Mrs. Baltuck contemplated bringing an action for divorce.

"I told him if there was any ground for a divorce he could go right ahead," testified Baltuck. "But when he told me that he wanted me to give the evidence for a divorce, I refused. Jacobs got angry then," continued the witness, "and said he would make it very hot for me. He then promised he would give me a letter waiving alimony and counsel fees if I gave him the evidence he needed."

Under questioning of Assistant District Attorney Carstarphen, the witness explained that he met the woman who was to be the correspondent in the lawyer's office and Jacobs introduced him to her thus: "Meet Miss Frances Gilbert. She is going to be the co-respondent."

In his address to the jury Assistant District Attorney Carstarphen declared that Frances Gilbert was a professional corespondent" and that Baltuck did not appear at the divorce proceedings "because he was told not to appear." The trial will be continued tomorrow.

SEEKS AN ANNULMENT TO MARRY ANOTHER

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., May 29.—One of the most unusual cases ever developed in court in this district was before Justice George Taylor of the Supreme Court at Newburgh today, when an effort was made by a young woman to have her marriage annulled in order that she might marry another. Isaac Babcock of Harriman and Jennie Yumans of Monroe, married less than a year ago, are under age, and the young woman has made application to the court to have the marriage annulled that she may marry Timothy W. Manion of Monroe, a former sweetheart.

After hearing testimony by the young woman, her husband and the man she desires to marry, Justice Taylor adjourned the case and will hand down his decision later.

Leviathan Gets Use of North River Pier 86; Deal by City Puts End to Hylan-Lasker Row

The Leviathan of the United States Lines owned and operated by the United States Shipping Board, will have docking facilities at Pier 86, North River, for a year at least. This was assured when Dock Commissioner John H. Delaney announced yesterday, at a meeting of the Committee of the Whole of the Sinking Fund Commission, that he had renewed a permit to the United American Line to use Pier 86 for a year at $300,000 on condition that wharfage be given to the Leviathan.

The formal application of the United States Shipping Board for a permanent berth at the pier for the use of the giant liner was held in abeyance until the successor of A. D. Lasker, Chairman of the board, whose resignation takes effect July 1, has taken office.

A motion to defer action was made by Mayor Hylan, who was considerably wrought up at the last meeting when informed that the President Buchanan, a Shipping Board vessel, had been sent to a private shipyard at Newport News for reconditioning rather than to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The Mayor maintained that the loss of this job by the Brooklyn Navy Yard, whose bid was $800,000 below that of the Virginia concern, resulted in throwing many mechanics out of work. The Mayor thought that the Shipping Board should throw as much work to New York as possible in view of the Board's request for docking facilities in the city. Commissioner Delaney informed the Mayor that nothing could be done concerning the President Buchanan job as the contract had been let some time ago.

The Mayor replied that he would not deal with Chairman Lasker, but would consult with his successor.

"We'll talk business with him and see if we cannot get some Government work for the Brooklyn Navy Yard," said the Mayor.

"I was informed today by a representative of the United States Shipping Board," said Mr. Delaney, "that the Brooklyn Navy Yard was unable to make a bona fide bid on the reconditioning of the President Buchanan. He stated further that the cost of reconditioning other Shipping Board boats would be so high that it might be cheaper to build entirely new craft."

The commission recommended acceptance of the bid of Peter J. Cakenes of 81 Montgomery Avenue, St. George, Staten Island, who was the highest bidder at a recent auction for a five-year concession of the eight privileges in the State Island Terminal of the municipal ferry. The successful bid was $71,000 a year. The last five-year lease, which expired May 1, was for $18,000 a year.

SAY MOTHER TAUGHT CHILDREN TO STEAL

WORKHOUSE FOR WOMAN

Husband Informs Justice He Will Care for Children Until Wife Is Free.

Mrs. Mary Kezel, 30 years old, who said she lived at 27 North Third Street, Mount Vernon, was sentenced to ten days in the Workhouse yesterday in Special Sessions. A probation officer informed Justices Nolan, McInerney and Salmon that Mrs. Kezel had made shoplifters out of her 9-year-old son and 11-year-old daughter. The woman was arrested in James A. Hearn & Son's store in West Fourteenth Street on March 29 last.

When she pleaded guilty to the theft of a boy's suit, a girl's hat and a pair of roller skates, all valued at $16.04, detectives of the Stores Mutual Protective Association said that her son and daughter had aided her in the thefts. The detectives said that the woman and the two children made two trips to the store, and that Mrs. Kezel was first arrested with the loot in two long bags which she had improvised for the purpose.

They said that on the second trip the boy was seen to take the roller skates from a counter and hand them to his mother. After dropping the skates in one of the bags, she moved to another counted with the children. When Mrs. Kezel and the children were taken to an adjoining room to be questioned, the detectives said, they boy and girl readily admitted that their mother had taught them how to steal in stores.

The girl, they added, admitted that a new hat she wore had been stolen from the store on the first trip and her old hat placed in one of the bags by her mother. The boy also admitted, the detectives said, that the new coat he wore was part of a suit which had been stolen on the first visit to the store. The detectives said they found the daughter's old hat, the boy's old coat, the skates and the trousers of the new suit in the bags carried by Mrs. Kezel. They explained that the children were not taken into custody, as it was evident that they had been influenced by their mother.

The husband of the convicted woman was in court, and told Justice Nolan that he would take care of the children until his wife was released from prison.

SAY CHICAGO LAWYER HEADS LIQUOR PLOT

J. K. Monahan Arrested for Bribing Dry Agents at $1,000 Each to Aid Whisky Withdrawal.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 29.—John K. Monahan, a lawyer, was arrested today by Federal authorities, charged with having bribed employes of the Prohibition Office and with conspiring with them to obtain permits for the withdrawal of thousands of gallons of whisky on bogus applications issued in the names of Catholic charitable institutions of Chicago.

The exposure and arrest caused the dismissal of several Prohibition aids, and involves at least six more, according to William D. Moss, Acting Director of Prohibition.

Complete confessions of the dry office employes have been made, it was said. Monahan is alleged to have paid bribes of as high as $1,000 each to control necessary employes, and it is said his profits in disposing of the whisky so obtained ran as high as $50,000.

OWED $1, CREPE ON DOOR.

Failure to Keep 'Unless I Am Dead' Pledge Brings Shock to Debtor.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMMONTON, N. J., May 29.—When Joseph Moskowits of Rosenhayn, returned from a visit to Newark he found crepe on the door of his home, and on the doorstep a wreath with a card attached, saying Moskowitz was dead. He had Jacob Fischer arrested.

Fischer told Justice of the Peace Lewis that he had lent $1 to Moskowitz who had promised to pay it back "unless I am dead." The justice fined them $1 each and costs. Fischer for placing the funeral decorations and Moskowitz for non-payment of a debt he had pledged himself to pay.

DAUGHERTY AT DESK, WILL NOT RESIGN

Denies Revived Rumors and Is Backed by White House Spokesman.

AT MEETING OF CABINET

Also a Guest at the White House, and Relations With the President Most Cordial.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Attorney General Daugherty, returning to Washington after a period of rest in Ohio, today attended his first Cabinet meeting in several weeks and denied reports which have again been circulated that he would soon resign.

"I have heard nothing and know nothing of reports published in Ohio that I am to resign," said Mr. Daugherty. "I feel better and I am better than since I was taken ill last Winter. I am ready to get back on the job actively. In fact, I have been doing considerable work right along. The frequency with which these reports that I am to resign spring up in certain quarters is certainly strange."

The Attorney-General left Washington early in the month to take Mrs. Daugherty, who had been a patient in a Baltimore hospital, to the Daugherty home in Ohio. Returning last evening, he spent the night at the White House and will continue to be a guest there for two or three days, pending the reopening of his residence here.

A White House spokesman said the President regarded Mr. Daugherty's denial as "entirely official." The fact that the Attorney-General was a guest at the White House, it was added, would indicate definitely the continuation of most cordial relations between the President and Mr. Daugherty.

President Harding is understood to have discussed plans for his Western trip last night and today with the Attorney General. The itinerary for the trip was virtually completed last week, but an announcement was withheld, presumably because of the Executive's desire to go over the plans finally with Mr. Daugherty, who was his pre-convention campaign manager in 1920 and who, since then has been one of his foremost advisers.

A number of questions relative to Administration policies and several Department of Justice matters are also expected to come up for discussion between the President and the Attorney General in the next few days.

ITALY FORMALLY STATES SHIP LIQUOR POSITION

Ambassador Caetani Tells Hughes Our Law Conflicts With Municipal Acts There.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Formal representations as to the Supreme Court decision banning liquor on foreign ships within the maritime belt were made to Secretary Hughes today by Ambassador Caetani of Italy. The Ambassador pointed out the conflict between the decision and the municipal law of Italy which requires liquors to be carried as rations for ships' crews and in some cases for the passengers.

Ambassador Caetani acted on instructions from Rome, the representations supplementing his statement along similar lines Mr. Hughes several days ago. He outlined the case verbally today and was understood also to have submitted a written memorandum of the Italian contention.

ELECTION LAW CHANGED.

Smith Signs Several Acts—Vetoes Tax on Outside Insurance.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 29.—Among a dozen bills relating to changes in the Election law approved by Governor Smith today was the Steinberg act, which provides that instead of a literacy test for voters at the polls educational authorities must issue literacy certificates which are to be filed by new voters at the polling places.

The Governor approved the Twomey bill, which provides that on registering a voter, after administering test or receiving proof of literacy, each inspector shall record that fact on the registration blank.

The Governor vetoed the Sheridan bill to impose a tax of 25 per cent. on residents who are insured against loss of property by insurance companies not authorized to do business in this State.

BAPTISTS ASK SMITH TO VETO REPEALER

Convention Hears Report That Apathy of Churches Threatens Prohibition.

FAVOR WORLD CONFERENCE

No Controversy Over Creed Between Fundamentalists and Liberals at Closing Session.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 29.—Following an address by Roy A. Haynes, Federal Prohibition Commissioner, in which he repeated the statistics on enforcement he issued in Washington yesterday, the Northern Baptist Convention today wired President Harding "unanimous commendation" for the "splendid support" he has given the Federal Director and "congratulations" on his own "non-compromising stand for enforcement."

The following resolution was adopted:

Recognizing that the issue involved in the repeal of the prohibition enforcement law of the State of New York is a national one, and believing that such a repeal would work for increased violation of the Eighteenth Amendment and for general lawlessness, the Northern Baptist Convention hereby endorses the resolution of the New York State delegation urging the Governor of New York to veto the bill that would repeal the Mullan-Gage Enforcement act.

Dr. Samuel Zane Batten of Philadelphia in his report on the Social Service Committee said:

"Prohibition is in grave danger through a false security. After 100 years of effort it was adopted. It may be lost on account of the apathy of the churches. Churches must stir the conviction that will make prohibition a reality all over the land.

"Neither censorship nor prohibition will keep us as a nation from moral degeneration unless people want that good and frown on the bad. If censorship of the movies could be wisely exercised and public opinion could give it a fair trial, it is possible that the objectionable parts in many films could be eliminated in a short time, but even the people whose judgment and standards are trustworthy are not agreed as to what standards censorship should maintain, and recent tests of public opinion seem to show that neither State nor Federal censorship will be acceptable. It is more in harmony with Christian principles to take the slower way of esthetic and moral education and control, using only temporary corrective, as penalty affixed for a limited time for flagrant offenses against decency."

The report of the Resolutions Committee, of which Charles R. Brock of Denver, Col., is chairman, contained no statement of creed nor any other controversial confession of faith. There was complete harmony, and all resolutions reported were adopted without regard to any fundamentalist or liberal difference of opinion.

The convention adopted a resolution urging the American Government to carry its share of "the world's burden through an association of nations and an international court." A resolution urging this country "to take the initiative in calling an international conference to consider the economic and political situation in Europe" was also adopted.

"We deplore," ran another, "the horror suffered by the Armenians and other peoples at the hands of the Turks and deplore as a wrong against humanity the attitude of the allied nations, and especially America, for failure to protect these people from the despoiler."

The convention adopted a resolution to ask boards of public school education to grant to churches at least "one hour of public school time each week for the religious instruction of public school children."

Another resolution urged Indian superintendents and Indians to control Indian tribal dances with a view to eradicating objectionable features which harrass fully affect the moral and economic life of the Indians."

A suggestion by Dr. H. C. Gleiss of Detroit, who asked that an attempt be made to introduce foreign speaking ministers into American communities where foreign languages are spoken, started a discussion.

Dr. A. C. Hill of Albany regarded it as a "great menace to encourage the use of any foreign language in America." Charles Hatch Sears of New York said that foreign speaking Baptists in this country are among America's most loyal citizens. Most of the delegates approved Dr. Gleiss's suggestion.

The conference closed tonight with an address by the Rev. Russell Conwell, President of Temple University of Philadelphia.

TAMMANY IGNORES HEARING

New Jersey Democrat Tells Gov. Smith "Volsteadism" Is "Vicious."

Tammany Hall will not take official cognisance of the public hearing to be held tomorrow before Governor Smith in Albany on the bill repealing the Mullan-Gage prohibition enforcement law, it was made clear yesterday by Charles F. Murphy, leader of the organization. When asked whether Tammany would send a delegation to the hearings Mr. Murphy replied that it would not, but if any members desired a journey to Albany and argue for or against the repeal that was his privilege as a citizen.

"The organization will not be officially represented at the hearing," said Mr. Murphy, and he shook his head when asked if he care to comment on what the Governor would do.

While there will be no official spokesman from the Fourteenth Street organization, several district leaders—friends of the Governor who are hopeful that "Al will do the right thing"—will go to the capital on their own initiative and, if they get an opportunity, will urge the Governor to sign the repeal bill for the good of his own political future.

While the Tammany leaders to a man are hopeful that the Governor will sign the bill, there will be no resentment against him in Tammany Hall if he decides not to do so. The members realize that the Governor is faced by a hard proposition and that he will act according to his own conscience.

"The responsibility is entirely his," said one leader, "and whatever he decides to do will have no bearing upon his relations with the organization. We all hope he signs the bill, but his friends can trust him to do the right thing."

NUGENT URGES REPEAL.

Hopes Smith Will Sign Repeal, but Won't Say So Officially.

James R. Nugent, Democratic leader of Essex County, New Jersey, wrote to Governor Smith yesterday urging him to sign the bill repealing the Mullan-Gage prohibition enforcement law.

"Though our people as a whole do not seem to realize it," said Mr. Nugent's letter, "prohibition and Volsteadism are the same political philosophy. Volsteadism says that any law, no matter how immoral, may be enacted, and, what is worse, that such a law must be universally obeyed. That is what the prohibitionists also say. It is a vicious doctrine, certain to have a long train of vicious results.

"That doctrine is opposed to the Anglo-Saxon conception of political development and political progress.

"I say you, therefore, for the welfare of America, to join in orderly opposition to this menace by signing the Mullan-Gage repealer."

Miss Alice Carpenter, President of the Molly Pitcher Club, in an address yesterday before the Forum and Vocal Press Club, 219 Madison Avenue, declared that prohibition was a failure, and advocated the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law. She cited statistics of Bellevue Hospital which, she said, showed that there were 4,083 alcoholic cases in 1922, compared to 300 in 1920.

1,300 Pupils Continue Work In Face of Blaze in School

Thirteen hundred children in St. Gabriel's Parochial School, 209 East Thirty-sixth Street, remained at their desks yesterday when fire started in the basement and smoke seeped into the class rooms. While the engineer and janitor threw water on the flames the teachers were told there was no danger. The only children who so much as stood up were those reciting.

The flames originated in a pile of paper. When Fire Engine 21 arrived nothing was left for the firemen to do. There was no break in classroom work.

DOCTOR WINS AGAIN IN FIGHT ON DRY ACT

Court Refuses to Lift Injunction Which Permits Lambert to Prescribe Unlimited Liquor.

STAY ALLOWED FOR APPEAL

Eight Men, Woman and Firm Accused of Conspiracy in Indictment —Restaurant Raided.

Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, who has questioned, in a test case, the authority of prohibition officials to apply the Volstead act to physicians prescribing liquor for medicinal purposes, won another point yesterday when Federal Judge John C. Knox denied a motion by the Government to dismiss the temporary injunction granted to Dr. Lambert on May 8 against Acting Prohibition Director E. C. Yellowley, David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue and United States Attorney William Hayward.

The motion was made by Assistant United States Attorney John Holley Clark Jr. In denying the motion, Judge Knox granted a stay of the injunction pending an appeal which the Government plans to take to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The assumption that the Government eventually would appeal probably to the United States Supreme Court, was expressed last week by Dr. Lambert when he addressed the Medical Society of the State of New York at its annual meeting at the Waldorf. He warned the physicians that the fight was not won, and declared that the matter of a physician's right to practice medicine as his experience dictated, was one which no legislator had the power to take away.

An indictment was returned yesterday by the United States Grand Jury against John W. Clifton, a lawyer of Washington; Thomas F. Craven, Emile R. Levy, Edward N. Fries, Frank Keller, Frank Dorion, Joseph Cadina, John Lazarus, John Mortimer and the Cumberland Chemical Company, charging all the defendants in two counts with conspiracy to receive, have and deliver liquor in the United States. The indictment was based on information gathered by prohibition agents, who, during March and April, made several raids on warehouses here and seized more than $1,000,000 worth of liquor.

Conspiracy Is Charged.

In the indictment it is charged that a conspiracy was planned at a Broadway hotel on Feb. 15, when Fries and Cadina met Prohibition Agent Saul Grill, whose official connection was unknown to them. The same day Clifton is alleged to have come here from Washington and been introduced to Grill.

Grill was working with Prohibition Agents William E. Dunigan and Frank Rickey, whose role was to apply thrrough Clifton for permits to export liquor. Keller and Dorion were the owners of a motor truck used, according to the charge, in an effort to deliver seven 50-gallon drums of alcohol at a prearranged place. It is further alleged that Clifton knew that the permits he was to get from Washington for Cadina, Mortimer and Fries were to be used illegally.

Assistant United States Attorney Francis A. McGurk, in charge of the case, said that on March 28 Keller and Dorion drove in a motor truck to Seventy-second Street and Third Avenue and delivered the seven drums to Grill, Dunigan and Rickey, as prearranged. After the delivery of the drums the three agents went to the Cumberland Chemical Company's warehouse, where they met Craven and Miss Levy, to whom they allege they paid $4,000 in marked bills before arresting them.

A search after the alleged discovery of the alcohol at the warehouse of the Cumberland Chemical Company was raided and a quantity of liquor seized. Several days later prohibition agents raided a house formerly occupied by the Portchester Chemical Company, 141st Street and Locust Avenue, the Bronx, and seized liquors valued at $1,000,000. Craven held a lease to the warehouse.

All Released on Bail.

When arraigned before United States Commissioner Samuel M. Hitchcock, Craven was held in $20,000 bail, Miss Levy in $10,000 and Clifton, Keller and Dorion in $5,000 each. All furnished bail. They will be arraigned in the United States District Court on Monday to plead to the indictment. Bench warrants have been issued for the arrest of the other defendants.

A reduction of the prohibition forces in Brooklyn by ten or twelve men was described as practically inevitable by Collector of Internal Revenue John T. Rafferty in Brooklyn, who estimated that Brooklyn's portion of the $200,000 cut in the budget of the Internal Revenue Office would amount to $15,000 or $20,000.

David Farber of 207 East Seventh Street and John Niewiadewski, who is alleged to have lived with Farber and aided the latter in the bootleg business, were arrested by a prohibition agent who "lives in a flat adjoining Farber." When asked if he had a grudge against his neighbor, the agent said:

"Oh no. So many drunks went out of there each day I had to do it. The people complained."

The agent said about twenty gallons of assorted liquors were seized. Farber and his boarder were held in $500 bail each by United States Commissioner Hitchcock.

Monza's Restaurant, 123 West Forty-eighth street, was raided during the noon rush yesterday by agents. They did not find any liquor in the restaurant, but reported seizing $3,000 worth of liquors in the apartments of Charles Monza, proprietor, and Albert Dominique, above the restaurant. Monza and Dominique were arrested. The seized liquor was taken to the Knickerbocker Warehouse. A crowd in the street watched its transfer.

WALKER CHARGES BAD FAITH

Brooklyn Attorney Says Receiver for His Company Would Follow Proposed Law.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 29.—Compliance with the provisions of the Walker Dollar Gas bill would mean "the snuffing out of lives of men, women and children in New York City in the dark," according to representatives of the big lighting companies who, appearing before Governor Smith at a public hearing this afternoon, told him that the present rates, varying from $1.15 to $1.40 per thousand cubic feet should stand, and urged him to veto the dollar measure.

Embodied in the Walker bill is a clause under which the gas companies would be required to provide for their consumers gas measuring up to 600 British thermal units. Under the rule of the Public Service Commission gas furnished by the companies need not contain more than 525 thermal units to a thousand cubic feet. Spokesmen for the lighting companies insisted that the change, besides involving an increase in the cost of gas, would require a readjustment of their appliances before it would be safe to turn on gas of the higher heat value, and submitted affidavits from their experts and engineers who declared that they were unwilling to assume the responsibility involved.

This point was not touched upon at the public hearing on the bill before Mayor Hylan yesterday. Apparently the attorneys had reserved this argument as a surprise for today. William L. Ransom, who made the principal argument for the opposition, solemnly urged the Governor to consider gravely before approving a measure which might lead to wholesale loss of life and destruction of property.

Laugh Turned on Alarmists.

When the advocates of the bill were heard, the laugh was turned on the lighting companies. Charles E. Buckner, former Deputy Attorney General, who represented the

HARDING LEADS FORD IN COLLIER'S POLL

Second Instalment of Canvass Gives President 13,080 Out of 53,703 Readers.

Half of Voters Republican—Other Half Divided Between Ford and Other Democrats.

President Harding has passed Henry Ford as the choice for the next President of 53,703 readers in the second instalment of the canvass being made by Collier's, the national weekly, which is published in the current issue of the magazine. Mr. Harding, who was second to Mr. Ford last week, now leads with 13,080 votes to 12,379 for Mr. Ford.

William G. McAdoo is third with 5,002 votes and then follow James M. Cox, the last Democratic presidential candidate, with 4,230; Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, with 3,783; Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, with 3,452; Governor Alfred E. Smith with 2,972; Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, with 2,220; Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, with 1,716; General Leonard Wood with 1,180; Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, with 968, and Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, with 785.

About half of those voting have expressed preference for a Republican candidate, and the remainder are about equally divided between known Democrats and Mr. Ford. Commenting upon the vote, Collier's says that one of the big surprises of the canvass is the apparent endorsement of President Harding and the relative weakness of the Republican insurgents, and continues:

"However inexplicable the other features are there is one result of the canvass to date which no one can fail to notice. A surprisingly large number of our readers want one particular man for President. An equally surprising number want another man. In every way as different from him as any American could be. Mr. Harding fairly symbolizes normalcy. Mr. Ford symbolizes innovation. Mr. Harding is political by nature and by training; he is regular and unalarming. Mr. Ford is the reverse and dead. Mr. Ford is probably the greatest annihilator of tradition and red tape which modern civilisation has produced.

"We cannot say, of course, that 53,-000 readers of Collier's, even in a personal, intimate, face-to-face canvass, give an accurate indication of public opinion in America. We hope that our agents will be able to talk to 250,000 before the polls are closed. But the evidence accumulates. The 53,703 disclose about the same balance of ideas which the first 12,744 showed. Harding and Ford ran neck and neck last week. They are neck and neck today. If it should happen that these two men receive the Republican and Democratic nominations, a pleasant time will be had by all lovers of excitement, not only in the United States, but throughout the civilized world. Never in our history, we believe, not even in the days of Jefferson and Hamilton, have two such contrary political principles clashed in a national campaign.

City Steamer Will Take Delegation of 115 From Liner at Quarantine.

A delegation of 115 British advertising men and newspaper and magazine publishers will arrive here Friday on the Cunarder Berengaria, to attend the nineteenth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in Atlantic City from June 3 to 7. The British delegates are members of the Thirty Club of London and the Advertising Club of Ulster in Belfast. John Cheshire, President of the Thirty Club; W. S. Crawford, Vice President of the Fourteenth District of Associated Advertising Clubs, and Sir Robert Baird of the Belfast Club will head the visiting delegation.

The delegation will be transferred from the Berengaria to the municipal steamer Macom at Quarantine on Friday morning. It will be the first time that such a large number of persons has been allowed to leave a liner before docking. The delegates will be greeted on the Macom by the National Reception Committee, headed by Herbert S. Houston, representing the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and by the Police Band.

After landing at the Battery the visitors will go in motor cars to City Hall, where Mayor Hylan will welcome them. On Friday evening they will be the guests at a dinner of 1,500 American advertising men and publishers at the Hotel Pennsylvania. Mr. Houston will be Chairman of the dinner and F. A. Wilson-Lawrenson will be the toastmaster. The Rev. Caleb R. Stetson, rector of Trinity Church, will deliver the invocation. There will be a toast, "Hands Across the Sea," responded to on behalf of America by Edwin Lee Meredith, former Secretary of Agriculture and former head of the Associated Advertising Clubs, and on behalf of Great Britain by C. Harold Vernon, honorary secretary and President-elect of the Thirty Club of London.

Lee E. Holland of Kansas City, President of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, will welcome the visitors on behalf of organized advertising in America. John Cheshire, President of the Thirty Club will reply. Julius H. Barnes, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, will speak on "International Business."

On Saturday the visitors will be entertained and shown about New York by members of the Advertising Club of New York. The Macom will be at their disposal for the trip around Manhattan Island in the morning, with luncheon on board. The British delegates will see the ball game at the Yankee Stadium in the afternoon and the "Follies" at night.

Plans for their welcome have been communicated to the British delegation by wireless. Yesterday the following radiogram was received by H. H. Charles, President of the Advertising Club of New York, from C. Harold Vernon, Secretary of the British delegation on board the Berengaria:

"We have been advised of great preparations made for dinner Pennsylvania Hotel Friday evening and wonderful program of entertainment and boat trip around Manhattan Island next day surpasses New York Advertising Club. At meeting delegates on board ship two days out on motion of W. S. Crawford, seconded by John Cheshire, a vote of thanks was ordered sent to you and yours, which unanimously carried. We truly extend friendly hands across the sea to fine members of New York Advertising Club."

TO STATE MONEY PAID FOR LAND

Donnell Lumber Co. Makes Proposal Before Jersey Legislative Investigating Committee.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., May 29.—An offer by the W. J. Donnell Lumber Company of Perth Amboy to return to the State the $250,000 received by it from the old State Highway Board for land in Perth Amboy, needed as an approach to the Amboy Bridge, was made today before the special legislative committee which is investigating bridge contracts made by the former commission.

Conover English, counsel for the lumber company, testifying before the committee, said his client had been in negotiation with Attorney General McCran, seeking an adjustment of the suit filed at the request of Governor Silzer, to have the Amboy land conveyance set aside and to compel a return to the State of the price paid.

"I desire now to state to the committee," said Mr. English, "that my client is willing to reduce the claim by return of the $250,000 paid to it by the State, upon such restoration of the property to the lumber company as will fully protect its interests."

The property in question had been appraised at $80,000. It has been charged that the purchase of the property by the old Highway Board was influenced by "Barney" Gannon, Democratic leader of Middlesex County.

Efforts to compel James to appear before the investigation committee will not be abandoned by Attorney General McCran, Senator Wallworth of Camden, who is presiding, issued another subpoena today calling for the presence of James in Trenton next Tuesday, when the inquiry will be continued.

Charles L. Burton, Chairman of the old Highway Commission, telephoned to Trenton this afternoon that he would appear before the committee next week.

USED 180,143,136 HAIR NETS.

American Girls' Supply Came From Chinese Pigtails.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—American girls used last year 180,143,136 nets made out of Chinese pigtails to hold their hair. The netmakers, practically all of whom are located in Chefoo, China, collected $3,319,322 for supplying the product, the Commerce Department estimated today, and the tremendous increase in the use of the devices was indicated by the fact that nine years ago, in 1914, the value of the hair nets exported from Chefoo was only $719.

The netmakers were said to expect a big year during 1923, especially since American women have demonstrated a preference for a type of net made out of two hair strands, whereas before nets fabricated from single strands were in vogue. The double-net taste at first caused some let-down in the industry, because they were found to stand more wear and tear than the single and the girls did not buy as many. Now, the trade observers calculate, the shock has been taken up, and net use is going to have its normal increase by enlarging the demand.

OUSTS U. S. COMMISSIONERS

Federal Prosecutor in Brooklyn Ends Hearings in His Office.

By reason of his belief that certain persons have been profiting because the hearing of United States Commissioners in Brooklyn are held in an outer room of his office suite, United States District Attorney Ralph C. Greene yesterday notified the five Commissioners that after June 1 they must find other quarters for their work.

The order of Mr. Greene is directed mainly at a number of lawyers' runners and professional bondsmen who seek admission to the rooms of the District Attorney by attending the hearings before the Commissioners. It has been charged that they impress law violators and obtain business by their apparent friendliness with those in the Prosecutor's office.

"Separating my office from that of the Commissioners in which Federal prisoners make their first appearance will simply reduce the opportunities for a dramatic reading by Ethel Barrymore. I will eliminate my office from the game almost entirely," Mr. Greene said.

In his letter to the Commissioners Mr. Greene said that the hearings caused a congestion in his office; also that he needed the room for an additional Assistant District Attorney. The Commissioners affected are Henry D. Barmore, Henry S. Rasquin, James H. McCabe, Michael F. McGoldrick and Edmund D. Hennessy.

DISMISSES INDICTMENTS.

Court Grants Motion for W. L. Hopkins, but Allows Amended Charge.

Two indictments charging Walter L. Hopkins, Secretary of Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford Company, printers, with offering gratuities to employes of the Western Union Telegraph Company for the delivery of certain of their employers' papers, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions. The Court acted on the motion of counsel for the printing company, who alleged that the Grand Jury had erred in indicting Hopkins for two alleged crimes, which really should have constituted but one charge. Judge Mulqueen in dismissing the indictments granted permission to the District Attorney to resubmit the charge in amended form to the Grand Jury.

Hopkins was accused of having paid $25 to John J. Ward, an auditor for the telegraph company, to obtain a copy of a contract for printing by a rival firm. It was alleged that he had made a similar offer to Sidney H. Lane, another auditor. The Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford Company terminated a contract with the telegraph company for several million dollars' worth of printing on June 30, 1920, it was said, and was underbid on the next contract.

SMITH'S PLAN PLEASES.

Governor's Program for Hospitalization of State Wards Commended.

Resolutions endorsing the program of Governor Smith for proper hospitalization of the State wards were passed. It was announced yesterday by Dr. Marcus B. Heyman, Superintendent of the Manhattan State Hospital, by the Board of Managers of that institution. The board also urged the State Hospital Commission to bring home to the people the necessity of passing the $50,000,000 bond issue next November to provide proper housing.

The next quarterly conference of the Managers and Superintendents of the State hospitals will be held at the Manhattan State Hospital on June 8. The general topic for discussion will be "State Hospital Dietaries." Addresses will be made by Dr. John H. Kellogg of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, and Dr. Nicholas Kopeloff, of the Psychiatric Institute. The discussion will be led by Dr. Walter B. James and Dr. Jerome Lynch of New York.

RECORD ORE YEAR IN YUKON.

$3,500,000 in Gold and Silver Mined —Big Cashes Await River Boats.

DAWSON, Y. T., May 29.—With the season's output of nearly 10,000 tons of silver ore awaiting shipment to the coast on the flood waters of the Stewart River, it is estimated that the year's output of precious metals in the Yukon will total $3,500,000 for both gold and silver. This will exceed the output annually for many years.

The first 700 tons of silver have already reached Dawson and 2,000 tons are cached at the headwaters of the Stewart. Six thousand more tons await sledding to the river. The value of the Winter's silver is estimated at $1,250,000.

NEW ENGLAND UNIONS TALK OF PHONE STRIKE

Will Vote on Going Out at Springfield, Providence and Fitchburg if Arbitration Fails.

BOSTON, May 29.—Three of the largest unions of telephone workers in New England—those at Springfield, Providence and Fitchburg—have voted unanimously in favor of taking a strike vote if the arbitration of wage and other demands made on the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company fails, Miss Julia O'Connor, President of the Telephone Operators' Department, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, announced today. Meetings were held by the three local unions after the company refused to shorten working hours and increase wages. The three, Miss O'Connor said, were unanimous in supporting the action of the Wage Conference Committee of the New England Council of Telephone Operators' Unions in rejecting the statement of the company, presented last Saturday, that conditions would remain as at present.

The Conference Committee will meet here next Monday to tabulate the votes of the local unions throughout New England and to plan further action.

COTTON MEN AGREE ON EXPORT RULES

Arrange With Secretary Wallace for Trading Under the New Standards Law.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Agreement was reached today between a group of leading cotton exporters and the Secretary of Agriculture on an arrangement for conducting the cotton export trade under the new Cotton Standards Act, which will become effective Aug. 1, requiring use of the official cotton standards of the United States in all transactions based on standards in interstate and foreign commerce.

The exporters, representing the larger Cotton Exchanges of the country, unanimously approved the desirability of world-wide agreement upon uniform standards, and endorsed the present official standards as satisfactory to the American cotton trade.

The exporters had felt some uneasiness over the requirements of the new act, and Secretary Wallace invited them to Washington.

Because a large part of the American export business has been based on Liverpool and other foreign standards of classification, somewhat different in meaning and terminology from the official standards of the United States, many foreign buyers are not thoroughly familiar with the American standards, and it was pointed out by the American exporters that those buyers must be informed as to their meaning and application. The exporters felt it was necessary during the coming crop season, after the new act becomes effective, to define the United States standards in terms of their equivalents in Liverpool and other recognized foreign standards, and to guarantee that shipments on American standards should equal the specified foreign equivalent.

Secretary Wallace agreed to the practice for a reasonable period of transition, not beyond the coming crop year, to facilitate compliance with the new law, assuming that the Liverpool and other foreign associations would agree promptly upon universal standards.

A group of cotton men from Liverpool and Manchester are expected here within a week to present their views on the new law, having requested a hearing by cable. It is expected that soon after the English representatives have been heard regulations for enforcement of the new law will be approved by Secretary Wallace.

Among exchanges represented at today's conference were those at Memphis, Houston, New York, Atlanta, New Orleans, Savannah and Dallas.

WOULD BUY DICKENS HOME.

Subscriptions to Fund Announced at Fellowship Convention in Toronto.

TORONTO, May 29.—Several contributions to a fund with which to buy the old home of Charles Dickens at 48 Doughty Street, London, were announced today at the annual Dickens Fellowship Convention, being held in Canada for the first time.

A resolution for the federation of the Canadian and American branches of the organization, which is of an international nature, was referred to committee.

Dr. William Milligan of Boston presented slips of ivy fro mthe parent root of Gadshill, Dickens's home in later life, which, it is reported, soon will be put up at auction.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday .....5 per cent. for the best names
Monday .....5 per cent. for the best names
The quotations are for six months' paper.

Position of Zebra Stripes.

Prediction was made yesterday that the demand for zebra stripes would yet be a feature of the later business in Fall men's wear, in spite of the present dullness in the trade, the buying of these cloths is said to be slowly on the increase. The falling off in demand for them was noted before the general advance developed and is ascribed to the belief that they will be among the first to be favored if buying picks up later. It is asserted that their vogue has not had enough time to run its course, so that, despite their comparative high price, they ought to have further favor.

Predicts Cut-Steel Buckles.

A general return of real cut-steel buckles to favor among buyers of the finer grades of women's Fall shoes was predicted here yesterday. With the continued vogue for pumps for street wear, there has been a marked increase in their prospects of a good season, and "first" buyers are said to be snapping buckles up wherever they can be found. That there are still a few bargains left, however, was shown by an offering made yesterday of a fair-sized lot of real cut-steel buckles in high-grade square and oval shapes, at $36 a dozen pairs. These buckles are ordinarily quoted around $126 a dozen.

Gray Goods Sales Fair.

Although the approach of the holiday took the edge off gray goods trading here yesterday, a fair volume of business was put through. Printcloths sold for spot and near-by deliveries at recent prices, which were based on 4¼ cents and 10 cents, respectively, for 39-inch 64-72s and 3¾-inch 64-60s. Some trading in the specialties was reported on 7.50-90 pajama checks at 11 cents, while 5.50-60 4.4 yard ticking is said to have the best price heard in the shirtings there was no change in the situation, although some trading in 40-inch 2.75-yard goods was reported at 11½ cents. Fifteen cents was reported paid for 40-inch 2.85s.

Again Seeking Underwear.

The coming of warmer weather has again resulted in an awakening of demand for lightweight knitted underwear, and local selling agents and commission houses have received some nice business in the last two days. Some jobbers are now in this market, but most of the calls are coming from out-of-town. Many of them come by wire and all of them that are from any distance from this market specify express shipment. Although tomorrow is nominally the end of the lightweight season so far as the mills are concerned, the season has been so backward this year that an extension of a couple of weeks is expected. Whatever is not on the manufacturers' books by the middle of next month, though, will be lost for good.

Capes for Beach Wear.

Rubberized silk capes for beach wear are expected to prove popular resort items this Summer. More extensive use of them is anticipated because of greater recognition of their utility as well as attractive appearance. Many of the capes are fashioned along lines suggestive of the Spanish mandilla. The silk is said to be especially treated so as to render it thoroughly waterproof. A large number of colored designs, described as fast, are included in the patterns, these going through to the reverse side. The rubberized bandanna, also looked upon to be in favor as a bathing cap or neck scarf, is a necessary adjunct to the bathing costume when the cape is worn.

To Ask Longer Datings.

Due to the reselling by second hands in this city on rather close margins of woolen dress goods for Fall, a movement has been started in the dry goods jobbing trade with a view to getting uniform sales terms adopted by commission houses that handle this merchandise. The reselling is said to have been made necessary by the inability of these second hands to meet in any other way payments for goods sold to them by the so-called short-term houses. This has thrown them into an undesirable kind of competition with houses that are either financially stronger or that do not trade with the short-term sellers, and has upset the trade to no little extent. Buyers have profited by it more or less, but it has also exposed the estates of the wholesale distributers, whether they resold their goods or not.

More Confidence Out of Town.

For a day immediately preceding a holiday the number of buyers in town yesterday was considered rather exceptional. Wholesalers have frequently commented upon it. The interest of the buyers was largely in merchandise for immediate needs and the aim was to buy goods at a price. The comparatively large number gave rise to speculation as to the attendance that may be expected some two to three weeks from now when the Fall season will definitely get under way. The concensus of opinion was that there would be a large number here and that the buying would be satisfactory. It is of curious future that the reduction not only in ready-to-wear, but in other textile lines, that the greater part of the "blue" atmosphere is local, with the out-of-town retailer and buyer evidently much more confident.

Would Start a Flood of Buying.

Any further break of importance in the price of cotton in the next couple of weeks, according to a well-posted local cotton goods merchant, would start here a flood of buying in which practically all kinds of merchandise that is not now sold up would be included. Especially active, this merchant asserts, would be the call for printcloths and other unfinished fabrics. "A buying movement was just a step away when cotton recovered recently," he said yesterday. "The mills were willing to sell, all right, for there was talk of curtailment, and this showed that they were willing to make not so well fixed for business as had been expected. The rise in cotton came, and the feeling of the mills improved noticeably. The same underlying condition exists, however, and another marked break in cotton would mean a flood of buying that ultimately would take in both finished and unfinished goods."

Yard-Dyed Silks Still Backward.

During the present season there has been little increase in demand for taffetas and other yarn-dyed silks. From current indications it would also appear that there is little chance of these fabrics attaining any vogue in the Fall, for the amount of forward business thus far placed in silks for next season has been small but, whatever the volume, it has almost been entirely in piece-dyed goods. Comparisons over last year at this time that has its favorable aspect is that there is no large quantity of the yarn-dyed goods overhanging the market. They were purchased from time to time during last Spring by jobbers and some cutters at the low prices which then prevailed. Prices of manufacturers since have moved up but current quotations, it is asserted, on this class of silks are below reproduction costs. The mills have done nothing to increase yarn-dyed production during the last six months.

Have Had More Activity Lately.

Regarding the reported improvement in men's wear fabrics, sellers here say that despite the reports of bad business because of the weather they have some requests to hurry along orders during the last week. One well-known seller said that he had more of these calls during the last week than he had had for some time past. He said that the demand for light gray mixtures was strong, indicating that these goods were not slow-moving. Another seller asserted that he had been able yesterday to dispose of a substantial amount of stock goods and could have sold more of certain cloths if he had had them. The general attitude in the trade is that the conditions as developed during the dullness may easily change for the better. Fall duplicates, however, continue slow in coming in, although it is felt that later on a considerable volume of them should materialize. It is a question, however, whether the higher prices will be paid.

RATE WAR BRINGS INQUIRY.

State Officials Demand Data When Burglary Insurance Firms Cut Charges.

The State Insurance Bureau yesterday started an investigation of the new rates filed recently by a number of burglary insurance companies. The inquiry is the result of a rate war begun several days ago when the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company instituted a "merit" system to apply to mercantile open stock protected by certain types of burglar alarms. This system actually reduced the company's rates about 20 per cent. The company had withdrawn from the New York Rating Bureau previous to this reduction. The bureau companies retaliated with a reduction of 25 per cent., following which the United States Fidelity and Guaranty reduced further its rates. On Saturday the other companies again reduced their premium charges, bringing the rates 40 per cent. below their basic rate.

With the filing of these cut rates at Albany, showing that a competitive rate fight was on, the State Insurance Bureau called a conference yesterday morning in the offices of W. A. Billingham, the chief examiner. Representatives of twelve companies attended. Mr. Billingham, R. H. Towner of the Independent Rating Bureau and G. E. Lewis of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty, spoke. All agreed that the present rates were based on competitive conditions rather than on experienced statistics. The underwriters also agreed that the reduced rates were inadequate.

Officials of the State Insurance Bureau directed that the companies furnish the bureau with statistical data which will enable Superintendent of Insurance Francis R. Stoddard Jr. to determine whether the recent reductions were justified.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Dealings in Stocks on a Narrow Scale—Commodities Mark Time, Too.

Yesterday's markets reflected very accurately the fact that the week's trading has been broken up by a holiday. There was apparent a spirit of caution, not only in stocks but in bonds and commodities as well, and, as a matter of fact, trading on the Stock Exchange was reduced to a figure which has not been seen for a fortnight. Considered as a whole, however, the undertone of the markets was firm and without particular weakness in any direction. It appears to be quite apparent that the financial district is content to await developments of the future before taking a particularly firm stand as to the present. In this connection it may be said that the age-old barometers of business and industry are being watched most closely. These include, of course, back orders on the books of the corporations engaged in the steel industry, the car loadings, but more especially, the course of commodity prices, which, at the moment, appear to be without definite trend. The attitude of buyers, after the turn of the half-year, too, will bear close attention. The present volume of new business coming on the books of corporations in every line is admittedly insufficient to keep plants operating at the ratio of capacity noted during the latter part of March and most of April. Whether or not there will be a change in this attitude remains a problem for the future, and on its solution depends the course of all markets.

The reviews of the iron and steel industry, a most reliable index of the industry, point out that there is a considerably improved sentiment in this industry in this respect and that "a resumption of new commitments on a substantial scale may be expected before many weeks, since consumption, from all tests, is being maintained at high speed." Nevertheless, the fact does not escape notice that so far as actual new orders are concerned the week has been the lightest of the year. It is quite needless to say that activity in the industry keeps up at the high pace established during the month of April, but that the future is in "the lap of the gods," depending entirely upon the attitude of buyers for third and fourth-quarter necessities. The time is drawing very near when buyers for this period must come into the market. Patently, they have been awaiting reductions which have not come. Their disposition, when the time comes for the actual signing up of new business, is awaited with considerable interest, but, it must be said, without any great degree of apprehension. The fact that there have been few cancellations of orders and that such new business as has come in within the past fortnight has been at the established scale, without any very great grumbling at schdules, appears to augur well for a moderately active Fall period, in this industry at least.

The commodity markets, in addition to unsettlement brought about by today's holiday, were again controlled by factors within rather than without the markets. Wheat, as a matter of fact, was extremely weak during the day, but cotton was stronger under the influence of the Department of Agriculture's report, estimating the world's carryover of all kinds of cotton on Aug. 1, 1923, as 4,369,500 bales, compared with approximately 14,700,000 bales two years ago, the figures being based upon the event of consumption being at the same rate as that already recorded. It is, of course, problematical whether the consumption of raw cotton will continue during the Summer months as it has during March and April. Possibly it is safe to assume that it will not.

Taken altogether and disregarding the slow-up attendant upon today's holiday, markets of all sorts appear disposed to mark time, awaiting a more definite reading of the barometer of trade and business, which would indicate developments of the future. The eyes of the financial world appear at the moment to be focused upon the attitude of buyers after the turn of the half-year.

MONEY.

TUESDAY, MAY 29, 1923.

Stock Exchange call money again moved up to 5 per cent. before the close, after an opening and renewal charge of 4½. Continuance of Government withdrawals, $17,000,000 being scheduled for Friday, attributed as a cause for market's firmness. Fixed period funds were quoted unchanged at 5 per cent. the lending and trading level, but only short date money is in demand, there being no request for longer maturities at this rate. Bulk of commercial paper discounted unchanged at 5 per cent., while acceptances were steady and without variation.

SUSPENDS BUYING SILVER.

Treasury to Ascertain If Purchases Made Exceed Authorized Amount.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Announcement was made by the Treasury tonight of a suspension of silver purchases under the Pittman act until it can be determined definitely whether the estimates of offers already accepted exceed the 200,000,000 ounces which the law authorizes the Government to buy.

Postponement of purchases until June 15 had been suggested earlier in the day by Assistant Secretary Gilbert at a hearing before the Senate Committee on Gold and Silver after Senator Pittman of Nevada, author of the act, had asserted that smelting companies had tendered silver to the Government at $1 an ounce in such quantities that unless further purchases were postponed for ten days or two weeks the benefits of the act would be lost before there could be a readjustment in the companies' accounts.

The committee was told by Mr. Gilbert that he thought it better to continue to receive tenders until June 15 when he thought it would definitely be known whether the smelting companies had delivered to the Government more silver than they had purchased from American mines.

Marlin Receivership Order Vacated.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 29.—An order vacating the appointment of a receiver for the Marlin Fire Arms Company of this city was issued yesterday by Judge Thomas in the United States District Court, it was learned today. Judge Thomas appointed a receiver on May 22 on application of two stockholders, George Ramsay and Louis E. Jarason. On a further hearing he vacated the first order.

FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

Gilt-Edged Securities Firm at London—Prices Easy on Paris Bourse.

LONDON, May 29.—Gilt-edged securities were firm on the Stock Exchange today. Oil shares were very quiet, while British industrials were steady. Old 2½ per cent. consols, ¾ higher at 58⅝; British 5 per cent. war loan, 101; 4½ per cent. war loan, 98¼; both unchanged.

Rand Mines, 2⅞; De Beers Mining, 14⅛; both unchanged.

PARIS, May 29.—Prices were easy on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 5 centimes lower at 57 francs 80 centimes; 5 per cent. war loan, 25 centimes higher at 75 francs 15 centimes. Exchange on London, 31 centimes higher at 70 francs 6 centimes per sovereign. American dollars were quoted at 16 francs 13¼ centimes, against 15 francs 8 centimes yesterday.

To Seek Oil in Lower California.

The Mexican Petroleum Company and other large American oil companies, with interests in Mexico, have applied for permits to drill for oil in Lower California, according to advices reaching Wall Street yesterday. Satisfactory overtures have been made, according to Governor Jose Inocente Lugo of the northern district of Lower California, and these have been referred to Mexico City.

Seabord Air Line Equipment Issue.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has granted permission to the Seaboard Air Line Railroad to issue $7,737,000 equipment trust certificates, of which $5,600,000 will be sold at 95½ and the remainder at par.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Holiday Spirit Prevails in Wall Street.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday was on a much smaller scale than has been witnessed during recent markets. This falling off in business was attributed to the reluctance on the part of the big traders and the public in general to make new commitments prior to the holiday. Despite the falling off in activity the market as a whole again displayed a firm tone. In the railroad group gains were moderate, compared with those reported on Monday, when the first batch of important railroad statements for April was made public. As a result of slackness in buying in the railroad group the industrials were again more prominent, and, with the exception of the oil group, some sharp advances were registered in numerous issues, especially among the steel and equipment stocks. In the equipment group American Locomotive and Baldwin were most prominent, both advancing rather sharply during the early dealings, but before the close the early gains were lost. Crucible Steel was the outstanding feature in the steel group, while among the advancing specialties were General Electric and May Department Stores. American Smelters led the copper group, the rise being in expectation of a resumption of dividend payments at the meeting of Directors scheduled for next month.

Exchanges Closed Today.

The New York Stock Exchange, the Consolidated Exchange, Curb Market, Cotton and Produce Exchanges, as well as other local and out-of-town exchanges, will be closed today in observance of Memorial Day. The banks in this city, as well as most other States, will also be closed today. The European banks and exchanges will be open for business as usual.

Petroleum Issues Again Reactionary.

While the general market displayed a firm tone yesterday, the petroleum group was sluggish, and some fair-sized reactions were experienced in both the Standard and independent issues. These stocks were heavy from the opening of the market, in connection with the circulation of rumors to the effect that another reduction in mid-continent and Pennsylvania crude oil could be expected before the downward swing of oil prices, which started in February, had run its course. As far as could be learned yesterday these rumors originated in speculative circles. Leading petroleum interests, while reluctant to make any predictions regarding further cuts in crude oil, in view of recent developments, were inclined to place little credence in the reports circulated yesterday. They point out that the leading companies are fast eating into their surplus stocks because of the record-breaking consumption of gasoline, and with production already curtailed in the California field and with prospects of curtailment in the mid-continent and other fields the trade would not be surprised to see prices move the other way before the Summer months are over.

Liberty Bonds Quiet.

A quiet spot in the bond market has been the Liberty group, and in this connection the statement was made yesterday by an authority close to the United States Treasury that transactions had fallen, in a way, to the professional public. "Professional" buying and selling of Liberties, while by no means so important a factor as in the case of stock trading, is nevertheless indulged in to a liberal extent. Until the past week the Liberties have been moderately reactionary, due probably to the necessary adjustment following the increased rate on Government loans which went into effect with the issue of the recent Treasury 4¼s. In present trading, it was explained by a man who admitted that he was interested in a possible advance in the price of that security, there had been a wide range between the bid and asked quotations which he interpreted as indicating that professionals had bought up the bonds on the recent decline and were holding them in the hope of making a profitable turn. A factor which enters into the calculation is the buying of Liberties for the British Government account. In this respect no authentic information is available. Bankers say the British operations are so carefully concealed that they have no idea themselves as to when or in what amount the British may be buying bonds nor can they tell through whom these purchases are made.

New Bond Offerings in Prospect.

After a lull of three weeks, in which the weekly total of new bond offerings averaged around the $30,000,000 mark, it became apparent yesterday that a brisk market with a number of large issues is in immediate prospect. Reports from banking houses which are conversant with the situation indicate that a number of States are awaiting an opportunity to sell issues ranging from a few million dollars to $22,000,000, the larger figure representing an issue of $22,000,000 of Iowa bonus bonds which will be awarded next Saturday. More railroad financing of sizable character is also in sight, and with the recent upturn in prices of railroad securities it is not unlikely that some of these issues, most of which will be for the purpose of raising funds for new equipment and improvements, will be brought out within a few weeks. From the foreign field it is also expected that a share of big financing will come to the American market, two prospective operations being in the interest of the Argentine and of the Canadian Governments.

A Billion Dollars for Ships.

It would be natural enough to suppose that a bid of $1,000,000,000 for the ships of the United States Shipping Board would arouse much interest in shipping circles. Such was not the case yesterday when it was announced that the Shipping Board had on Monday received such a bid informally. To say that shipping men were skeptical about the offer is putting it mildly. In the first place they declared that a billion dollars was too much to pay for ships that they believed were only valued at $3,000,000,000 during the war when ships were in demand, and which some shipping men say should not bring more than a half billion at this time. Shipping men declared that they could imagine no interest with $1,000,000,000 willing to invest in ships under the present intensive competition. But while the shipping men are doubtful about the deal, there are in financial circles some who recalled for the past few days or two weeks there have been rumors afloat that a banking group was considering the purchase of some of the United States Shipping Board boats.

Equipment and Operating Ratio.

Among the many April railroad income reports that have been issued during the past few days a number have shown decreases in their operating ratio as compared with the corresponding period of last year, and caused some comment in railroad circles as to whether or not a part of this favorable showing was due to the improved equipment. The new equipment, these railroad men point out, has been delivered in increasing quantities since the first of the year, and with its operation there should result a saving in the operating cost. But there are others, who point to the fact that the wage decrease did not come until July 1, 1922, and that when comparisons are made with a year ago this difference in wages must be kept in mind. If the operating ratio continues to decrease during the Summer months, as more and more of the new equipment is put into operation, then, these railroad men declare, it will be time enough to give the credit of decreasing operating ratio to the equipment improvements.

UNION PACIFIC LOSS ON C. & A. $15,259,531

NET INCOME GAINS IN 1922

Aggregates $32,389,723, Equal to $12.75 a Share Earned on the Common Stock.

The Union Pacific System has written off as a complete loss the $15,259,531 it had invested in the securities of the Chicago & Alton Railroad, of which it owned a controlling interest. This was made public yesterday in the annual report of the company for 1922, which stated that the Union Pacific System had received no dividends on the preferred stock of the Alton since 1916 and no interest on the general mortgage bonds since 1914.

"Receivers were appointed," the report explains, "for the property of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company on Aug. 30, 1922. Upon careful consideration of the conditions and prospects of that property the Board of Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company approved the writing out of the investment account of the entire cost, $5,046,751.56, of the preferred stock and $6,312,750 of the cost of the $8,417,000 face value of the general mortgage twenty-year 6 per cent. bonds of the Chicago & Alton owned by the Union Pacific.

"This permits the losses on these investments being claimed in the income tax return for 1922 to the extent allowable under the tax law and regulations. In 1913 a special reserve of $50,000,000 was set up by order of the Board of Directors out of surplus, as shown by previous annual reports, against depreciation or loss in investment securities that might from time to time be suffered, and the losses on the Alton stock and bonds have been charged against such reserve."

Increase in Net Income.

The report shows the net income of the Union Pacific System in 1922 from all sources was $32,339,723. This is an increase of $2,276,870 over the previous year, and is equivalent to $12.75 earned on each share of the $222,293,100 outstanding common stock, after the payment of the taxes, depreciation, interest on bonds and dividends on preferred stock. This compares with $11.73 a share on the common stock in 1921. This increase, it is stated, was made possible by a decrease in operating expenses, despite a decrease of $8,093,037 in the total operating revenue from $200,970,213 in 1921, to $192,877,121 in 1922.

The report includes the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company, whose entire capital stock is owned by the Union Pacific Railroad Company, the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation Company, whose entire capital stock (except fifteen qualifying shares held by Directors) is owned by the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company, and the Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad Company, whose entire capital stock is owned, one-half each, by the Union Pacific Company and the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company.

Among the items in the income statement of the Union Pacific System compared to those of 1921 are the following:

	1922.	1921.
Operating expenses	143,340,229	148,013,284
Railway oper. inc.	35,766,998	40,071,156
Total income	40,245,380	47,257,877
Surplus	6,119,600	3,841,779

In explaining the decrease of operating revenues the report says:

"The decrease of $8,093,037.04 in operating revenues is due to reductions in freight rates (the volume of business transported being greater than the year before) and to decrease in passenger travel; also to decrease in revenue per passenger mile caused by reduction in Summer tourist fare. Both revenues and expenses were materially affected by the strike of shop craft employes which occurred on July 1, 1922.

Decrease in Freight Revenue.

"The decrease of $2,102,287.79, or 2.1 per cent. in 'freight revenue,' is due to reductions in rates. On recommendation of the Interstate Commerce Commission rates on live stock were reduced 20 per cent., with a minimum of 50 cents per hundred pounds, on Sept. 20, 1921, and rates on other products of farms, gardens, orchards and ranches were voluntarily reduced 10 per cent., effective Jan. 1, 1922. By order of the commission rates on wheat, wheat products and hay were reduced 10 to 13 per cent. and on coarse grains and their products 19 to 21.7 per cent., effective Jan. 1, 1922, and the commission ordered a 10 per cent. reduction, effective July 1, 1922, in all rates not previously reduced since Aug. 26, 1920, and reductions to aggregate 10 per cent. in all rates that had been previously reduced a less amount.

"Reductions in rates on certain commodities were made voluntarily to meet emergencies in certain producing districts and to encourage the movement of traffic, the principal commodities affected being fruits and vegetables, wool, lumber and low-grade ores. Some of these voluntary reductions were made prior to July 1, 1922, and where they were 10 per cent. or more the rates were not further reduced by the commission's order effective July 1, 1922. Other voluntary reductions were made, however, after July 1, 1922, reducing rates 6 to 9 per cent. below those fixed by the commission—for instance, rates on potatoes from Colorado and Idaho points were reduced, effective November, 1922.

"The effect of all reductions was approximately equal to a 12 per cent. decrease in the general level of freight rates, although freight revenue decreased only 2.1 per cent. because of increased volume of traffic-tons of revenue freight hauled increased 5.9 per cent. and average length of haul per ton increased 4.2 per cent., resulting in an increase of 10.3 per cent. in ton-miles of revenue freight hauled. But expenses were increased, of course, by the cost of handling this greater volume of traffic. The increase in volume of traffic would have been greater but for the strike of mechanical employes. Strike conditions on Eastern roads and other causes retarded the return of cars which had been delivered loaded to Eastern connections, the ultimate result being inability to furnish cars for all traffic offered. On Jan. 1, 1922, the number of box cars on system lines was equivalent to 94 per cent. of such cars owned by system companies. The supply diminished rapidly, however, particularly following the strike on July 1, and on Aug. 1 the number of box cars on line was 64.6 per cent. of the number owned and by Nov. 15 had fallen to 61.3 per cent.

Passenger Revenue Decrease.

"The decrease of $3,285,539.89, or 3.8 per cent. in 'passenger revenue' is due to decrease in the number of passengers carried and in the average revenue per passenger-mile. There was a further diversion of local short-haul business to motor vehicles; also less travel during the Summer months because of apprehension that the strike of mechanical employes would interfere with train service. Revenue passengers carried decreased 19.5 per cent., but the decrease in revenue passengers carried one mile was only 4 per cent. because of increase of 26.63 miles, or 10.5 per cent. in the average distance hauled per passenger. The decrease of 5.1 per cent. in the average revenue per passenger-mile was the result of reduction in the Summer tourist fare. The greater volume of traffic which it was anticipated would result from the lower fare was not realized because of the strike."

Of the total assets of $1,065,719,160 shown in the report, $760,724,520 is the investment in road and equipment; $33,-033,992 investments in affiliated companies, $171,597,673 investments in other companies, and $28,315,095 in United States Government bonds and notes.

Current assets were $58,741,162 at the close of 1922, against $62,017,228 in the preceding year. Of this sum cash on hand was $5,781,870; demand and loan deposits $11,500,000 and material and supplies $23,781,154.

Beginning March 22, the Stock Exchange officially quotes Liberty bonds in units and fractions, the fractions being those of a unit, and the quotations after the decimal point representing one or more 32ds. In the above table, therefore, the figures of highest and lowest prices during 1923 and since date of issue are reduced to the form now used in the Stock Exchange quotations.

RAILROAD REPORTS SHOW INCOME GAINS

Several Lines Indicate Increase in Operating Revenues Over Same Period Last Year.

ERIE EARNINGS $2,139,000

Rock Island, Burlington, Missouri Pacific and Others Show a Surplus During April.

April railroad reports made public yesterday, either by the railroads or through the Interstate Commerce Commission, continued to show a decided increase in net operating income over April of last year. At the same time many of the reports were indicative of a reduction in the operating ratio as compared with the corresponding month last year.

Conspicuous among the roads that made savings in operating costs was the Erie. Although its March earnings were $12,246,280, against $11,088,000 in April, the net earnings in April were $470,000 greater than those of March and reached a total of $2,139,000.

The Erie showed a surplus of $744,797 in April after monthly fixed charge deductions of about $1,250,000 and sinking fund requirements of $100,000, as compared with a deficit of $1,927,000 for the corresponding month of last year. Net operating income for April amounted to $2,139,000, compared with $1,609,882 in March and $512,743 in April, 1922.

For the first four months the gross income of the Erie amounted to $45,220,-635, an increase of 22 per cent. over the corresponding period last year.

In its monthly report the Rock Island showed a net operating income for the month of April of $913,611, as compared with $548,297 in the corresponding month of last year. Gross income for April was $10,594,766, against $9,183,864 in April, 1922, and the surplus this year amounted to $49,905, as compared with a deficit last year of $332,222. These figures made the four months gross of the Rock Island total $40,910,245, against $37,464,167 in the corresponding period last year. A deficit, after the payment of all charges, for the first four months of this year amounted to $1,418,621, while the deficit for the same period last year was $1,139,730.

The Burlington also showed a large increase in net operating income, reporting $2,425,005, against $1,106,999 last year. The difference in the gross operating revenue was even greater than this, being $14,397,445 for April and $11,869,581 for the same month of last year. Net operating income for the first four months of the present year was $9,285,426, as compared with $7,651,058 in the same period of last year.

In the report of the Missouri Pacific a net operating income of $965,007 was registered against $323,742 in April last year, while the gross income in April was $9,193,235, against $7,683,921 in 1922. The difference in the net operating income for the first four months of this year as contrasted with that of last year was not so great, the totals being $1,921,698 for 1923 and $1,834,595 for 1922.

Gross revenue of the Michigan Central for the month of April, according to the report, was $8,400,024, a decided increase over the $6,100,326 of the corresponding month last year. This increase was reflected in the net operating income of the road, which amounted to $2,104,914 in April against $1,206,327 for the same period last year. This brought the net operating income up to $7,102,826 for the period from Jan. 1 to April 30, 1923, as compared with $5,784,616 in the first four months of 1922.

The Central of New Jersey more than doubled its net operating income for April as compared with the same month of last year, the totals being $643,538 in 1923, and $286,507 in 1922. Gross income for the four months of 1923 was $18,386,-625, against $16,327,402 last year, while the net operating income for the first four months shows a decrease, being $1,944,488 this year, against $1,887,772 last year.

Among the other differences in the net operating income of April reports made public yesterday, as compared with those of April last year, were the following: Delaware & Hudson, $896,349, against a deficit of $11,201; New York, Chicago & St. Louis, $809,053, against $598,241; Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, $473,226, against $366,506; Chicago, Atlon & Alton, $442,433, against a deficit of $14,734; Bangor & Aroostook, $295,-926, against $315,659; Detroit & Mackinac, $13,188, against a deficit of $16,881.

FORD SAYS OUTPUT IS 6,700 CARS A DAY

$5-A-WEEK PLAN A SUCCESS

Manufacturer Sees Little Likelihood of Price Changes — Profit $10,000,000 a Month.

"The world is on wheels and will never get off," said Henry Ford yesterday, in connection with a statement that his company is producing more cars now than ever before, and that the company was making a profit of from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 a month. The $5 a week deposit plan, inaugurated for the purpose of stimulating sales among people who could not afford to buy cars outright, he said, was a tremendous success. Regarding prices, there was no likelihood of a change.

These statements were made to a representative of the Wall Street Journal, which says:

"Ford's decision spells prosperity for Detroit and renewed confidence for the entire industry. Ford is now producing an average of 6,700 cars a day, and orders from the tremendously successful $5 weekly deposit plan have not come onto the books. He produced 160,000 of the total 365,000 cars and trucks made in April. He has directly on his payroll nearly one-third the 340,000 industrial workers in Detroit and indirectly many thousands more.

"'The relation between labor rates, material costs and retail prices is now such that no great selling price changes can be made,' he said, in expressing pleasure at recent softening of unfinished material prices. A month ago he was concerned over what he believed the unjustified rapidity of advances.

"'We need all our profits for the expansion of our business and the employment of more men,' he continued. 'We are now making between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 a month.'

"The response to the $5 weekly payment plan for Ford cars has been amazing, although the schedule has not been in effect long enough for deposits to accumulate to the point where orders are reflected on the company's books. Some doubtful bankers went out as agents for a few days when the idea was first broached to them to see if the public would be responsive. Their canvass turned them from critics to supporters.

"Mr. Ford said the $5 plan had been under consideration for some years. 'But it wasn't my idea. The boys at Highland Park worked it out,' he said.

"Tractor production has reached 550 a day, but Mr. Ford believes it will not become profitable until an output of 1,000 daily is attained. He takes a long-range view of the tractor. He believes he is serving the farmer by its production even at a loss and that his profits come back through increased rural prosperity and stimulated purchasing of Ford automobiles.

"How do you keep track of your spreading business?" Mr. Ford was asked.

Pierce-Arrow Dividend.

Directors of the Pierce Arrow Motor Car Company yesterday declared an initial quarterly dividend of $2 a share on the new prior preference stock, payable July 2 to stockholders of record June 15. This stock was recently sold by the company to liquidate its bank indebtedness. An initial dividend of 25 cents a share was declared on the stock of the Eaton Axle and Spring Company by Directors of the company yesterday. The dividend is payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 15.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Holiday Atmosphere Prevails in Market—Rate Changes Nominal on Restricted Dealings.

European exchanges were quietly lower and irregular yesterday, the volume of business being restricted and showing a disposition to caution because of the local holiday here on Wednesday.

Sterling held steady around $4.62, a slight loss from Monday's final, while French francs dipped to 6.89 cents from a previous 6.62½, but recovered part of this loss before the close. German marks were firm and fractionally above Monday's record low point, while Belgian, Italian, Spanish and Swedish documents reported slight losses. Danish and Norwegian bills were higher, each improving 5 points to 15.43 cents, and 16.43 cents, respectively. In the Central Europeans, Jugoslavia moved up 2 points to 1.07½ cents.

Argentine exchange was again heavily offered with a resultant new low for the year at 35 cents, but other South Americans were steady.

In the subjoined table the quotation on sterling represents dollars and decimals of a dollar; all other represent cents and decimals of a cent. Quotations precoded by the decimal mark indicate a price measured in fractions of a cent.

MAY WHEAT MARKET DROPS THREE CENTS

Special to The New York Times.

Liquidation was on in May wheat, with belated longs who have overstayed their market, selling freely from the start. The wheat came out in small lots throughout the day and from a premium of 1¼ cent it dropped to a discount to ¾ cent under July at the last, closing with a net loss of 3¼ cents.

The break in wheat had considerable influence on the deferred deliveries, which finished ¼@1¼ cent lower, although there was very little selling on stop orders of the way down, which, to some traders, indicated that liquidation was about completed.

The market failed to be affected by bullish news at any time, and Cromwell's estimate that Kansas had a maximum possibility of 93,000,000 bushels, or 11,400,000 more than the Statistician's report given out late last week, and 36,000,000 bushels less than last year's harvest did not give the market even a fraction of a cent advance, although actual normal conditions it would have furnished bull ammunition for several days.

The A. L. Russell report, suggesting a total crop of 1,079,000,000 bushels spring and Winter wheat for all of North America, against 1,236,000,000 harvested last year was also ignored as was the decrease of 6,729,000 bushels in the world's available supply. The latter is now 141,742,000 bushels, against 134,-951,000 bushels last year.

Broom Hall estimates that exporting countries will carry over 200,000,000 bushels at the end of the season. This does not apparently include the supplies afloat for Europe, and suggests a total carry-over in all positions of around 250,000,000 bushels in excess of 1922. It is expected that the first of the private crop reports will be given to the trade Friday. Tomorrow is a holiday and all American exchanges will be closed. Winnipeg and foreign markets are open as usual.

Little was heard regarding export demand, with sales of 200,000 bushels of wheat claimed in all positions.

The movement of corn is proving disappointingly light, in view of the excellent weather conditions in the West the last few days. Messages from the Southwest indicated that country offerings have fallen off to practically nothing, and with the removal of hedges against sales of 180,000 bushels or more of the Kent shipment, buying developed to more than offset the break in wheat, and the close was ¼ to ⅜ cent higher. Trade was largely of a local character. It is understood that sales of cash grain were considerably larger than reported.

Available supplies of 11,555,000 bushels are 20,700,000 bushels less than last year, which had some effect on sentiment.

Oats finished ¼ to ⅜ cent lower and rye was off 1¾ to 1¾ cents, with a light trade in both grains.

Primary arrivals of wheat were: Today, 875,000 bushels; week ago, 540,000; last year, holiday. Shipments were 662,000 bushels; week ago, 234,000.

Corn receipts were 544,000 bushels; week ago, 206,000, and shipments, 428,-909; week ago, 393,000.

Russian Oil Merger Reported.

The General Russian Petroleum Corporation, which has been incorporated in Delaware with an authorized capital of $25,000,000, has been organized, according to reports circulated in the financial district yesterday, for the purpose of merging several smaller companies with which the Barnsdall Corporation is affiliated. This report, however, could not be confirmed at the offices of the company yesterday.

Gasoline Up Another ½ Cent in Mid-West.

Another advance of ¼-cent a gallon in the wholesale price of gasoline was announced in the mid-continent field yesterday, according to advices received in Wall Street. This latest advance brings the price of this product from 1¼ to 2 cents a gallon, according to quality, above the prices quoted early last week.

Brokers Lose Ticker Service.

The Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York yesterday ordered the ticker service removed from the brokerage offices of Montgomery & Co., 30 Broad Street, following an investigation by the Exchange's Bureau of Auditing and Accounting. The firm, it is said, does not hold membership in the Consolidated.

WESTERFIELD NOT BARRED.

Stock Exchange Officials Deny Reports From Memphis.

Officials of the New York Stock Exchanges yesterday characterized as a "tempest in a teapot" the reports coming from the South that Jason Westerfield, Director of Publicity of the Exchange, had been refused a hearing by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce in connection with the Piggly Wiggly corner. It was officially stated that there was no concerted effort on the part of citizens or business men in Memphis, which is the home town of Clarence Saunders, President of the company, to oppose a visit ahead of a representative of the New York Stock Exchange.

Mr. Westerfield is now making a tour of Western cities, addressing various Chambers of Commerce and other organizations on the operations of the Exchange and its importance to the welfare of the nation. When he planned his trip, early in April, officials of the Exchange said yesterday, Mr. Westerfield had written the Chamber of Commerce in Memphis of his willingness to address that organization and explain the Stock Exchange's side of the Piggly Wiggly stock boom which attracted so much interest because of recent developments concerning the financial fairs of Mr. Saunders. In its reply the Memphis Chamber said it was not interested in the case at the time. The letter was received on April 17. As a result Mr. Westerfield did not include Memphis in his itinerary.

BUYING FALLS OFF IN STEEL INDUSTRY

PRODUCTION AT HIGH RATE

Showing for Month Expected to Exceed That of April Despite Slackening of Demand.

The steel industry of the country has just experienced the most quiet week of the year in respect to new buying of finished products, acording to trade reports. Price changes, it is added, have been meager, despite the slackening of demand.

"While new orders, as distinguishes from specifications on old contracts, have fallen further below the total of shipments from mills, cancellations are negligible and the tonnage on which deliveries have been held up is relatively small," says The Iron Age, in its weekly review. "Production in all districts is practically at the high rate of early May, and in the Chicago district is called the greatest on record. It is believed the showing for the month will fully equal or even exceed that of April.

"Under such conditions, with most buyers able to get needed material without paying premiums, the market for rolled steel may drift further without definitely developing a new trend. Meanwhile easier deliveries in some lines have encouraged buyers to count on getting material as wanted.

"With the disappearance of premiums on plates and sheets in the Central West, buyers of semi-finished steel have been looking for some readjustment in slabs and sheet bars. Independent sheet mills have come down to the prices recently established by the Steel Corporation, and in one or two cases slight further concessions have appeared.

"Fabricated steel work is still lagging. The week's awards were only 7,600 tons, while inquiries were less than 15,000 tons, substantially the same as in the two previous weeks.

"In the East railroad equipment business is held up for more definite development of the price trend. Some Jersey City work of the Lehigh Valley is also on the waiting list, and the first section of a Newark Bay bridge for the Central of New Jersey, 22,000 tons, may come up for rebidding."

The Iron Trade Review says in part: "A better feeling characerized the iron and steel market during the past week and recent tendency of uncertainty shown by both buyers and sellers appears definitely arrested. The inquiry is better in spots, conservative policies of buying are strongly in effect and new business was held in limited volume. The view generally held, with this improved sentiment, is that a resumption of new commitments on a substantial scale may be expected before many weeks. Some signs of the expected seasonal let-up in the automobile industry relate more to parts demand than to finished production, much of which is maintained at a record rate.

"The settlement of the year's working agreement between the mills and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers in the sheet and tin house workers an advance of 10 to 11 per cent. The sheet scale is unchanged.

"As consumption runs ahead heavily, buyers in a slightly way are more interest in third quarter big iron."

Budget Cut Reduces Brooklyn Revenue Bureau Payroll June 1.

It became known that many employes of the Internal Revenue Bureau in Brooklyn would be seeking other work after July 1, when information was received yesterday that the bureau's pro rata share in the cut of $3,000,000 imposed by Congress on the budget of the Internal Revenue Department would amount to between $30,000 and $35,000.

There are 201 men and women on the payroll of the Brooklyn bureau. The average salary is about $1,500, so that the number of persons to be dropped is expected to be between twenty and twenty-five.

Internal Revenue Collector John T. Rafferty said, "There has been a cut in our salary appropriation, and consequently there will have to be a cut in the number of employes. But as to how it is to be carried out and the number to be affected I would rather not say just now. It will all come out in time."

BANK MERGER ENDORSED.

Equitable Trust Company Absorbs Importers and Traders Institution.

Stockholders of the Equitable Trust Company and of the Importers and Traders National Bank, in special meetings held yesterday, ratified the merger of the Importers Bank into the Equitable, in keeping with an agreement signed by representatives of the two institutions on May 11 last.

Holders of shares of the Importers and Traders Bank of New York will receive two shares of Equitable Trust Company stock and $400 in cash for each share of Importers and Traders stock. To effect this transfer, stockholders of the Equitable Trust Company voted authority to increase the company's capitalization from $20,000,000 to $23,000,000, the additional stock to be used in the merging operation.

PACIFIC OIL CO. EARNINGS.

Pamphlet Report Shows They Were $3.37 Per Share in 1922.

The Pacific Oil Company yesterday issued its pamphlet report covering operations for 1922. The detailed income account shows no change from the figures published on May 9, when the earnings were reported equal to $3.37 a share on the 3,500,000 shares of capital stock outstanding.

The general balance sheet shows net current assets of $15,385,873 and net current liabilities of $6,618,247. Current assets include $3,899,775 cash, $1,400,000 call loans, $6,131,968 marketable securities, $3,273,854 notes and accounts receivable and $680,446 inventories. Current assets included $5,250,000 for dividend payable Jan. 20, 1923, $649,791 taxes and $718,456 accounts payable.

A. O. CAMPBELL INDICTED.

Fugitive, Found in Chicago, Accused of Robbing Uncle's Estate.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—An indictment charging embezzlement and fraudulent conversion was returned by the Grand Jury today against Alexander O. Campbell, under arrest in Chicago. He is charged with absconding with $21,000 belonging to the estate of his uncle, Cornelius Van Osten, of which he was Trustee. A certified copy of the indictment was sent by messenger to Harrisburg tonight to obtain requisition papers.

Campbell had been a fugitive since last September, when he disappeared in Atlantic City. His clothing was found in a bath house there and for a time it was believed that he had been drowned while surf bathing. Detectives for a bonding company said they had located him in Chicago through a woman with whom he had been corresponding.

DEMAND AND SUPPLY BALANCE IN COTTON

Prices Fail to Move Far in Either Direction—Washington Report on Friday Awaited With Interest.

Cotton fluctuated within narrow limits due largely to the holiday today and the Washington report on Friday. Demand and supply seemed to be so evenly balanced that prices failed to move far in either direction. A morning advance disappeared in later trading, leaving final prices 11 points higher on July to 3 lower on December. While the contract market was quiet, an increased inquiry from domestic and foreign mills was reported in spot circles. Outside of Texas weather, instead of being dry and clear, brought rains over a large region and no sign of a radical change was indicated. A report from Washington stated that the Department of Agriculture estimated the world's carryover of all kinds of cotton on Aug. 1, 1923, as 4,389,800 bales compared with over 14,700,000 two years ago. Beyond calling attention to the 500 bales in the above figures comment is superfluous. These figures were based on the event of consumption for the entire year being at the same rate as that of the first eight months.

Early influences proved the same as those of the previous day and the course of prices was strikingly similar. Liverpool advanced and closed at highest figures of the entire month. The rise in October abroad carried that position to 13.50 d., or 215 points over prices prevailing in New York. In addition to strength in foreign quotations, further rains were reported over a wide area, heavy at points in Oklahoma and Alabama with scattered showers in Georgia, Tennessee and Arkansas. As weather continued unfavorable and predictions indicated showery conditions throughout the belt for the day, early trading showed a considerable demand for both July and new crop months. July opened at an advance of 20 points, but met a large selling order at 27.45 which supplied sufficient contracts to halt the rise. October advanced to around 24.95, when quite general profit-taking again became the prominent feature of operations. The early upturn subsequently gave way to a reaction in which all gain disappeared just as occurred on Monday. The combination of a holiday today and the bureau on Friday restricted new ventures to a marked degree, leaving a smaller volume of business than for some time.

Additional private condition figures were issued, one of these showing 72.3, about the highest that has appeared so far. The majority have been around 70. The official condition last year was 69.9. It was stated the above condition indicated a yield of 11,400,000 bales and was evidently based upon the new table of State par figures recently issued by the Crop Reporting Bureau. In these State figures, Georgia is reduced from 230, May 25 last year, to 135 this year, while South Carolina shows a reduction of 60, from 300 to 240.

The Department of Agriculture, prior to the date a year ago, issued a par figure average for the belt as a whole, putting the figure at 221.5. While the department has not announced an official change, figures by States have been given out by the Crop Reporting Bureau which would indicate a new average of about 208. The yield of Georgia last year was 735,000 bales, compared with 522,000 the previous year and of South Carolina 517,000 compared with 738,000 in 1921. A private report on Texas makes the outlook there the most favorable of the entire belt. The condition of the growing crop in that region is placed at 78.1, with an increase of 0.9 per cent. in acreage. This would hold out the promise of a yield of 4,300,000 bales.

OIL MAN'S WIDOW CUT OFF.

$5,000,000 Will of Orville Waring Also Deprives Son of Interest.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., May 29.—In the $5,000,000 will of Orville T. Waring, Director in the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey until a year ago, the widow, Mrs. Mary C. Waring, and a son, Lewis F. Waring, who is an executor, are cut off, the testator stating that the wife signed an ante-nuptial agreement waiving all dower rights and that the son was deprived of inheritance, except household furniture, "for reasons I deem it unnecessary to state."

Seven other children will share equally the provisions in the instrument, which was admitted to probate today. They are Mrs. Frances W. Timpson, Plainfield; Orville G. Waring, Plainfield; Mrs. Mary C. Reynolds, 924 Park Avenue, New York; Mrs. Florence W. Dorrance, Scranton; Richard A. Waring, San Angelo, Texas; Mrs. Eleanor W. Mellick, Plainfield, and Edward J. Waring, Plainfield.

With Lewis F. Waring, the executors are Orville G. Waring and Theodore F. Reynolds, a son-in-law.

Orville G. Waring, one of the executors, said last night at his home in Plainfield, N. J., that there was no mystery in the provisions of his father's will and that Mrs. Waring and Lewis E. Waring had been left out through the agreement of all concerned. Mrs. Mary C. Waring, he said, was his father's second wife, and that at the time of their marriage several years ago she signed the papers giving up any inheritance. In the case of Lewis E. Waring, he said, he must have been an agreement between him and his father, because they were on the best of terms at all times. Lewis, he said, qualified with him yesterday as an executor without question.

Durant's Bank to Be Liberty National

The proposed new bank of W. C. Durant in New York will be known as the Liberty National Bank in New York, it was reported yesterday following the issue of a charter in Washington. The capital will be $500,000, and officials named are A. F. Crenhardt, President, and Wallace Zweiner, Cashier. Mr. Zweiner is associated with Mr. Durant.

To Withdraw $17,000,000.

The United States Government will withdraw $17,000,000 from New York on Friday. It was announced yesterday, bringing total withdrawals for this week to $38,000,000. Withdrawals last week amounted to $105,000,000. These sums have been used principally in connection with redemption of maturing Victory notes.

Plan to Extend Argentine Railroads

BUENOS AIRES, May 29.—The executive branch of the Argentine Government is considering a plan for the extension of the State-owned railways, involving an estimated expenditure of 300,000,000 pesos. The program as proposed requires three or four years for its execution.

FIGHT TRACTION LINE FORECLOSURE PLAN

Plea to Intervene in Proceedings Against Broadway and 7th Av. Co. Surprises Court.

HEARING IS SET FOR FRIDAY

Judge Mayer Says Petition May Delay End of Receivership of New York Railways Co.

Unexpected opposition, which is likely to delay the proposed reorganization of the New York Railways Company, now in receivership, developed yesterday before Judge Julius M. Mayer in United States District Court, when Joseph B. Cotton, representing certain bondholders, on behalf of their trustee, the Bowling Green Securities Corporation, presented a petition to intervene in the proceedings for the foreclosure of a mortgage on the Broadway & Seventh Avenue Railroad Company.

F. D. Pavey and J. M. Griffin, representing the Metropolitan Trust Company, one of the defendants, objected to the petition and said they were not ready to take up the mater at this time. The proceeding before Judge Mayer was in an effort to expedite an appeal from his ruling that mortgages secured by bonds may be foreclosed in receiverships, and arguments on the appeal were to have been heard next Friday.

Judge Mayer expressed amazement at the situation and said he had understood that all parties in interest in matters affecting the New York Railways litigation were acting in harmony in order to adjust the affairs of the receivership in the near future. Judge Mayer said that, if the request for delay were pressed, it meant a long delay in getting the New York Railways Company out of receivership, and declared that in his opinion the court had not been fairly dealt with.

Judge Mayer said he would hear arguments on the petition to intervene next Friday. Notice will be served on the Metropolitan Trust, the Guaranty Trust, the Central Union Trust, the Columbia Trust and the Farmers' Loan and Trust companies.

A form of decree was submitted in which Job E. Hedges, receiver of the New York Railways Company, is directed to set aside funds with which to pay the June semi-annual interest due on first mortgage bonds of the Broadway & Seventh Avenue Railroad Company, which the New York Railways Company operates under lease, amounting to $208,750.

This form of decree submitted was in the name of the Central Union Trust Company, as trustee in succession to Robert Buck, the original trustee under the bond issue of 1883. The underlying bond issue of the Broadway & Seventh Avenue Company was stated to be $1,500,000, with $330,410 accumulated unpaid interest.

The proposed decree described the properties subject to the action, which were divided into three parcels, the car barns, power houses, franchise and the lines and extensions now being operated by the New York Railways Company, and a claim for an adequate amount of rolling stock and other equipment.

Judge Mayer did not act on the decree, but referred it back to counsel with some suggested changes. It is understood that Judge Mayer wishes all legal questions connected with the proposed reorganization of the New York Railways Company settled before proceeding with a plan to discharge the receiver and return the property to its owners in the late Fall.

TRACTION SALE POSTPONED.

Transaction Awaits Transit Commission's Approval of B. R. T. Plan.

The sale of the New York Municipal Railway Corporation and the New York Consolidated Railroad Company, which was to have been held yesterday afternoon, was again postponed because it was said that the legal details had not been completed.

Representatives of the Purchasing Committee of the Reorganization Committee of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company said yesterday afternoon that they did not desire to have the sale until the Transit Commission has passed on the plans for reorganization of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

No meeting of Directors of the new Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation has been called, it was said yesterday, and there will be no announcement of the new officers of the company until after the meeting.

LONGED FOR REAL WRECK.

Three Boys Who Saw "Movie" Almost Derailed Train.

MINEOLA, L. I., May 29.—The keen eye of a passenger on a Long Island Railroad train near Westbury, L. I., and the vigilance of a road employe were factors which prevented a possible accident on the railroad last Sunday. This was revealed today when sergeant Daniel Scanlon of the railroad detective force told of the apprehension of three boys who had placed an iron plate on the tracks about 1,000 feet east of Westbury station and had later wedged a bolt into the switch west of Westbury bridge after they had seen a moving picture in which the "fast mail" was wrecked.

The boys, William Marchnick, 10 years old, his brother, John, nine years old, and a friend, Garoslow Trofinchuk, 10 years old, all of whom attend school in Westbury, will be arraigned Friday in Children's Court here. The clue which led to their arrest was furnished by Peter Swass of Newcastle, L. I., a boy acquaintance. Scanlon said the boys told him they had put the iron plate on the track "to see it heated up by a train," but later admitted having seen a "movie" recently in which a train wreck was a feature.

A passenger on a train bound for Kings Park, L. I., noticed the plate on the opposite track and reported it to the conductor. The bolt in the bridge switch was found by a railroad employe who was placing switch lights Sunday evening.

OTTOMAN-AMERICAN CO.

Stockholders in "Chester Concession" to Meet Next Tuesday.

The meeting of the stockholders of the Ottoman-American Development Company which was scheduled for yesterday has been postponed until Tuesday of next week by "mutual consent" of the stockholders. This is the company which was organized by Admiral Colby M. Chester and his associates to develop the so-called "Chester concession" in Turkey.

It is understood that the company is endeavoring to arrange the necessary financing to develop the property, but it is officially stated that this matter will not be pressed, as the officers of the company are proceeding slowly because of the stupendous size of the concession, which calls for the construction of 2,400 miles of railroad and covers the mineral and mining rights on 96,000 square miles of territory in Asia Minor.

WOULD POOL FREIGHT CARS.

N. D. Ballantine Tells Commerce Commission It Would Save Millions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—N. D. Ballantine, Vice President of the National Railway Service Corporation, was a witness before the Interstate Commerce Commission today in support of the proposal of the National Association of Owners of Railway Securities for pooling certain classes of interchange freight cars.

Mr. Ballantine asserted that had such methods been in effect in 1921 and 1922, especially during the period of serious car shortage, the estimated savings to the railroads in avoidance of the expense incident to empty car mileage, excess switching and cross haul would have exceeded $130,000,000 and the transportation requirements would have been much more nearly met.

Mr. Ballantine held that the use of interchange freight cars under present rules, based on the principle of ownership, could not produce the service essential to this country's development nor effect the economies which an equitable distribution of freight cars through a central clearing house agency with power could bring about.

Analysing the constructive program recently announced by the railroads, Mr. Ballantine presented charts and exhibits which showed, he said, that the conditions confronting the carriers with reference to car shortages were essentially the same today as during the last sixteen years.

As far back as 1907, Mr. Ballantine declared, the railroads themselves, through the American Railway Association committee, had recommended the pooling of freight cars as necessary to effect economies, but these recommendations had never been made effective.

"The statements showing an increase in 'total cars loaded' do not themselves indicate any increased transportation performance," said Mr. Ballantine. "The real test is the degree to which trains in opposite directions can be filled with loaded cars."

I.R.T. NET INCOME $1,591,166

April Report Shows Total Revenue of $4,892,580 for Month.

The Interborough Rapid Transit system reported a net operating income for the month of April of $1,591,166, while the Third Avenue Railway system report showed a net operating revenue of $307,892 for the same month.

Operating expenses	3,301,413
Net operating income	1,591,166
Fixed charges	1,004,488
Miscellaneous income deductions	45,447
Balance	$307,892

After deducting from the balance $179,602 for the deferred sinking fund which has accrued, but has not been paid, the net corporate income as reported to the Transit Commission is $186,375.

The net operating revenue of the Third Avenue Railway Company is $29,403 less than for the same period of last year, and the net income is $36,572 less, totaling $18,472 for April, 1923, as compared with $55,050 in the same month of last year.

Total operating revenue is given as $1,198,796 for April, an increase of $11,968 over the $1,186,827 of last year.

BANKERS' GOLF MATCH.

Twenty-Five Teams to Compete in Annual Tournament.

Golf teams representing twenty-five banks are expected to compete on June 20 for the Alvin W. Krech cup over the Lido Country Club course at Long Beach, L. I., according to announcement yesterday by the Bankers' Athletic League. This will be the second annual tournament of the league.

The Krech cup will be awarded to the team winning the first three legs. Last year the first leg was won by the Guaranty Trust Company's team. Thirty-five other prizes will be distributed.

The tournament will be open to teams of all banks in Greater New York. The chairman of the commitee in charge is C. E. Reid of the Bank of America.

INLAND STEEL STOCK NOTICE

All Preferred Sold, but 112,070 of Common Is Offered to Syndicate.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co., as managers of the syndicate which underwrote the preferred and common stocks of the Inland Steel Company, yesterday sent notices to syndicate managers that all of the preferred stock had been sold, but that 112,070 shares of the common stock, which cost the syndicate $40.50 a share net, remained unsold.

The firm has offered to take over the unsold common stock at cost, but an opportunity is given to syndicate participants to take up such stock as they may care to hold, also at the syndicate cost of $40.50 a share. This action, it is understood is taken for the purpose of relieving syndicate participants of a loss.

Declares Norway's Banks Sound.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, May 29.—The Norwegian Minister of Finance, A. Berge, gave a public statement to the press today in which he maintained that there was no reason for nervousness concerning the banking conditions of Norway. The Minister characterized recent rumors of new difficulties as utterly false and warned the public against spreading such rumors.

BUILDERS BUY SITE.

Plot Will Be Improved With Fourteen-Story Structure.

A. Filmore Hyde sold two four-story-and-basement houses at 10 and 12 West Forty-seventh Street, covering a plot 43 by 100, to George Backer, Inc. This is the second plot on West Forty-seventh Street bought by the Backer interests and their intention is to comply with the views of the Save New York Committee by erecting a fourteen-story building suitable for high-grade retail stores and showrooms. This property was held at $250,000 and is the seventh sale made by the same brokers in this block since March. Butler & Baldwin were the brokers in the deal.

Long Beach Auction Today.

For the third time since 1921, Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, will hold a Decoration Day sale of Long Beach lots today on the premises, at 2 P. M., rain or shine.

The sale involves the disposal of 907 lots located in the South Park section, between Park Street and the boardwalk and between the Long Beach station and the Lido golf course.

Almost directly opposite the lots to be sold is the site of the proposed new race track and athletic field. The 907 lots are also located closer to the Lido golf course than any lots previously sold by Mr. Day at public auction.

Robert E. Dowling a Buyer.

Robert E. Dowling, who is interested in the ownership of the Aldrich Building, occupying the entire block front on the east side of Church Street from Chambers to Warren Street, added the adjoining Warren Street parcel at 32 to his holdings yesterday.

He acquired the property at a partition sale of the Garcia estate for $65,000. Bryan L. Kennelly was the auctioneer.

Business Properties.

Nehring Brothers have sold for Claus Heitman to Nita Realty Corporation for investment 480 Eighth Avenue, adjoining the corner of Thirty-fourth Street, a four-story business building, on a plot 25 by 100. The purchase includes immediate possession of the store. The property was held at $130,000.

SAY WM. S. MENDEN WILL HEAD B.-M. T.

Gerhard M. Dahl Is Reported Slated to Be Chairman of the Board.

SOMERS MAY BE DIRECTOR

Charles A. Boody and James Sherlock Davis Also Suggested to Represent Public.

William S. Menden, now general manager of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, will probably be elected President of the newly incorporated Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation, and Gerhard M. Dahl of Hayden, Stone & Co. will become the Chairman of its Board of Directors, according to a report current yesterday in financial circles. The officers of the new company will be chosen when the reorganization is completed, the receiver of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company is discharged and the new company succeeds the old as the holding company of this transit system.

The names of Arthur S. Somers, President of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce;; Charles A. Boody, President of the Brooklyn Trust Company, and James Sherlock Davis have been suggested as possibilities for appointment as Directors to represent the public in the new company under the reorganization plan. These Directors will be appointed by the Transit Commission.

Mr. Menden has made an excellent reputation as an operating head under Lindley M. Garrison, the receiver. He has been with the company since 1905, having been brought here from Chicago.

Mr. Dahl, who has been active in the work of the reorganization committee, was formerly Vice President of the Chase National Bank. He has had experience in transit reorganizations in Cleveland and New Orleans.

TRADING IN BROOKLYN.

Operators Resell Dwellings and Tenement Houses.

This property was sold from plans and will be completed in about four months. This property was held at $20,900.

Builders Buy Loft Site.

Julius Tishman & Sons, Inc., have purchased from Dr. Francis W. Murray and the estate of Susan E. Parkin the two four-story and basement private houses at 32-34 West Thirty-ninth Street on a plot 50 by 100, having protected light on four sides.

Provided the present negotiations for the resale of the property to a builder are not consummated Julius Tishman & Sons, Inc., intend to immediately start the erection of a fourteen-story loft and showroom building to be completed during the Fall of 1924.

This site is immediately adjoining Lane Bryant and Lord & Taylor and diagonally opposite the new twelve-story loft building recently completed and entirely tenanted by prominent millinery firms, excepting the ground floor and first loft, which has been leased to Vantine's for a long term. It is understood that a number of millinery concerns are now bidding for floors in the contemplated building.

The cost of the entire operation will involve approximately $700,000. Adams & Co. were the brokers in the transaction.

New Realty Associates Directors.

Leo S. Bing of Bing & Bing, Inc., has acquired a large stock interest in Realty Associates and become a member of the Board of Directors and of the Executive Committee of that company. He also takes a place on the directorate and Executive Committee of the Prudence Company, Inc., and of the Prudence Bonds Corporation, all the stock of which is owned by Realty Associates.

The property adjoins the new Lido Inn, owned by the purchasers, giving them a frontage of 200 feet on the corner of Long Beach Boulevard and Park Street.

Pease & Elliman have sold for Miss Caroline Banks her estate at Brookridge, Greenwich, Conn., of three acres, with a large house and garage. The property was held at $70,000, and it is understood that it brought close to this figure. The buyer is E. Fairchild Jones of Bronxville, who will make Greenwich his Summer home.

$3,205,950 IN TWO SALES.

Strong Buying Power Shown at Auctions Yesterday.

Joseph P. Day yesterday held two auction sales before noon, selling all of the properties involved for a grand total of $3,205,950.

The first sale was held in the Bronx at 10 A. M. at which early hour, Mr. Day began to sell 43 subway lots at the 149th Street and Southern Boulevard station of the Lexington Avenue and Pelham Bay Park subway, which he sold by order of the joint owners, the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, and others, the executors of the estate of Andrew Freedman deceased, and Union Real Estate Co.

These subway station lots on and adjacent to the Southern Boulevard brought $156,050 and were sold in less than one hour of extremely rapid fire bidding. The average selling price was $3,251 a lot.

The top price was bid for the corner of 149th Street and Southern Boulevard, at the subway entrance, which sold for $6,600, and was purchased by the L. K. W. Builders Corporation.

Four lots adjoining on Southern Boulevard were bought for $22,400 by the Ross & Helig Realty Company, the balance of the lots on Southern Boulevard were bought by the Rouch Realty Co. for $25,000. Louis Silverman paid $38,000 for the corner of 149th Street and Timpson Place, including the lots adjoining on Timpson Place.

Never before had the East Southern Boulevard lot been sold than Mr. Day sprang into his automobile and, with his assistants, speeded to 14 Vesey Street, where an executors' sale to liquidate the estate of the late Josepha Schenck, involving the sale of a number of apartment houses in Manhattan, was scheduled to be held at 12 o'clock noon.

This sale of the Schenck estate holdings involving the disposal of a number of 6, 8 and 12-story elevator apartment houses and 5-story non-elevator houses was widely attended by well known operators and investors.

When, at about 3 o'clock, the last of the Schenck Estate apartment houses had been sold, it was announced that the total of the sale was $3,049,900.

Realty Notes.

James Boyd has placed a first mortgage of $300,000 at 5 per cent. on the Nathan Hale, a six-story elevator apartment situated at 454 Fort Washington Avenue, southeast corner of 181st Street, for the Marjay Realty Company.

Joint-Ownership Construction Company, Inc., Frederic Culver, President, has sold to Mrs. Elizabeth S. Custer an apartment in the new 100 per cent. Joint-Ownership building which they are erecting at 71 Park Avenue, between Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Streets. Mrs. Custer is the widow of General Custer, the celebrated Indian fighter. Burke Stone, Inc., were the brokers in the transaction.

$600,000 Times Square Deal.

The Charles M. De Rosa Company leased for the 152-4 West Forty-fourth Street Realty Corporation, Frank A. Brunella, President, to a client of Milton Levison, for a period of twenty-one years, the two five-story buildings known as 152-4 West Forty-fourth Street, on the entire plot of 40 by 100, now being converted into stores, showrooms and studio apartments.

Finkelstein & Co. leased 125 and 127 Bowery, southeast corner of Grand Street, a business building, for a term of ten years at an aggregate rental of $250,000, to a tenant, who will alter and occupy.

THE BRONX MARKET.

Operators Selling Apartment House Properties.

Isaac Lowenfeld and William Prager, operators, have sold to the Klein Realty Company, Inc., 1,234 Boston Road, near McKinley Square, size 50 by 200, a five-story new-law apartment housing twenty families, with a rental of $10,000, held at $70,000. This completes the sale of four buildings on Boston Road, which the sellers purchased in March.

Cahn & Cahn, operators, resold to Vincenzo Fulja 1,976 and 1,976 Honeywell Avenue, a four-story new-law apartment with all modern improvements on plot 50 by 67, George McCaffrey Jr. was the broker in the transaction.

Julius Trattner sold in conjunction with Laumeister & Herrmann the four-story brick double flat arranged for eight families at 766 Hegney Place, near 157th Street, built on a lot 25 by 100.

John J. Reynolds sold for Wisner Building Company, Inc., 1,322 Southern Boulevard, a five-story apartment, arranged for eighteen families and two stores, rents at $10,000, held at $65,000, to Irvin J. Sikawitt. Also for Mary McKenna, one-family house, on a plot 40 by 50 feet, at 1,271 Olmstead Avenue, to the Farmales Corporation.

Adolf Lang sold for Mr. Orner the eight-family brick tenement, 2,065 Vyse Avenue, 38.3 by 100, to Isaac Pearl.

Investing Syndicate Buys the Dorilton Apartment on Broadway Corner.

The Dorilton Apartments, a twelve-story building occupying the northeast corner of Seventy-first Street and Broadway, figured in a resale yesterday, when Frederick Brown disposed of the property to a syndicate of investors headed by Max Raymond as President.

The structure occupies a plot 100 by 150 feet, and has been held by the seller at $1,650,000. H. D. Baker and A. Robinson, as brokers, negotiated the sale of the property.

Mr. Brown acquired the building in February from Hyman and Sidney Sons, builders, through the same brokers.

Samuel Williams and Joseph H. Schwartz have resold to an investing client of David Burnham the nine-story apartment at 325 West Seventy-seventh Street, on a plot 56 by 100 feet, between West End Avenue and Riverside Drive. It contains suites of three and four rooms and returns an annual rental of about $51,000, and was held at $500,000. The sellers purchased the property a month ago from the builders, the Nassau Building Company, Henry Clausen President.

Max N. Natanson, operator, purchased from Kalman Silverman, 1,811 to 1,817 Lexington Avenue, at the southeast corner of 118th Street, on a plot fronting 100.11 feet on Lexington Avenue and 69 feet on 118th Street. The property consists of two five-story apartment houses, containing six stores, with two six-room apartments on each of the upper floors in each house. The two houses rent for about $19,000, were held at $160,000 and were sold for cash. The brokers was Paul Halpin.

E. Sharum, operator, bought from the Carl Fischer estate, 15 Morningside Avenue, facing on Morningside Park, between 115th and 116th Streets. This is a six-story elevator apartment house on a plot 68.11 by 88.9 feet irregular, containing two seven-room apartments on each floor. It rents for $13,710 and was held at $95,000. The property was sold subject to a first mortgage only of $65,250 at 6 per cent. for ten years. Charles G. Keller was the broker.

Samuel Bernstein has purchased from M. Pressburger, the two five-story buildings known as 142 and 150 Manhattan Avenue, taking in the entire block front on the east side from 106th to 107th Street. The property sold for $120,000. The new owner contemplates remodeling the buildings into small apartments. Louis Block was the broker.

Isaac Lowenfeld and William Prager sold to a client of Julius Kuschner 51 and 53 East 106th Street, adjoining the northeast corner of Madison Avenue, a five-story apartment, on a plot 50 by 50 feet, housing ten families, with a rental of $6,000. It was held at $40,000.

P. V. Calder & Co., Inc., have sold for Julie McNamara 202 West 106th Street to a client who is to hold same for investment. The house was held at $45,000 and it was sold in an all cash transaction above the first mortgage.

906 LOTS Forest Hills

ABSOLUTE AUCTION

Next Saturday, June 2nd

At 1 P. M., on the Property, in Spacious Tent, Rain or Shine

Three avenues, Continental, Herrick and Stafford, running from Queens Boulevard through the Sage Foundation to Metropolitan Avenue, give UNOBSTRUCTED ACCESS to the Vanderveer property. Thus those who purchase at this sale will have an entrance to their property by streets which pass through the beautiful Forest Hills development.

The property is but three blocks from the Forest Hills Station of the L. I. R. R. and but a few minutes' walk from the famous West Side Tennis Club.

It is only fifteen minutes from Pennsylvania Station on the L. I. R. R., with 94 trains daily. It is right in New York City, and a subway has been planned for Metropolitan Avenue.

Come out today. To reach the property by motor from Manhattan, drive over Queensboro Bridge straight out Queens Boulevard to Forest Hills, then turn right on to Continental Avenue to the property. Or, from Brooklyn, straight out Metropolitan Avenue. The property begins just east of Woodhaven Boulevard. Our representatives will be there to answer any questions which you may have. Send for booklet.

SOMEWHERE to fish. Elsewhere to golf. Still somewhere else for the mountains, a fourth place for the seashore, a fifth for some quiet lake.

Why not all in one locality—to satisfy your whim that day; or, if you have all five whims in one week, to satisfy all of them and more?

We are talking about a vacation land that is "a hundred resorts in one"—a thousand things to see and do that are different and absorbing.

Cool Summers

Southern California, the greatest summer playground known—yes, summer is delightful there. Let the U. S. Weather Bureau tell you how cool it is. Here are average figures for 44 years past, the mean temperatures recorded in a great central city of this section:

44 Septembers

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Weather conditions over the United States and Southern Canada have changed very little during the last three days. The weather has remained fair in the lake region, the upper Ohio Valley, the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic and the Far Southwest, while unsettled conditions with scattered thunder showers have prevailed in all other parts of the South. Pressure was high Tuesday night over the northern lake region, New England, Eastern Canada, and it was lower over practically all other regions.

There are no indications of any material change in weather conditions in the Washington Forecast District during the next two days, except that cooler weather will overspread the Middle Atlantic States and the extreme upper Ohio Valley Wednesday. Unsettled weather with scattered thunder showers will prevail in the lower Ohio Valley, Tennessee, the East Gulf and South Atlantic States, and the weather will remain generally fair in the upper Ohio Valley, the lower lake region and the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States.

276 DIVORCE SUITS DISPOSED OF IN DAY

Justice Callaghan Deals With Record Kings County Calendar at Morning Session.

ONLY 16 CASES PUT OVER

Non-Appearance Causes Dismissal in 260 Instances—Lawyers Forewarned of Clean-Up.

What was said to be the largest divorce calendar ever called in a single day in Kings County was called yesterday by Justice Callaghan in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn. Two hundred and seventy-six cases were called and before noon the last one was cleared off and the undefended calendar in that jurisdiction was practically disposed of. Some of the cases had been hanging fire from one to six years.

Justice Callaghan's clerk had written to counsel in all these cases warning them that unless they appeared yesterday the actions would be dismissed, and this rule was followed. Of the cases called, 260 were dismissed for non-appearance and sixteen were postponed.

In these sixteen actions the attorneys promised to prepare and move their cases for trial as soon as possible, and it was on that understanding that they were put over. Many reasons were assigned to Justice Callaghan, both orally and in writing, for not moving trial long before yesterday. One plaintiff was reported to have been seriously ill for months. In another case, it was said that a vital witness was abroad and could not be brought back to testify. Some who, at first, wanted absolute divorce, afterward agreed to live apart under a separation agreement. Others had become reconciled. One attorney wrote that the plaintiff was in jail and he could not move for trial until his client was released. Missing witnesses and witnesses who are out of the jurisdiction of the court were also given as reasons for previous delays.

Fascisti Fire at Rumanian Rector.

BUCHAREST, May 29 (Jewish Telegraph Agency).—Professor Jacobovici, acting rector of the University of Klausenberg, had a narrow escape from death today when a bullet was fired at him by one of a crowd of Fascist students. Professor Jacobovici is one of the teachers opposing the enforcement of the percentage rule against Jewish students.

Riding, Hiking, Mountain Climbing, Salt Water Bathing, Golf, Tennis, Camping, Fishing, Hunting

Salt Lake City

See the World-Famous Bryce Canyon, Cedar Breaks and Zion National Park

On your western trip this summer there is a stopover waiting for you at Salt Lake City that you will always remember as one of the most fascinating features of your entire vacation. The city INTERESTING! The city BEAUTIFUL!

How wonderful—how exhilarating, to play high up in the Rockies, with their snowy peaks, cloudless skies, starry nights and their great, cool, deep canyons crowding down to Salt Lake City's very edge.

America's renowned inland salt sea—Great Salt Lake—awaits you with its famed salt water bathing. Sink? You can't—you float like a cork! UNIQUE IN ALL THE WORLD! Thirty minutes from the heart of the city to the heart of the mountains. Sporty golf courses; tennis courts galore, horseback trails and motor roads through mountain gorges. UNSURPASSED mountain trout and lake fishing; big game hunting in a virgin wilderness.

And to delight feminine hearts, gay city hotels—roof gardens—country clubs—smart shops—lively mountain resorts—salt and fresh water bathing; dancing everywhere! DELIGHTFUL DAYS AND COOL NIGHTS.

Salt Lake City is the hub from which you can reach all noted western scenic places quickly and easily by rail or auto, the gateway to Yellowstone, Kaibab National Forest, Bryce Canyon, Cedar Breaks and the north rim of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. It is all so different—SO ALLURINGLY UNUSUAL. Every big railroad to the west either reaches Salt Lake City directly or can route you via Salt Lake City—going or returning—without trouble or extra expense. Ask for the Salt Lake City 10-day stopover when you buy your ticket.

What the air-man trusts— the motorist can depend on

IF you were an aviator you'd be pretty careful about anything that had to do with your motor. You'd have to be. Your life would depend on it.

You'll be interested in the following letter, unsolicited, from an ex-Army flyer:

"Our Hispano Motor, running on Sunoco 'Special' Motor Oil, has given 100% perfect service the entire season without overhaul or valve trouble. We attribute this remarkable record largely to the use of Sunoco. Sunoco Oil maintains a normal body and pressure under all heat conditions.

"We have been agreeably surprised to find almost no carbon deposit on cylinder walls, and have had very little trouble from fouled plugs. We use about a pint or a quart less Sunoco 'Special' per running hour than other oils."

Sunoco is wholly distilled; not compounded, like most oils, with "cylinder stock." Compounded oils break down more readily; and the "cylinder stock" leaves a thick, tarry residue which forms hard carbon deposits.

Your motor is protected from this trouble when you use Sunoco. It burns clean; it forms a sturdy, lasting film; it makes a dependable seal between cylinder wall and piston. It performs these services better because it is pure. You see the difference, too, in your oil cost and repair bills. Just drain your crankcase, refill with Sunoco and watch results.

Your dealer has Sunoco; or can get it. His Sunoco Lubrication Guide tells which type is right for you. He also has a booklet, "What's Happening Inside Your Motor?" It will pay you to read it.

Food, Fuel and other needs in millions of tons

HOW would you deliver this confusing mass of necessary things to the 12,000,000 people of New York, Philadelphia and Chicago?

It's truly a marvellous undertaking. One pictures a hurried movement of countless vehicles, people and the things that people use carried from place to place, loaded and unloaded.

Great trainloads of coal are hauled into the city to be emptied and trucked to tens of thousands of factories, office buildings and hotels, and to nearly two million dwellings.

Foodstuffs must be delivered fresh and quickly to supply 36,000,000 meals a day. Personal necessities, office supplies, and hundreds of other things are transported from central points by a driver who drops off here with a package and a few doors away with another.

One stop after another separated by short hauls. Time is precious; quick starting and stopping important.

How can the high cost of delivery be reduced to the lowest point?

By C-T Electric Trucks—that save time and money by their time-saving deliveries, by their quick getaway in traffic which gives them a high average with low maximum speed; that save money by using current only when running, by their amazingly low upkeep, by a hundred and one other features that are dwelt upon in a brief and interesting booklet, "Taking the Long Cost out of the Short Haul."
